Four Seats Open On Council

Four seats on Terrace Park's village council are to be filled in the November elections in what could be a wide-open race.

Only Randy Casteel among the incumbents has indicated he will seek re-election. Rich Gilchrist, the senior member of council, is undecided but expects to make a decision by July 1. Councilman Rusty Wilson also has not decided whether to seek another term.

But Tim Gleeson plans to be married soon and will be leaving the village and so will not be running.

Said Mayor Jack

"I strongly encourage interested residents to consider filing with the Board of Elections to have their names placed on the November ballot. Petitions can be obtained from the Board of Elections, and the signatures of at least 25 registered Terrace Park voters are required. Petitions must be returned to the Board of Elections no later than August 24.

"Serving on village council can be an extremely rewarding experience with a very manageable time involvement. If you have any questions, I or any member of council will be glad to try to answer them. But please give serious thought to running for Council in November. The quality of life in our community ties directly to the quality of the people running the village government."

Four Ready To Serve Life Squad

Four village residents are nearing completion of their training to become members of the Life Squad and eight others are starting courses aimed at their certification as Emergency Medical Technicians. But even with those train-

8 Rate Cum Laude Among 26 Graduates

Valedictorian Fran Cooper headed the list of eight Cum Laude Society members among 26 Terrace Park students graduated from Mariemont High School June 11.Tapped for Cum Laude Society,the equivalent of Phi Beta Kappa at the high school level, were Molly Abernethy, Starratt Alexander, John Armstrong, Fran Cooper, Naomi Fischer, Mike Krachon, Larry Madewell and Jeff Taylor.

Terrace Park students among the 89 Mariemont High School graduates were:

Molly Lynne Abernethy, Starratt Elizabeth Alexander (Presidential Scholarship), John Phillip Armstrong, David Andrew Bowen, Frances Grace Cooper (Honors Division Merit Scholarship).

Heather Mary Fischer, Naomi Beth Fischer (Ohio Board of Regents Academic Scholarship), Elizabeth Noel Foard, Stephanie Lynn Haines, Linda Marie Janisse, Jeffrey Matthew Kincaid.

Michael Lincoln Krachon, Elizabeth Leona Lowery, Lawrence John Madewell, Jennifer Suzanne McConkey, Jennifer Joanne Mileham, Virginia Firby Mittendorf, Anne Christine Normile, Megan Austin Oberle, Cynthia Kay Pope, James Johnson Postler, Adam Kirk Sewell, Damon Troy Smith, Alexander Henry Stafford, Jeffrey Tweed Taylor (Webster Scholastic Scholarship), Craig Joseph Van Sweringen. Winning Awards of Distinction from the State Department of Education were: John Armstrong, Fran Cooper, Heather Fischer, Naomi Fischer, Larny-Madewell, Jennifer McConkey, Megan Oberle and Damon Smith. Presidential Academic Fitness Awards went to Fran Cooper, Mike Krachon, Jennifer McConkey, Megan Oberle and Alex Stafford. Mike Krachon and Alex Stafford were also honored as National Merit Finalists and Scholars.

Fran Cooper received the Student Council Scholarship, Key Club Service Award, Kiwanis 6th District Outstanding Student Award, Robert W. Martin Award and was a finalist in the Jostens Foundation Leader Scholarship Award. The Lewis Ansell Kiwanis Scholarships of $1,500 each were awarded to Fran Cooper and Mike Krachon. The Terrace Park PTA scholarship of $100 was awarded Larry Madewell.

Junior class members honored for high scores in National Merit competition included Brent Ballard, Dan Krachon, Nikki Vearil and Betsy Woods. Nikki Vearil also received the Xerox Award for Outstanding Achievement in Humanities and Social Sciences and the Williams College Book Award. Brent Ballard and Andrew Gilchrist were named delegates to Boys State while Nicki Thompson and Nikki Vearil were named to Girls State.

Grass Clippings Out In Recycling Move

Terrace Park home owners may have a problem disposing of grass clippings next year.

Village Administrator Ron Pottorf said that Rumpke Waste, Inc.,has been picking up bagged clippings without extra charge, but a company representative said that would be ruled out in any upcoming contract because of new state recycling legislation. The law bans dumping of grass clippings in landfills as a first step in cutting the amount of material going there.

What further steps the village may have to take, Pottorf said, will depend on what is specified in a new garbage collection contract due October 1. Rumpke now collects Terrace Park trash for $31,000 a year. Pottorf said he expects as much as tripling of collecting costs as a result of the new state laws.

Vacation Bible School To Open On August 7

"Celebrate God's Love" is the theme of Vacation Bible School at St. Thomas Episcopal Church, with classes for three-year-olds through completed sixth-graders from August 7 through 11. School will be in session from 9 a.m. to noon each day.

The program director, Linda Long, said the students will participate in Bible stories, art activities, music, service projects, recreation, and worship, all centered on five themes: "God so loved the world," "The earth is the Lord's," "Love one another," "Do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus," and "Go therefore and make disciples of all nations."

Meantime, a step toward citizen involvement in recycling plans took place at a meeting at the Community House June 6 organized by Julie Rugh. The law requires preparation of community or district plans for state EPA approval. A citizens group would work with an appropriate council committee to develop residents' awareness of the problem and ways to resolve it.

Others at the meeting included Alice Eberhard, Winky Kleindinst, Maggie Parkhurst, Laurel Ross, Dan Beresford, and county and Rumpke representatives.

Council Approves Reduced Budget

Village council at its June meeting adopted a tentative 1990 budget of $686,384. This year's adopted budget was $699,148, but has been amended since – as late as the June meeting – to total $701,828.

A detailed operating budget will be adopted late this year.

Finance chairman John Wenstrup described the budget as conservative and in the tradition of recent years.

In a comparison, he noted that village spending per resident amounted to $345.43 as against $448.62 in Madeira, $622.75 in Mariemont and $1,399.16 in Indian Hill.

No residents appeared at a public hearing on the budget held before the council session.

In other actions, council: • Heard from Councilman Tim Gleeson and Village Administrator Ron Pottorf that a test program of village sidewalk repair and reconstruction is "giving us two for the price of one" over contracting for the work.

• Showed mixed feelings when Councilman Rich Gilchrist reported a developer's interest in buying the remaining 8.5 acres of the former BBS Co. tract at Woos-ees, said Assistant Squad Chief Sally Gilchrist, the squad will still be far short of its goal of 30 fully-accredited and active members. That number, she said, is needed to provide three-member crews around the clock without imposing undue burdens on those willing to serve their neighbors.

A constant flow of recruits is needed, she said, to compensate for the two or more squad members who leave each year because of business or family committments or leaving the community.

The five just completing training are Tucky Harrison, David Schloss, Sally Fitzgerald and Kay Todd.

Starting training are Doug Bosse, Laura Colston, Bob Forbes, Karen Gallagher, Mary Kipp, Jamie McClurg, Stan Mittendorf and Jan Schloss.

Signs For Sale

Old Terrace Park metal street signs, replaced by a new design, are available to nostalgia-minded residents for $10 each.

Village Administrator Ron Pottorf set the price after only three villagers appeared at a scheduled auction. He said he had learned that he could get that much for the signs as scrap.

Paul Power Aids Adult Education

Paul P. Power, 619 Amherst, has been named community representative and development chairman of the East End Community Learning Center, 4015

Community Learning Center, 4015 Eastern Ave. The center provides basic education and high school equivalency programs to adults. Power is a University of Cincinnati professor emeritus in political science. A Mariemont High School team consisting of Brent Ballard and Dan Krachon took first place in Division 111 in the recent annual Ohio Test of School Achievement in Physics, and placed third overall among all divisions in the state.

Ballard placed first in individual competition in his division.

Michael Grote, physics teacher at MHS, noted that this was the fourth time in five years that his school team has finished first and an individual won first in the division.

Ballard, a junior, also has been accepted into the Young Scholars program at Miami University for a six-week summer study in microbiology. ter and Elm now village owned, and suggested that Council think about possible sale.

• Heard Police Chief Pottorf report that foot patrols seem to have curbed problems at the Wilderness Preserve, and that recent auto vandalism and telephone harassment cases in Terrace Park, Madeira and Indian Hill had been solved.

On The Mark

All five Terrace Park police officers qualified as expert pistol shots in a recent state required test at the Scarlet Oaks police academy. The rating is based on scores of 85 or better on a scale of 100.

Committee Gets Summer Under Way

Terrace Park's Recreation Commission started the summer season for village children with the annual Memorial Day games followed by the opening of Summer Fun June 18. David Park ran the Memorial Day raffle and games while Judy Hutton organized Summer Fun which runs week days at the elementary school from 1 until 3 though July 14.

Lisa Stanton is Summer Fun director with Amy Gislason supervising gym activities. They are assisted by Mariemont High School seniors Mark Brandt, Chris Fischer, Andrew Gilchrist, Mike Kennedy, Holly McClelland, Malinda Menchhoffer, Matt Seik and Betsy Woods.

Summer Fun is open to children who have completed kindergarten though sixth grade.

Park announced net income from the Memorial Day raffle as $2,635, down about $800 from last year. Sixteen children, however, sold more than 50 tickets each and John Harth won the 10speed bike from Bishop's Bicycle for selling 330 tickets.

With the co-operation of elementary school Principal Michelle Hummell, ticket sales were co-ordinated by Norma Campo, Polly DuPlace, Barbara Harth, Marcy McClelland, Kay Pope, Kim Pritz, JoAnn Randolph, Laurel Ross and Nancy Will.

First and second runners to cross the finish line of this year's Memorial Day mini-marathon were Barry Gleeson and Dan Krachon. both in the 11-19 age group. Third Place went to Dan Keefe, who was first in the 36-and-over category, followed by John Bowers. Travis Casteel finished first and Cori Keefe second in the 10-andunder section while Brandt Pordl was first and Steve Gillen and Jamie Egasti tied for second in the 20-35 age group. Kathleen Mitchell and Marcy McClelland finished first and second in the ladies over-21 category.

Winners in the potato sack race were: Branden Teichman, David Startsman and Emily Smith-Peterson, Kindergarten; Erika Howland and Tony Rinaldi, first grade; Chase Koehler and Michael Pritz, second grade; Josh Deeter, third grade; Laura Nisonger, fourth grade; Kristin Jones, fifth grade and Kathy Lowry and Holly Oblinger, sixth grade.

Wheelbarrow race: Paul MacKenzie and Jeff Gray, Emily Smith-Peterson and Piper Stark, Kindergarten; Erika Howland and Johanna Phillips, first grade; Allen Cowgill and Charlie Wilson, second grade; Adam Merten and Matt Colston, third grade; Laura Nisonger and Tricia McConkey, fourth grade; Amanda Campo and

Village Artist Winner At Summerfair 89

By Jeanne Sanker

Cincinnati's Summerfair 1989, held at Coney Island June 9-11, proved fair indeed for one of Terrace Park's newer residents, Georgia Janisse, of 900 Miami Avenue, and disproved a junior high school teacher's prediction that she could never pursue a career in art.

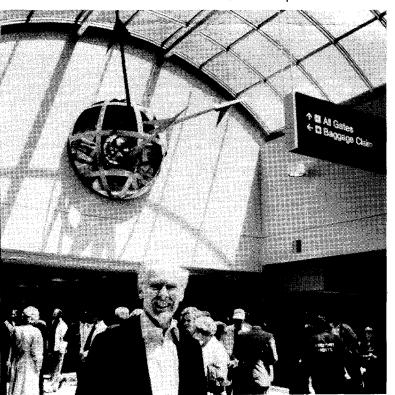

Perfect weather all three uninterrupted allowed days showing of Georgia's oil paintings, many of which feature her four daughters when they were small. Only 200 artists are selected from 600 applicants from around the country, and Georgia was chosen to exhibit for the fourth year. Further, she won the prestigious Corporate Purchase Award from the Cincinnati Financial Corporation with a printing of the famous steamboat, The Belle of Louisville, as it approached the Suspension Bridge during the Tall Stacks week-end last autumn the Janisse Art Gallery, at 212 Main Street in Milford. The official opening will be Friday, June 30, with a reception from 7 to 9 p.m.

In December, Georgia opened her own studio and gallery,

Three generations of Georgia's family are artists: both of her parents, Georgia and her sister, and now her own four daughters. Daughter Linda, 18, just graduated from Mariemont High School, received the art club scholarship for the year. She will be attending Northern Kentucky University. She also won first place in painting in the Congressional Art Contest held on the Cincinnati Skywalk several months ago.

Georgia and her husband, Dennis, the minister of Calvary Chapel of Cincinnati, on Blue Ash Road, came to Terrace Park after they realized how much it reminded Georgia of her girlhood home in Newport Beach, Cal., which was then just a small town with shaded streets. After living in places from California to Florida, where Dennis worked in the Space Program, they hope that Terrace Park can be their permanent home.

Her Banners Help To Spread The Word

By Zoe Moore

To walk into the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer in Hyde Park is to step back in time; here one senses the Middle Ages in the stark gray stone walls, but the sanctuary is warmed by eight brightlycolored banners hanging from the walls. These are tapestries woven to represent eight major themes of the Bible, tapestries designed by a Terrace Park weaver, Jeanette MacMillan Pruiss.

The project had its inception in November, 1986, when Jeanette was in the process of moving back to Terrace Park from Clifton. Jeanette wanted to return to Terrace Park where she and her late husband, Dr. Bruce MacMillan, had lived from 1957 to 1972, rearing two sons, Gregg and John. With Gregg and his wife Linda settled in Terrace Park and son John nearby in Milford, Jeanette says, "Everytime I came out to visit this area I felt as though I was coming home."

She moved into the perfect setting at 1 Oxford. Located right on the river, the former T.P. Country Club had been renovated into "a small house with big rooms", Jeanette's primary requirement. Here she could set up her large loom at a huge picture window overlooking the Little Miami, and here the project came to life.

The vestry of the Church of the Redeemer was seeking to add color and warmth to their sanctuary. Banners were proposed and the next step was to find a master weaver.

Jeanette had studied weaving at the Cincinnati Art Museum, starting in 1953, progressed over the years to teaching textile art at Edgecliff College for 21 years, and had done liturgical pieces for several churches in this area and in Indiana and Pennsylvania. With this background, the church asked her to submit ideas based on eight Biblical themes.

Her designs approved, Jeanette sought help from a longtime weaving friend, Evelyn Christensen. They would each weave four banners, any one requiring six months of work.

With the weaving completed over a period of approximately two years, the tapestries were unveiled this spring, one each Sunday for the eight weeks from Easter to Pentecost. The Episcopal bishop of Southern Ohio dedicated all of them in May, 1989.

But there is more to this story, because new threads were woven into the tapestry of Jeanette's life when she moved to Terrace Park. In her home by the river, she met her neighbor, Carl Pruiss. Their friendship led to marriage in March of 1987. Now they share the former T.P. Country Club, the house with the loom in the picture window.

Jeanette MacMillan Pruiss displays one of the banners she designed and wove for the Church of the Redeemer.

Wins Award

Jenny Carden, daughter of Doug and Lynn Carden, 111 Terrace Pl., has just received a newly-created Corbet Award in the Arts at the School for the Creative and Performing Arts.

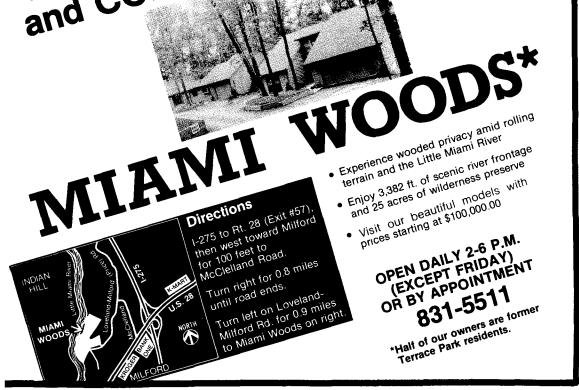

At the end of their junior year, all the school's students compete for scholarships in music, drama, dance, creative writing or art. The award recognizes her winning in both drama and art categories.

Honored

Terrace Park resident Ogle Annett, a sales associate with West Shell's Mariemont office, has received the Dozen National Sales Award for ranking among the top 5% of residential real estate agents nationwide, recognized for their commitment and exceptional sales volume. The Dozen is an association of leading real estate brokers with 20,000 sales associates in 24 major markets nationwide.

In Columbus Show

Lynn Carden of Terrace Park is to be the featured artist at the Beaux Arts Collectors Gallery at the Columbus Museum of Art June 29 through July 16. The exhibit includes this "Korean Still Life" in watercolor and ink, arising from a recent visit to and studies in that country.

Asbestos Cleanup Pushed

The Mariemont Board of Education at a special board meeting June 6 authorized asbestos removal in each of the district's five buildings.

Supt. Don Thompson said the $34,000 program would complete removal of 15 to 20 percent of all asbestos in district buildings. He added Terrace Park elementary school still has asbestos in the ceilings, but it is totally encapsulated.

In other action, the board employed Robert Fleckenstein to teach sixth grade at Terrace Park Elementary. Holding a master's degree from Miami University, he comes to Terrace Park from the Lakota School District.

Cathy Hogan, who also holds a master's from Miami, was employed to head a district math enrichment program at the elementary and junior high level. She taught computer and math to gifted and talented students at Summit Country Day.

The board also employed Janet Johnson as school psychologist at an annual salary of $37,000.

Putt Wins Golf Match

A team composed of Bill Zdeblick, Mike Campo, Vince Rinaldi and Mike Gray won first place in the 1989 Terrace Park men's golf scramble, finishing at 8 under par. Gray sank an unbelievable 40-foot putt to ensure a one stroke victory over the team of Mike Pritz, John Borchers, Pat Gallagher and Harry Kauffman.

Brandon Harrison won longest drive and Stan Thomson won closest to the pin.
