New Postage Stamps Bloom

By Cyndy Finnigan

Tribute was paid to the late artist and Terrace Park resident. Priscilla Harrison Connell, on May 28 at the Village Post Office. In 1998, the US Postal Service contacted her daughter, Pamilia Connell Grafe, to obtain permission to use one of Priscilla's images for a postage stamp. The sheet of first class stamps features four tropical blossoms—Bird of Paradise, Royal Poinciana, Gloriosa Lily and the Chinese Hibiscus. The flowers grow in Southern California, Southern Florida and the Hawaiian Islands. Priscilla's flower is the Royal Poinciana, a towering flower with orange and scarlet blooms that are about three inches in diameter.

Priscilla was an ardent nature lover with a passion for art and photography. Extensive traveling allowed her to view nature first hand and capture it in her art. A book of her work, Natural Impressions of Priscilla Harrison Connell, was compiled by two of her children, Pamilia Connell Grafe and Phillip Smith Connell.

The May 28 ceremony was brief but touching. Priscilla's husband, Paul Connell, gave a heartfelt speech about his late wife, who passed away in 1997, and gratefully accepted a framed enlargement of the tropical flower stamp. He and Pamilia served a lovely, white iced cake, decorated with tropical flowers, to those in attendance.

Water Mains Replacement Reviewed

By Katy Wood

A $750,000 water mains replacement project is essential for fire safety in Terrace Park, and may begin as early as August. Council will vote on the issue in July. Dan Startsman, Public Works chairman, and George Kipp, Village Engineer, explained the project at the June 8 Council meeting.

Most of Terrace Park's streets will be affected. Terrace Park's water mains are four inches, six inches and eight inches in diameter, depending upon when they were installed. The four-inch mains, which are approximately 80 years old, are occluded and narrowed with age. As a result, the volume of water that can pass through is diminished. Because water volume and pressure are not at acceptable limits, the fire department would not be able to fight two fires at one time, if such a situation were to occur.

The Village applied for an Issue 2 loan from the Ohio Public Works Commission to help pay for the project, but the request was recently turned down for the third time. "There was no explanation," said this on our own."

would include the streets connected by alleys - Cambridge, Oxford, Rugby and Harvard.

If new mains are installed, the fire hydrants will be moved from the alleys to the streets.

"This will solve the current problems of hydrants becoming overgrown with weeds, and confusion about house numbers," said Kipp.

Phase I would also include Myrtle and Elm, streets that provide access to the school and to the Community Building. The remaining streets, Marietta, Lexington, Floral, Myrtle, Stanton, Park, Western and Cornell, with four-inch mains also have six-inch and/or eight-inch mains from which to pull.

Council also discussed the possibility of completing the project all at once. Kipp estimated that there would be a 5% savings in engineering costs in that case. A special meeting for June 24, to review the financing options, is tentatively scheduled, so that a resolution for the project can be presented at the July meeting.

"I believe we can finance this out of Village funds," said Startsman. "It depends on if we want to."

Council will determine if financ-Startsman. "We're faced with doing ing the project out of Village funds will meet their goal of leaving 30-Anticipating that financing 33% of funds, or four months of op-

- The budget for the 2000 budget was adopted
- Councilwoman Julie Rugh reported that a group of residents interested in developing plans for the improvement of Wooster Pike had met and would continue to meet. A group of residents, who attended Council concerned about plans by the state to widen the highway, were assured that this would not happen soon or without considerable notice

Leanna Paz (731 Elm) addressed Council representing a group proposing to replace the existing playground in the schoolyard. The primary purpose of the project is to provide playground equipment adequate for the number of children using it and appropriate for young children and toddlers. The school board has approved the plan and made space available but is not providing funding. The project is projected to cost $33,000. A private, anonymous individual has offered to match funds up to $18,000. Mrs. Paz requested a donation from the Village. Mrs. Paz was questioned about the necessity of replacing the existing equipment, the cost of the project, and the possibility of locating a playground on the Log Cabin property instead. Councilman Steven Holmes was asked to review the request in his committee

- Holmes' committee will also develop a plan for use of the "Rawnsley property," which is owned by the Village

Dear Gillian,

First, many thanks for the copies of Village Views. I note with interest that the first edition hit the presses on or around my10th birthday. My wife Wendy (knowing how much it all means) kept the copies you sent and presented them to me on my 40th. Dad was there, and I think I saw a watery eye, but I am never sure with him! It has taken me pretty much till now to recover from an unbelievable day.... I think that the gifts and celebrations are designed to ease the aging. Anyway if that is the case, then it worked -not least the results of the article you very kindly published. THANK YOU very much.

I have had e-mails from Carol Cole and from Tom Seiter's sister, as well as from Dom Costanzo (my old BB coach). I'm expecting one from his son Dino, who I spent much time with in TP. I also received mail from a guy called Lon Stirsman who was 1-2 years above me, but knew some

I think that the overriding response has been very warm, particularly from Carol—we shared the same neighbours I guess, but also marveling at my memory. I have been considering this. I was only 10, so an 18month trip to the USA was a huge adventure for me. Also the effort made by people to make us welcome and comfortable was particularly memorable. The memories, therefore, are clear.

As an adult, I see my kids' friends come and go without taking a great deal of notice, so to receive mail from Dom was wonderful, particularly, as I told him, it was he who told me to steal home, and then gave me safe!!! I spent a lot of time at his house on Wooster Pike (that is a great road name, you know), but I can't believe he actually remembers me specifically, which makes it that much more generous to spend his time making contact.

Anyway Gill, many thanks once again- it really has been a very interesting and enlightening exercise, which has hopefully not finished yet. I may have to travel to Lexington in the next 4 months. If I can divert, I would love to come and visit Terrace Park (chances are probably 50-50).

Regards, Jon Waterman Buckinghamshire, England

Dear Residents of Terrace Park:

Have you met Dan and Debbie Beresford? Dan and his wife Debbie live on Indian Hill Road in Terrace Park and have been residents since the fall of '87. They have been married for 19 years. Dan and Debbie are a delightful couple who demonstrate a cheerful and positive attitude, despite Dan's disability, the result of a driving accident. Since then, Dan and Debbie's lives have become much more complicated, causing a need for assistance.

I have had the great pleasure of meeting Dan and Debbie as a result of my wife's prayer group, and we have been friends since early spring. In an effort to assist this wonderful couple, we are looking for volunteers to help with minor home repairs. Do you have four hours per month to spare? If you can help, please give me a call.

You will be glad you did.

Proud to be a friend, Carl Riedmatter Miamiville, Ohio 831-4039

Letter to the Editor

On behalf of the Terrace Park Police Department, I would like to take this opportunity to wish everyone a safe and happy summer. I think if the sun is shining, the happy part is inevitable. But it's the safe part I'm asking for help with. Your police department staff has received numerous complaints about cars not stopping for stop signs, and on many occasions it's a neighbor. I did some calculating and determined if you stop at every stop sign in the Village for three seconds, it will take you approximately two minutes and ten seconds. Everyone knows that no one has to go through sixty stop signs to leave home. So please save yourself $70, and, at the same time, give your neighbors a little piece of mind by coming to a complete stop.

Also, keep your eyes on Village Views for upcoming events and programs from your police department! Have a great summer!

Sincerely,

Lt. Jerry Hayhow

Lawn Care

"When I worked for a well known, traditional lawn care company, we got blood tests every six months to see if the poison was in our blood," recalls Derrick Green, lawn care specialist. "If our blood tested at a certain level, we'd be reassigned to a different job until the level went down.... sometimes for three months. Nobody knows what poisonous spray can do to your sys-

In Derrick's opinion, liquid herbicides can be more toxic than dry ones because they are more concentrated and while the treated leaves are still wet, people and pets can easily come into contact with the poison. However, the liquid is less expensive and works quicker than dry herbicides, which can take a season to work.

Believing that dry herbicide is the product of the future, Derrick and his wife, Julie, formed Derrick's Green Care: Custom Lawn and Total Landscaping. Green Care designs landscapes, and plants and maintains grass, beds, flowers, trees and shrubs. Grasscutting is also available. During the winter, Green Care does plastering and painting for customers. Terrace Park residents interested in Green Care lawn and landscaping services can call 541-3781.

Decisions about lawn care are complicated because there are many lawn care products, liquid and dry, with varying ingredients. Information about specific ingredients is available from the US Environmental Protection Agency, "usepa" on the Internet. The EPA's Home Page contains a pesticide database. Concerned by the amount of pesticides in the modern environment, the US EPA is currently re-doing "tolerances" of pesticides, (defined as anything that kills bacteria.) Not only lawn care products but also disinfectants with Lysol, Purel and Dial hand soap are being evaluated.

He is certified as a plans examiner and a building inspector.

Fiedler's assistant will be William (Bill) Halley, who will be involved with on-site inspections. He was also appointed Aerobics Inspector. Halley is a certified building inspector and works as a construction superintendent in Madeira. He grew up in Terrace Park and was a 1982 graduate of Mariemont High School.

The new job descriptions for both of these positions, also approved on June 8, include conditions regarding conflict of interest. Neither Fiedler nor Halley will be involved in architectural or construction work in Terrace Park.

It was estimated by Councilman Dan Keefe that Fiedler, who will mercial Building Official in Madeira. make $35 per hour, will earn approximately $15,000 per year based upon the time spent by Tim Harth in his role as Building Official. Harth made $6,000 per year. Halley will make $30 per hour, plus receive $500 per annum for aerobics inspection.

> Keefe, who apologized for his "reactive rather than proactive" response to village residents' concerns about the Building Official position, also appointed Tim Harth as a consultant during the transition. The transition period was designated as July 1 through December 31. Harth will receive a fee of $35 per hour.

There was some disagreement among council members regarding the appointments, having nothing to do with appointee qualifications. Julie Rugh stated that Council "should have stood behind Mr. Harth," while Dan Startsman argued in favor of "keep[ing] the Building Official a resident of Terrace Park.'

But Steven Holmes, who voted with the majority for the appointments, noted, "We've batted this ball enough."

Classical music? Big yawn!

Not that day. Diana Belland, pianist and Northern Kentucky University professor, captivated her The sounds of Beethoven young audience with a forty-five minute program that demonstrated how beautiful, emotional and humorous classical music can be. She provided an informal atmosphere with the children sitting casually around her, violinist Kiki Bussell and cellist Erik Anderson. A short explanation was given before each piece with selections from Bloch, Mendelssohn and Beethoven. A great deal of hand waving followed during the question and answer session when the children asked such questions as " Do you really like to practice?" and" Why is the cello shaped like that?". All questions were fielded with great enthusiasm and humor.

Diana is the recipient of a Northern Kentucky University Faculty Project Grant to set up free concerts at ten area schools. She, Kiki and Erik divide their time between teaching and performing at various venues.

ARBOR DAY CELEBRATION

First graders Blake Fletcher, Sarah Reising, and Max Pendery, smile as they receive their serviceberry trees from the Terrace Park Garden Club.

By Jenny Whitaker

A tiny tree grows in our back-yard. The Terrace Park Garden Club gave it to my daughter, Emma, on Arbor Day last year. For one year, it has survived bumps from my zealous lawnmowing, winter winds bending it to the ground, and jumpropes tethering it's trunk in many games of cowgirl. Imagine our surprise this spring when beautiful white bell-like flowers appeared on its slender branches. The expression of wonder and joy on Emma's face when she observed this phenomenon was one I'll never forget.

That same expression was seen on the faces of forty-two children on April 30 when the Terrace Park Garden Club continued it's annual Arbor Day tradition. For decades, the club has purchased and presented trees to Terrace Park elementary first graders on this special day. Rosemarie Brown and her committee spent a pleasant afternoon in the classroom reading the book Arbor Day by Jani Gill. The children learned that Arbor Day, first introduced in Nebraska in 1872, was established to stress the importance of forest preservation. Public schools often take an active role in promoting this important holiday. Who can forget "I think that I'll shall never see, a poem as lovely as a tree..."? Following the reading, the children were given their own tree to take home and plant in their yards.

Randy Haller, Terrace Park urban forester, selects and delivers the trees to be given to the children every year. He likes to choose a smaller understory type of tree because of the numerous larger species already growing in Terrace Park. He tries to offer a diverse selection of specimens native to the area. This year a serviceberry tree, a hardy tree with copper leaves in the fall and starry white flowers in the spring, was chosen. Other trees given in the past include a crabapple in 1995, a dogwood in 1996 and a silverbell in 1997. Randy mentioned, "I really like to see the kids carrying their trees down the street... the trees are like my babies." He reminded us, once planted, they need loving care. The dry spring season we've experienced this year is a concern. Remember to water newly planted trees often, he says.

Thanks to the Terrace Park Garden Club, our children cannot only help to beautify our neighborhood but also witness the miracle of nature first hand with their very own tree.

My Goodness, Look at Me Now-I'm a Terrace Park Mom

By Pat Wirthlin

I grew up in Terrace Park, and I'm back again. We've met and remet some wonderful people since we moved here in August. Here are just a few:

Yvonne Martin and Gary Covan own the house that was my childhood home. They have done some great things to the house ... like hang my bedroom door back on its hinges. My brothers were dismayed to hear that Yvonne and Gary removed the entryway closet to make a hallway straight back from the front door to the kitchen. How are their children ever supposed to sneak out of the house when the parents can now see both doors from the kitchen? When you filch a can of frosting, where are you supposed to hide it if you can't eat the whole thing at once and there is no front closet in which to stash it? How is a kid supposed to sur-

Group' met at the home of Kathi and in Kindervelt, she helped start Op-Vince Milam. They are so nice. I brought dessert. Chris Ryall kept telling me, "it's OK, your dessert just fell," as if it were a cake rather than the refrigerated delight it was supposed to be. I reassured him several times that my dessert was per-

I joined Kindervelt. Beth Srofe was the president of Kindervelt this past year. Sometimes Beth would lose herself and blurt out, "sign up Patty Seiter for the bake sale." Everybody would stare blankly, recognizing that Beth has had a long year. Beth's mom knows who Patty Seiter is, because Mrs. Griffith was my fourth grade teacher. I wonder if Mrs. Griffith liked me as much as I

Leanna Paz has become a good friend. She is such an inspiration. To name just a few of her activities, she coaches soccer and t-ball, she is a scout leader, she co-My first 'Couples Dinner chairs Newcomers, she participates eration Playground, she spearheaded an Honduran relief effort, and she helps neighbors pull weeds. I was thinking of sending her my taxes to do this year as just another community service. At the very least, she could come over and pull some of my weeds. Leanna is a Georgia girl. Her Southern graciousness and sweetness became most apparent when we hosted the Newcomers Spring Barbecue at our house. Leanna would helpfully follow up with me during the planning process. "Do you have someone bringing a fixins tray?" she would ask. On the day of the party, she quietly asked about the fixins tray again. Finally, I asked, "Leanna, what is a fixins tray?" She replied, in her gentle way, "Oh, you know...it is a tray full of fixins.'

I joined a Christian book club, but quickly beat a retreat from that situation. Crissy Holcomb held the first meeting at her house. Don't get me wrong, Crissy is really nice and very kind and accommodating. All of the women in the group were exceptional. The thing is, all of these women actually read the assigned book for the month and were prepared to discuss it! I thought I was doing pretty well by getting to page twenty.

Carolyn Frey was one of the first people to warmly welcome me to Terrace Park. I remember her as that little teensy-weensy, towheaded Carolyn Getgey who shyly hid behind her mother's leg. Her daughter, Allison, is now that same diminutive tow-headed-hidden child. What a wonderful wife, mother and friend that little one turned out to be.

I am running out of steam. Next time I'll tell you about more people I have met and re-met (unless you call and say, "don't do that to me, Pat."). OK, I'll do one more paragraph.

Mrs. Wiley, my oldest child's Kindergarten teacher, is a whiz. Wait until next year, when she gets my son, Mikey and his friend, George. Mikey is torturing me at home. Every conversation starts with, "you are a mean mommy." Yet, he has to be in the same room with me AT ALL TIMES...AHHHHH. Mikey plays with George Long. They have some world-class fights. Yesterday, Mikey chased George home and made him strip. (George was wearing Mikey's clothes). This made George so mad that he chased Mikey back to our house. Our obliging neighbors didn't even blink, as these running, ranting angels roared through town, one naked as a blueberry. God Bless Terrace Park.

Former TP Girl Scout Troop # 198 recently gathered for their last activity before graduation from high school. The girls and leaders spent the weekend at the Dracketts' Lakeside cottage on Lake Erie. Terrace Park Youth Wins Gold

By Paul Pendery

Ty Hali, a 10-year-old fourth grader at Cincinnati Country Day School, was awarded two gold medals by the AAU/USA (Amateur Athletic Union of the U.S. - Affiliate of the USA Junior Olympics). Ty's select in-line hockey teams, the Cincinnati Crusaders 10 and under team and the Team Extreme 12 and under team, swept the Cleveland Regional Qualifying Tournament held May 21-23. Both teams were undefeated, earning them first place medals. In the past year, the 10 and under Crusaders have taken first place in 5 other regional tournaments. They are now seeded to participate in the prestigious AAU National Championships to be held at Disney World in August.

Ty has been playing select ice hockey since the age of six and just this year began playing in-line hockey. He started ice-skating when he was four. He enjoyed it so much he eventually took enough interest in ice hockey to borrow some equipment from his neighbors, the Clearys, and began playing. While he plays all of the positions except goalie, he says he enjoys passing, shooting the puck, and just skating around. He has enjoyed playing either ice hockey or in-line hockey in cities like Toronto, Cleveland and Nashville. Even though his favorite sport is hockey, he also enjoys playing soccer. Ty is the son of Denise and Brent Hall.

Operation Playground Update

We are pleased to report that the Mariemont School Board has approved our proposal to replace the playground at our school. The new playground unit will offer many options and play areas for children of all ages and will be handicapped accessible.

Terrace Park is a unique and charming community and our elementary school is without a doubt its cornerstone. Our community thrives because of the environment it offers to our children and with your support, the new and improved playground unit will certainly enhance our efforts to provide a safe and fun area for the enjoyment for our families.

Drackett & Harth Construction Company has graciously offered to remove the existing playground free of charge. In addition we are thankful to a local charitable foundation that has promised to MATCH EV-ERY DOLLAR that we contribute up to $18,000. The generosity and support has been truly overwhelming, but, needless to say, we still need your contribution to reach our objective.

We would like to take the opportunity to also thank the many families who have already made their generous contributions. In the August publication of Village Views, we are planning thank every family that has contributed to our cause. We also would like to thank for the support and kindness to those who wish to remain anonymous.

Let's not wait! Please contribute today! We will not be able to order the new playground until our objective of approximately $33,000 has been reached. Please send your contribution to Alison Connor @ 723 Floral, made out to Operation Playground.
