Terrace Park Elementary is going green

In addition to joining in a new district-wide recycling effort, Terrace Park Elementary is incorporating conservation and environmental issues into the curriculum. The goal is to impart upon students how each individual can make a difference.

Each month a different topic concerning the environment will be presented to students. In October, the COSI on Wheels program offered ways to conserve energy and highlighted the differences between renewable and non-renewable energy sources. In November, "trashologist" Dr. T. (a.k.a. Jack Golden) entertained and taught students about the importance of recycling. That assembly kicked off the district-wide program of recycling paper, plastic and aluminum in all five Mariemont school buildings.

The students are heavily involved in this effort. They help gather the recyclable items and lead the initiative. They will read "Good for the Planet" tips each week during daily announcements

The school itself will be trying to reduce use of paper and encourage electronic communication; use biodegradable cleaning supplies and recycled paper products; encourage a no-idling policy for carpool pick up and buses; and look for other ways to be energy efficient.

Teachers Maura O'Connor, Tom Zaya and parent, Kadi Anderson are leading this program at Terrace Park. The ultimate goal is to emphasize to kids the importance of taking care of our environment and different ways in which they can help.

Dr. T. (for trashologist), otherwise known as Jack Golden, delivers the message of the importance of recycling with the help of Terrace Park 6th grader, Dalton Osgood.

Boy Scouts organize toy drive to help other children

Boy Scout Troop 286 will once again partner with the Cincinnati postal workers "Dear Santa Letters" program. The Boy Scouts will also be accepting gifts at the Village Green Tree Lighting on December 2 and at the Log Cabin on December 9 from noon to 2 p.m. Troop 286 will wrap the gifts and deliver them to the main post office in downtown Cincinnati for distribution by letter carriers to needy children.

We want your gently used coats!

Children's author inspires students

Author of 26 children's books and former Terrace Park resident, Louise Borden, visited all three Mariemont City Schools' elementaries. Borden met with all students in grades kindergarten through sixth grade during the week of October 23.

Borden shared with the young writers what inspires her story ideas and how important the research and revision processes are in her writing. With the help of student volunteers, she took the children through the evolution from story idea to final product—how a finished manuscript travels through an editor, art director, illustrator, printer and binder before it reaches the hands of a reader.

Borden has co-authored two books with Terrace Park Elementary teacher, Mary Kay Kroeger, "Paperboy" and "Fly High! The Story of Bessie Coleman". Recent books include "The Journey that Saved Curious George" and "The John Hancock Club." Next year, Borden's "Off to First Grade" will be in print.

Louise Borden's presentations at Terrace Park Elementary, Fairfax Elementary and Mariemont Elementary were part of an ongoing Mariemont City Schools and its Author Visit Program sponsored by PTA/PTOs.

Letters to the Editor

From the editor: As a rule, the Village Views does not print letters to the editor without a signature, but I believe this good Samaritan's message should be heard. Chandi Findley

For quite some time, I have made it my job to pick up trash between the tunnel and Milford on the bike trail. For one reason or another, really it was too hot, I had to let it go. I decided that it was time to take action so, on a beautiful fall day, I took my wheelbarrow down the trail between the overpass on Elm Avenue and the tunnel, that is a distance of about one-half mile. At the end of my walk, the wheelbarrow was full and I was tired and disgusted. It seems that there have been several beer/pizza parties where partyers do not pick up their trash. There are also a lot of water bottles, wrappers and general litter.

Empty beer cans on the bike trail.

There is not a lot we can do to prevent the water bottles and wrappers being tossed but perhaps parents should be a little more aware of what the kids are doing on the weekends.

A wheelbarrow full of trash collected on the Terrace Park section of the bike trail.

Close-knit women create quilt for raffle

A close-knit group of women at St. Thomas Parish in Terrace Park have spent more than a year finishing an embroidered quilt that now will be raffled.

The quilters met weekly in the guild room for close to three hours, hand-sewing with exact precision, creating a work of art that will soon grace someone's home. The quilt actually was started during the 1970s when Kay Everhart, of Mariemont, picked out the early American green, blue and raspberry-red pattern and kit at Pogue's Dept Store downtown. She embroidered parts of it, but with five children, she just didn't have the time to finish it. She stashed the project away.

In 2006, she donated it to the quilters so they could finish and raffle it to raise funds. "They really did a wonderful job at restoring it. I think it's beautiful. It's a pleasure to see it finished."

Raffle tickets at $1/ticket or 7 for $5 are available at 831-2052. The proceeds will assist the youth at St. Thomas.

Field trip demos and planting fill the Garden Clubs' schedule

Terrace Park Garden Club has been extremely busy this fall. The club began our year with a fun social meeting in September followed by a visit to the Pyramid Hill Sculpture Park and Museum in Hamilton in October. Pyramid Hill is one of the pre-eminent outdoor sculpture parks in the United States – the third largest in the country. Sculptures are set among 265 acres of woodlands, gardens and hiking trails.

Members had a beautiful day to enjoy this regional jewel.

November brought a demonstration meeting led by two garden club members featuring a seasonal topiary centerpiece. After the demonstration, kits were provided so that members could create their own topiaries at home. The Club also continued its work on beautifying the village. Members planted over 1,000 daffodil bulbs along Terrace Place and behind the Memorial Bed. Thanks to all residents who donated to offset the cost of the bulbs, and most especially, thanks to Steve Vianello of Lawnscape for trenching the area for the bulbs. As the Garden Club adds bulbs each fall, the area along the bike trail should have a profusion of daffodils in the spring. In addition, the club will be decorating the gazebo on the Village Green for the tree lighting ceremony.

If you're interested, please consider joining the Garden Club. You don't have to be an expert – you just need a genuine interest in learning about gardening. The holiday luncheon in December would be a great time to join us. If you're interested in becoming a member, please call Jill Kelly at 965-0819. We're looking forward to hearing from prospective members.

Terrace Park investigates energy choices

The Center of Science and Industry (COSI) traveling program, Investigating Energy rolled up to Terrace Park Elementary on October 11. Grade school students from Terrace Park and Fairfax explored real life issues and choices associated with our energy resources.

They learned about renewable versus non-renewable sources and about energy conservation. Experiment stations manned by PTO volunteers throughout the gym offered students fun and stimulating hands-on activities that taught valuable environmental lessons.

Mariemont High School Students Inducted into National Honor Society

The following Terrace Park senior and junior students were inducted into the Mariemont High School (MHS) chapter of the National Honor Society (NHS) for the 2007-2008 school year on November 8.

Senior inductees were Tim Finnigan, Will Kippins, Amir Rezayat, Drew Troller and Lang Vonderheide.

Juniors inductees included Grant Brendamour, Carolyn Coates, Gavin Donley, Suzy Evans, Lauren Ferguson, Ally Maggard, Jack McKeown, Rose Phillips, Evan Rosson, Amy Sattergren, Stuart Simons and Nick Weaver.

To be considered for NHS membership, a student must have a cumulative grade point average of 3.5 or higher. They must then apply and be approved by a faculty council. In addition to academic achievement, leadership, service and character are the determining criteria.

The current members welcomed new inductees with a luncheon the day before the ceremony. The keynote speaker at this year's induction ceremony was former Olympic runner and current radio talk show host, Julie Isphording.

The MHS chapter of NHS is involved in philanthropic efforts throughout the year. In September, they participated in the ALS Walk. They begin peer counseling in November, will sponsor a junior high dance in the spring and are currently determining an additional service project for the year. Their faculty advisor at Mariemont High School is Donna Neumann.

Police report

A dispute between a resident and an employee of Duke Energy led to a minor physical altercation. The employee had come to collect an overdue amount owed Duke which the resident denied and refused to pay. The Duke employee went to disconnect the power and was shoved by the resident. An officer arrived on the scene and contacted a supervisor at Duke who confirmed the substantial overdue amount and left the decision to accept payment on the spot to the employee. The resident agreed to pay; the employee to accept payment. No charges were filed.

Police received a public service call stating that an acquaintance who had run out of gas in Mariemont was en route to Terrace Park with the caller. Police were informed that the subject was under multiple warrants for arrest. Eight misdemeanors and one felony warrant were verified by police. The subject who was in possession of a crack pipe was transported to the Police Department and was cited to Mayor's Court for drug paraphernalia then released to a Hamilton County Sheriff's Deputy.

A Lexington Avenue resident reported a suspicious vehicle parked on the street. The responding officer found the driver to be a contractor who was waiting for a homeowner with whom he had an appointment to arrive.

Police were asked to investigate smoke near Park and Western. No source was located.

When the smoke alarm sounded a resident on Douglas Avenue called the Fire Department. No fire was detected, however the alarm was found to be faulty.

Several complaints about barking dogs and one about a dog left out in the rain were received and investigated.

Euthanasia was necessary for a deer hit and badly injured on Wooster Pike.

Terrace Park Police responded to Bass Island on the report of a theft in progress.

Mutual aid was provided to Milford.

Police participated in a SWAT operation in Evendale.

The log reported one fire run and one EMS run.

Terrace Park Historical Society

Tracking our past and present for the future

We are very fortunate this month to have a newly researched and written article by Esther H. M. Power. It gives us an insight into the ownership and use of some of the Terrace Park land along the Little Miami River.

Leaf Land Below the Terrace Park Bluff

A forlorn chimney along the old road in Miami Grove Nature Preserve stands as a reminder of a time when summer people came to enjoy the river front before there was a nature preserve and before there was a year-round Miami Grove community. Some folks remember the chimney as part of the "Club Arcadie," one of a number of clubs, cabins, cottages and campsites along the Little Miami River.

Although not the only owners of river front property, the Leaf family deserves recognition for its role and control of much of the southern and south eastern shore in Terrace Park. A closer look at samples of real estate transactions in that area helps to fill some of the gaps in available information. Much more is still unknown.

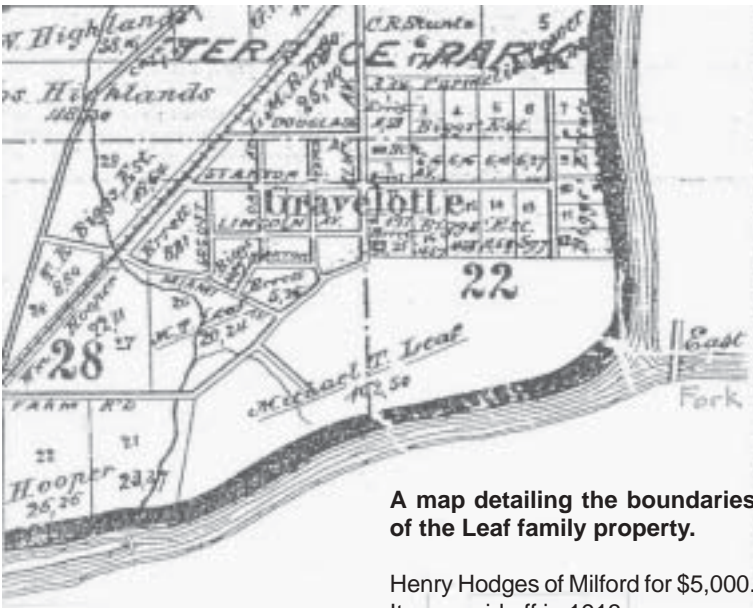

Michael Leaf, a widower of Terrace Park, leased to the Arcade Club in 1914 a southern parcel on the river described as "joining the grounds heretofore leased to the Linwood Country Club." No more is known as yet about that Club. But the Arcade Club lease specified a renewable five-year term beginning January 1, 1915 to December 31, 1919 at fifty dollars a year. Michael Hoffman, President, and Joseph Dusenberry, Secretary, signed for the club.

Former residents of Miami Grove, Bobbie and Paul Scott, remember the building's last days as a club when two old timers stayed there. After the club became inactive in 1946 the building was rented out as a house by Earl Runyan as agent for the owner.

It was during the rental period that Bobbie and Paul had the opportunity as children to go inside. They noticed the high ceilings with beading around the edge, the huge kitchen with large storage cabinets and the bunk beds. Outside there was a wrap around screened porch with an institutional size icebox. Two sets of wide steps provided access.

The chimney and fireplace stood in the middle of the room, not on an outside wall. The location of the fireplace, still observable in the standing chimney, indicates that it was above flood level. The Scotts report that the club was built on concrete piles high enough – maybe eight feet – to drive a car under the building.

It was Michael Turner Leaf who saw the value of using his property as a means of raising money and a source of income from recreational use. He had acquired the one hundred and two acre farm from his father, Henry, in 1871 by will. Henry had held the same land since 1846 when he had purchased it from John and Rebecca Kugler for $6,000. This acreage included both what is now known as the Miami Grove Nature Preserve and the Edgewater area.

Michael added to his farm in 1882 a twenty-acre parcel joining his land on the northwest and containing the Smith-Lindell house. That land had come on the market at auction as Lot #20 of the Thomas R. Biggs estate and had been purchased by Joseph Foster of Clermont County with a successful bid of $2,000, 2/3 of its appraised value. A year later Foster sold it to Michael for $3,240.

As early as 1890 Leaf raised $1,600 by mortgaging a second twenty acre tract to the then recently chartered Milford Home and Building Company of which he was a member and stockholder. He renewed the mortgage at the end of the term. Many landowners mortgaged their property sometimes more than once.

The elbow in the river became a popular summer spot. Michael leased this prime location in 1897 to The Merry Young Bachelors of Cincinnati, Henry J. Stubbs, President. The term ran for three years at thirty dollars a year renewable for seven years.

Apparently, the Bachelors did not stay the full term because Michael and his wife, Elizabeth, leased the same property to The Crescent Nook Fishing Club in 1899. Although the rent remained the same, the renewal term was reduced to five years. L. E. Roettcher, President, signed for the club.

One year later Michael mortgaged the whole 102 acres to Henry Hodges of Milford for $5,000. It was paid off in 1913.

Meanwhile, Michael found a new tenant for his elbow property – The Spotless Town Club. This ten-year lease ran from 1909-1919 for $179.00 a year. The large increase may have been because there was a structure on the land or because of the addition of a little more land bringing the total to four plus or minus acres.

Before the term was out, legal complications arose and were settled by the court in 1913 with Michael agreeing to lease the property to the Edgewater Club for a renewable five-year term beginning April 1, 1919. By then Michael had died.

Michael made one sale in 1913 when Mary B. Andrew and her sister, Elyn B. Andrew, purchased 3.214 acres north of the leased land on the river for a summer cottage. The deed reserved for Michael a fifteen-foot roadway for access to and from his "Edgewater Camp and other premises." That restriction remains in subsequent deeds.

When Michael died in 1916, he was living on the Smith-Lindell tract and left those 20 acres to his only daughter, Laura Leaf, who held it until her death in 1935. In addition to the land, house and buildings, she inherited her father's "household goods, a horse named 'Dick' and the family phaeton."

Michael's sons inherited the rest of the Leaf land. It went out of family ownership in 1924 when Clifford Leaf and his wife Carrie sold it "subject to all leases for camp sites on the premises" to Henry Hodges who had held the mortgage in 1900.

Holiday Fair student representatives and faculty advisors start the festive planning for the annual community event.

Is that really a water bottle?

Terrace Park fourth graders were recently required to read a biography about a person about whom they knew little or nothing. The students were to look at the early life, mid-life, and later life influences, obstacles, and accomplishments of these individuals. At the conclusion of their reading, they gathered enough information to create his or her character using a water or pop bottle! This allowed them to share what this character looked like along with any distinguishing props relating to this person's life. Some examples of characters were Sacajaweah, Albert Einstein, Juliette Gordon Low, Dr. Suess, Wyatt Earp, and Bear Bryant. Students from Mrs. Coates' pictured in the front row: Nina Morgan, Adam Smith, Wyatt Peterman and Jacob Maloney. Pictured in the back row are: Lindsay Harden, Robbie Nugent and Bailey Vianello.

Holiday Fair 2007 merrily returns to MHS

Mariemont High School's (MHS) annual Holiday Fair will take place on Friday, November 30 from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. in the MHS gym. The festive, community-wide event is student run and benefits participating student clubs, teams and organizations.

Thirty-two student representatives from 20 MHS organizations attended the first planning meeting on October 16th and participation is expected to grow from there. Last year, 31 student organizations joined in the Holiday Fair fun and raised nearly $10,000 to support their group's activities and philanthropies.

Holiday Fair 2007 activities will include popular games of skill and chance, treats, decor/jewelry sales, sportswear, spaghetti/pizza dinner, silent auction and more. As always, the Art Club will sell its one-of-a-kind creations including painted home accessories and furniture. Kids will be able to test their skills at sports challenges with Mariemont Warrior athletes. Favorite carnival games, bingo, cake walk and fish pond will all be returning. From preschoolers through adults, Holiday Fair offers a great evening for the whole community.

Curbside leaf collection has begun and will continue through the end of November. Please do not put anything other than leaves in the collection piles because the leaf collecting equipment can be easily damaged by hard debris such as sticks, rocks, etc. There will be no stick collection at this time.

A quick safety reminder: to help protect the children of our village, please do not drive through leaves on the curb. Also, please discourage children from playing in leaf piles along the street.
