Unopposed In School Race

Three incumbent members of the Mariemont district school board are unopposed for election.

A Village Views Crisis

A permanent delivery system for VILLAGE VIEWS has not yet been established. We are grateful to the organized Scout troops who delivered the paper this summer, but with school opening and their regular programs, this volunteer service cannot continue without making complications.

We ask for volunteers, young and old, who can lend a hand. If you can lend a hand, or organize a dependable delivery team, for even a small area, you will make the problem smaller, and enough of you will bring the problem to negotiable size.

There are nearly 700 homes in the Village, some 45 streets, short and long. Each month, 22 Girl Scouts on bicycles delivered VILLAGE VIEWS throughout the area in about one hour. Our first issue was delivered by teams of Boy Scouts in nine automobiles driven by adults.

Girl Scouts will deliver this issue, their fourth round. We cannot express sufficiently our deep appreciation and the thanks of the whole community to all of the young volunteers and the leaders who organized the delivery. Their service has enabled us to reach every family with our neighborhood communication -- and that is our total mission.

Village Gets A Little Aid, Still Seeks Federal Funds

With Terrace Park facing a financial crisis because of the storm of August 9, village officials continue to hope that Federal aid will be forthcoming for this community and others in the county which suffered heavy damage.

Mayor Carl H. Lindell disclosed that he had wired President Nixon urging that Terrace Park and other affected communities be declared disaster areas to permit release of funds. He added that he had received assurances from sources here close to the President that the appeal would be pushed.

And unless Federal aid is forthcoming, the mayor said, restoration work on trees remaining will have to be cut to a minimum, along with all other village services, since what funds are available fall far short of the village needs.

The mayor reported that expenditures of about $30,000 -- of which $12,000 was for labor -- have been incurred to date. He estimated that another $40,000 is needed for essential work and repairs.

Terrace Park has received an additional $8,000 allocation from the county budget commission in a distribution of sales tax and financial institutions tax funds, making a total of $16,425 for that budget account. The mayor said that in consultation with Robert E. Jacobs, county treasurer, he had been told that the village could expect an even larger allocation as a result of the newly-enacted sales tax bill, but county officials were unable to estimate a figure.

While no action has been taken pending the outcome of appeals to President Nixon, village officials intimated that it might be necessary to consider either an appeal for public subscription or a special assessment if no other funds are forthcoming.

Doing Some Tree Trimming?

If you're doing some trimming of shrubs and trees because of that windstorm, here are some suggestions from the Garden Club:

In cutting stubs of broken branches from trees, make the cuts flush with the trunk or limb, and paint the cut with tree-wound paint. (You can buy in aerosol cans at the hardware store.)

In cutting back a broken limb, go back to an intact branch, and make a slanting cut so rain will drain away. Again, daub the cut with tree-wound paint.

Leave any high-in-the-trees work to the professionals. It's risky business. But make sure they paint the wounds, too.

Terrace Park's Garden Club is pondering the feasibility of setting up a small nursery to grow trees for Village replacement.

The suggestion involves collaboration with Village Council in preparing an area in which small trees and shrubs could be grown to suitable size.

Discussion of the project preceded the club's fall flower show, at which Mr. and Mrs. Bernard DeWeese won sweepstakes and best of show awards in the horticultural division, and Mrs. Arthur Lanner took similar awards in the artistic division.

New Principal Appointed

LEE D. MAJOEWSKY

Lee D. Majoewsky of Maineville, Ohio, in Warren County, has been named principal of Terrace Park Elementary School. He succeeds Norman Purdy, who, after 13 years here, resigned during the summer to take an administrative post in the St. Bernard School System.

A former teacher and principal at Loveland Elementary School, Majoewsky has just completed work on his doctorate at Michigan State University.

While at Michigan, he not only taught courses on the college level, but served as the university's co-ordinator of student teaching and a member of its field service team.

He did undergraduate work at Ohio State University and the University of Cincinnati.

A survey of the extent of damage to village-owned trees shows 680 had dangerous hanging limbs, 520 had tops broken out, 170 were left as eight to 10 foot stumps which had to be cut off and 50 were uprooted.

In the two weeks immediately after the storm, county, state and private contractor's trucks converged on the village, to do a blitz job of tree and limb removal. On many days there were 20 or more trucks and tractors and over 50 men and boys working. Branches were hauled to the area beyond Ford Road and burned and bulldozed.

Sunday, August 17, was declared Volunteer Work Day by Mayor Lindell and workers rallied to the call to help load State Highway Department trucks with debris. The Red Cross canteen unit fed all workers, as it had done for several days the preceding week.

Women from the Fire Department Auxiliary and volunteers prepared lunches and suppers on several days later to feed the influx of workers, at village expense. The Kroger Company provided food on Saturday, August 23.

Planning Authority To Speak

Charles Ball, Executive Director of the Ohio - Kentucky-Indiana (OKI) Regional Planning Authority, will discuss "Regionalism and the Small Community" at the September meeting of the Terrace Park Village Forum. He will discuss activities of OKI such as sewer requirements, air pollution control, waste disposal and the Little Miami Scenic River development that concern the local area.

The meeting is the first of the fall season for the Forum which was organized earlier this year to discuss current problems and opportunities of the Village.

Because of its special interest for residents of adjacent communities, the Forum has extended invitations to community leaders and residents of Mariemont, Fairfax, Newtown, Milford, Indian Hill and Camp Dennison to attend the meeting.

St. Thomas Community Church will be the location for the meeting. The time is Sunday, September 28, beginning at 7:30 p.m. A question and answer period will follow the meeting expected to be concluded by 9:30.

Editorial

There was a little bit more than a neighborly touch in the appearance of units from the Milford, Indian Hill and Newtown fire departments and life squads in Terrace Park's Labor Day parade.

Their presence was a reminder that if major disaster strikes, the village will not stand alone.

If, for example, the storm of August 9 had resulted in a major fire or a series of blazes beyond the capacity of our own fire department to control, one radio call to the county dispatcher could have brought dozens of pieces of equipment and scores of men to our help.

If the storm had resulted in a number of injuries -- and we're lucky it did not -- a similar call could have brought as many as 50 ambulances and their trained crews from all over the county to our aid.

All that help would have come because of behind-the-scenes organization by members of our own fire department and life squad and similarly dedicated people throughout the county.

Through district and countywide organizations, all the fire departments in the county -- including that of the city of Cincinnati -- are banded together in mutual aid arrangements. We pledge to help them. They pledge to help us. A similar arrangement joins the life squads. If our own squad is out on a call, one from a nearby community will be sent to cover the emergency.

It's something to remember -- along with that all-important fire-life squad number 825-2260.

Proceeds from the raffle exceeded those of previous years by a wide margin under the direction of Bill and Janie Pendl. Winners were Bill Howard, Ace Tollefsen and Dick Feldon.

And as an indication of the tensions that were worked off, Nick Shundich reports that the "used" auto was battered over 2,300 times.

The parade opening the festivities, with Earl and Judy Pritchard and Neil and Nona Thelan as marshals, was the longest and most colorful Terrace Park has ever seen, with over 100 contestants in the pet parade and fire and life squad units from Milford, Indian Hill and Newtown as well as our own also taking part.

Dr. Dean Honored

Dr. James S. Dean, 900 Miami Ave., was one of the poets honored by the Martha Kinney Cooper Ohicana Library Association, at the annual reception and tea for authors and composers of 1968-69 held September 13 in the Cincinnati Art Museum.

Through a long career as a psychiatrist and neurologist, Dr. Dean was often impelled to set down in searching verse his reflections on the joys, burdens and aspirations of the "human condition." Since his retirement by a paralytic stroke six years ago, he has assembled some of his best-liked poems which were published within the last year. The title of the collection is from the opening poem's first line: "Could I but drink the draughts. . ."

Players Open Season With 3-Night Stand

Terrace Park Players will open the 1969 - 70 season with "Chicken Every Sunday," scheduled for October 30, 31 and November 1. Seasoned director Bill Knold and producer Todi

Smith will be in charge. On January 16 and 17, there will be theatre-in-the-round, "The Drunkard," presented at the Community House at a supper show.

On February 6 and 7, and February 13 and 14, the Terrace Park Pops Concert, directed by Jack VanWye, is a "don't miss."

On April 16, 17 and 18, the annual TPP Spring Musical, "Holy Smoke" will be directed by Bob Henderson and written by Dave and Arnora Hummell.

Terrace Park Players offers as many opportunities to participate as you may have wishes or talents, so don't hesitate -- live a little and try out, or sign up for backstage work.

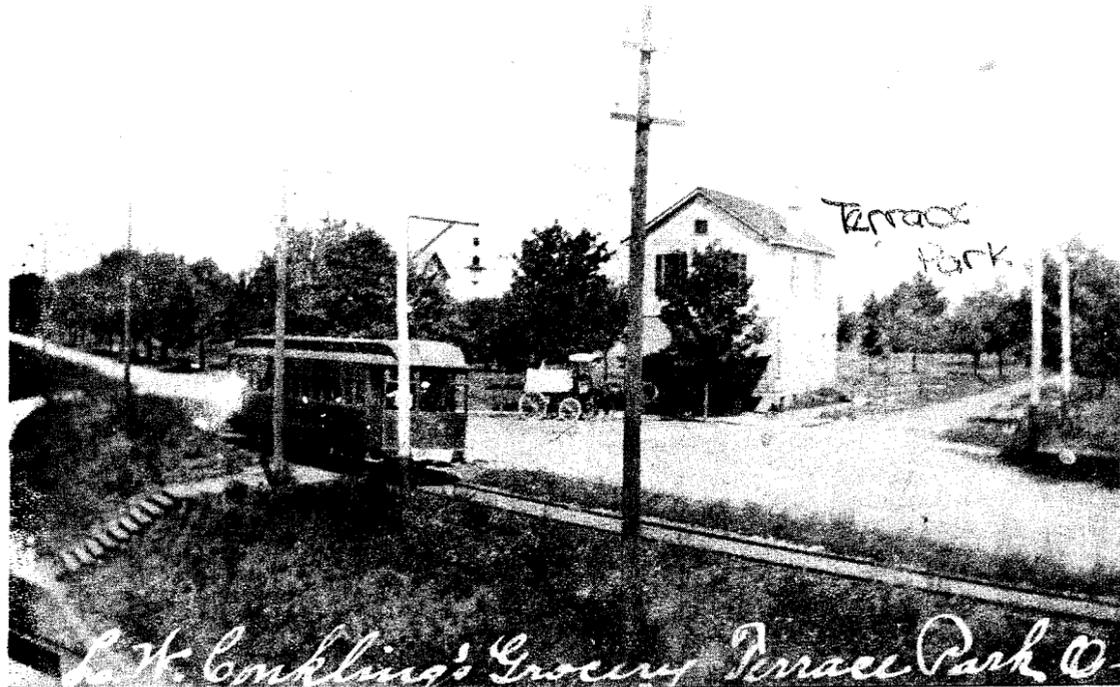

Also important is the fact that as a non-profit group Terrace Park Players has made many donations and has been helpful to many village enterprises.

The board of the Terrace Park Players for this year is: Dave Pannkuk, chairman; Jack Van Wye, treasurer; Bob Henderson, publicity and tickets; Don Leshner, sound and lights; Sue Scoville, production; Phyl Regan, secretary; Arnora Hummell, music director; and Bev Critchell, scripts and casting.

PTA's Book Bonanza Set

The annual PTA Book Bonanza will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, October 7, 8 and 9 at the Terrace Park School. Sale hours will be from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., with 1,000 new books on display. In addition, you may buy a Cokesbury gift certificate for a birthday or Christmas present. There will be a wide selection of adult and children's fiction and non-fiction, globes, games, puzzles and Bibles. Payment may be made by cash, check or charge -- with free home delivery.

Terrace Park's school library receives 20% of the total retail sale. Last year the PTA provided more than $600 in books and equipment for our children's classrooms and the school library through this sale. Colleen Lowe and Sally Lyons are co-chairmen.

The Bustling Center of Terrace Park In 1908

Those trees were no doubt purchased by Council in an order placed March 13, 1896. Records indicate that 600 were bought for $240.

You will note the grocery was higher then than now. Well, when Louis Bosch ran the place, the upstairs got on fire. In the excitement, Louie started to move things out, and first saved was a new fire-red meat cutter, of which he was very proud. Someone had called the Milford volunteers. The bridge was out and they had to ferry the Little Miami, coming out near Shawnee Run Road. Young Vic Kuhn, now a barber in Milford, grabbed the hose that uncoiled from a high contraption, made the second floor and yelled for water. There was slight delay, as the hydrant man had run for the meat cutter, mistaking it for a fire plug.

The so-called spring wagon in the picture is a kerosene distributor, much in use in those days for house-to-house delivery service.

The street light raised and lowered. The light tender had a horse-drawn cart, especially designed, which carried fuel, wicks and cleaning materials.

Those are Western Union poles but the young telephone company was granted permission to string wires from Milford to the grocery. All calls came to the grocery and there was a slight charge to call you to the phone. Ordinance No. 119-1905 passed in August, granted the company permission to come in, set poles, etc. This was signed by H. A. Lloyd and attested to by L. W. Conklin-Clerk. Conklin was a busy man - groceryman, clerk and postmaster for the post office was in the store.

That traction car was a member of a fleet belonging to the Cincinnati, Milford & Loveland Traction Company, that went to Blanchester, instead. Since the cars were blue, they proudly called it the Royal Blue Traction Line. It really rendered service. Scheduled runs were approximately 30 minutes apart from 5:15 a.m. to 11:50 p.m. out of Cincinnati. The latter was the theater run that made it to Mulberry by 1:08 a.m.

There was freight and express service also, and extra cars on special occasions.

After leaving the Cincinnati depot, cars came by way of Pebbles Corner through Madisonville, Plainville Avoca Park, Tower Hill (the latter stops served the hoity-toity who had canoe clubs and summer cottages along the Little Miami River) Robinson's, at the underpass on Elm Road, on around Elm, Terrace Place and along the railroad of St. Thomas Church into Milford. The principle stops of many to Blanchester were at Newtonsville and Edenton, including Modest.

The schedule contained this special notice.

"The management of the C. M. & L. Traction Company especially desires that the patrons of this line receive courteous and intelligent attention at the hands of all employees, and such employees are requested to use every means possible towards the rendition to passengers of such service as shall preserve and increase the reputation of the C.M. & L. Trac. Co. for furnishing the most delightful means of travel.

"The Company will give prompt and careful attention to any complaint received of the violation of either the letter or the spirit of this request; but at the same time the public is also asked to make its wants known to the employee in a clear and explicit manner, and to bear in mind that the demands upon his time are invariably pressing and often of a nature calculated to irritate the most affable."

In the beginning, it was called the "Kroger Line", having been incorporated through the efforts of B. H. Kroger, of grocery fame, September 26, 1902. However, he relinquished his interests soon afterwards. Service was to reach Milford by March 1, 1904. But at the Milford bridge, although the wires were there, to some sort of litigation prevented turning in the power, so they would pull the cars across with horses. Many of us used this service before it was discontinued in 1937 and being nice folks, we did not irritate the employees - well perhaps not much. Then the Ohio Bus Line took over.

The last trace vanished when, in November, 1942, Council passed Resolution No. 54 "Authorizing Removal and Acceptance of Rails for use as scrap in connection with the War Effort." That was the custom in those days, for everyone to turn in all kinds of scrap iron, including iron fences.
