Fire Loss Is Put At $43,500

An early-morning fire destroyed the garage and three cars at the home of Mark L. Woolsey, 731 Park Ave., on Tuesday, April 5. Fire Chief Pierce Matthews said the loss was $43,500.

Heavy water fog extinguished the blaze quickly, but Matthews said the garage and the cars — two inside and one outside — were so fully involved by the time the fire was discovered that there was no hope of saving them. Quick extinguishment prevented spread of the blaze to the nearby home, although some trees were scorched.

The fire was discovered at 3:45 a.m. by Jerry Maish, a member of the fire department who lives next door. He aroused his neighbors and raced to the firehouse while Mrs. Maish turned in the alarm.

Actions of the fire department drew praise from Jane Carothers, 726 Park Ave. In a letter to Village Views she said:

"The devastating garage fire on April 5th, at the Woolsey home on Park Avenue, was a frightening experience for all of us in the neighborhood.

"As a witness to the quick response and efficient work of the Terrace Park Volunteer Fire Department, I felt a deep appreciation for the extraordinary dedication and hard work that is required of these friends and neighbors who make up the fire fighting force. The spirit of co-operation between the police and firemen in this joint effort was apparent and gratifying to us as we stood among the pajama-clad 'sidewalk supervisors' that night.

"Grateful thanks and hats off to our Terrace Park Volunteer Fire Department!"

Two Dedications Mark Spring In Terrace Park

Terrace Park will celebrate two major civic events the weekend of May 22-23.

Drackett Field, and a plaque honoring contributors to that major recreational facility, will be dedicated in ceremonies at 2 p.m. on Saturday, May 21.

Boy Scout Troop 286, at 4 p.m. on Sunday, May 22, will dedicate the major addition to the Elm Avenue Scout Cabin and celebrate the 50th anniversary of the troop's founding with a Court of Honor and other ceremonies.

Drackett Field, named to honor Bolton Drackett as the major contributor, opened last year after a five-year campaign to raise funds for its purchase and development. The drive brought commitment by 220 families to contribute $104,833, of which $100,002 has been collected. A drive now is underway to raise $10,000 by May 1 to retire the mortgage on the property, with $2,510 already contributed.

Names of contributors will be included on the memorial plaque if received by John Gislason, 2 Swallow Field, by May 1.

An anonymous donor made possible erection of an addition almost tripling space in the Scout Cabin, shared also by the Terrace Park Players. The cabin will become headquarters for the troop, which has been meeting in the undercroft of St. Thomas Church. Officials of Dan Beard Council of the Boy Scouts will participate in the ceremonies.

Garden Club Installs Its New Officers

New officers were installed during the annual spring luncheon of the Terrace Park Garden Club at the Terrace Park Country Club April 5.

They are: president, Mrs. Richard Weyer; vice-president, Mrs. Larry Retherford; recording secretary, Mrs. Robert Corey; corresponding secretary, Mrs. William Fahnstock; treasurer, Mrs. Fred Vickers; members-at-large, Mrs. Douglas Carden, Mrs. Gerald Malotke, Mrs. S. M. Lyon, and Mrs. James Robinson.

The club will meet next on May 3 at 12:30. The program will consist of four flower arranging demonstrations by the following club members: Mrs. Robert Corey - Design Using Predominant Green Plant Material, Mrs. Arthur Lanner - Free Form Modern Design, Mrs. Stanley Miller - Design Showing Water, Mrs. Roger Peterson - Mass Arrangement.

The Special will be an arrangement using a basket as the container. The Horticultural exhibit will feature spring-flowering bulbs, perennials and shrubs.

Council Grumbles At Blue Cross Charges

Village council protested at its April meeting what were called "outrageous rates" charged for Blue Cross coverage of village employes, but came to the reluctant conclusion that it had no other course but to pay.

Councilman Rich Gilchrist reported Blue Cross notice of an increase totaling $3,000 a year in village coverage. That, he said, put the charges at $3,100 a year for each of the nine employes covered, as against the approximately $2,600 a year he said he understood applies to Mariemont school district employes. Village rates are the highest on the Blue Cross schedule, he said, because of the small number of employes covered.

But Gilchrist reported that he had found no way of merging the employes with other groups to achieve a lower rate, and that other insurance policies available were too hedged with undesirable qualifications to be acceptable.

With the village facing the threat of suit by the county, Councilman Ken Bassett said efforts were being made to compromise a protested $36,000 bill, accumulating since 1977, for county radio service to the police and fire departments and life squad. Terrace Park and other communities are protesting the assessments, arguing that residents support the service through taxes and then are being charged for service that is being provided free to other areas.

In other actions, council:

- Passed on third reading an ordinance zoning the Brendamour tracts at Wooster and Elm as Residence AA, the highest level. Councilman Rodger Miller reported no active measures to sell the property, adding that some developer interest had been "clouded" by a Brendamour right of first refusal.

- Heard from Councilman Les Overway that work on replacing the Elm Avenue overpass still is expected to be completed in June; that 10 residents had applied for garden space on the Brendamour tract, and that continuing green belt improvement promised state tax benefits to the village.

- Heard a Gilchrist report that more major tree work is planned in May and June, with a request that residents contact him with any concerns or problems with street trees abutting their properties.

- Heard that Solicitor John Getgey is negotiating with some property owners seeking correction in some non-conforming fences.

- By resolution complimented the Mariemont varsity basketball team on its season's record.

A Warning

Police Chief Ron Potorf told the April councilmen that he is "very concerned" over a rash of daytime burglaries in communities surrounding Terrace Park, and urged residents to be diligent in locking their doors, keeping an eye on neighbors' homes, and promptly reporting to police any suspicious circumstances or strangers.

The chief said that the village had not been affected thus far, but that police patrols had been stepped up as a precaution.

Larry Lyons Wins Honors As Outstanding Swimming Coach

Larry Lyons

Although he was a football player at Miami University and started his teaching career as a football coach, Larry Lyons of Terrace Park has been honored this season as the outstanding swimming coach of the year in both this area and the state.

Named coach of the year for the second time in three years by the Ohio State High School Swimming Coaches Association, Larry was more recently voted similar honors for the tenth time by district fellow coaches in an Enquirer sports poll.

Larry coached football at Mariemont High School before moving to Sycamore High seven years ago. His team placed seventh in the boys state swim tournament this year.

A resident of Terrace Park for 19 years, he has been active in the Swim Club, serving as club manager for seven years and coaching its swim team for five years. He lives at 116 Robinwood with his wife, Sally, and their family.

Twice elected president of the Ohio swim coaches' group, Larry also has been president of the Southwestern Ohio

Football Coaches Association, been named four times as the Eastern league coach of the year, and as aquatic director at Sycamore is becoming known as developer of his own "cradle of coaches."

This year, Fred Cooper, also at Sycamore High School, was named Southwestern Ohio District High School Girls' Coach of the Year; Mark Pruss, a former swimmer for Lyons and now a coach at Canton Glen Oak High School, was named Ohio High School Girls' Coach of the Year; Monty Hopkins, another former swimmer for Lyons and now a coach at Westerville Aquatic Club, was named U.S.S. Coach of the Year.

Other coaches who were former swimmers or assistants for Lyons are: Craig Leonard and Jim Lyons, Anderson Barracudas; Jim Stites, Ed Bachman, Barb Pontius, Tom Grant, and Bonnie Lawton of the Sycamore Flying Fish; Tassos Madonis, Xavier University; Wim Schipper and Jeff White of Miami Hills; Bob Schipper and John Gaw of Normandy Swim Club; Ray House and Susie Hartman House, coaches in Indiana.

More About The Library

To The Editor:

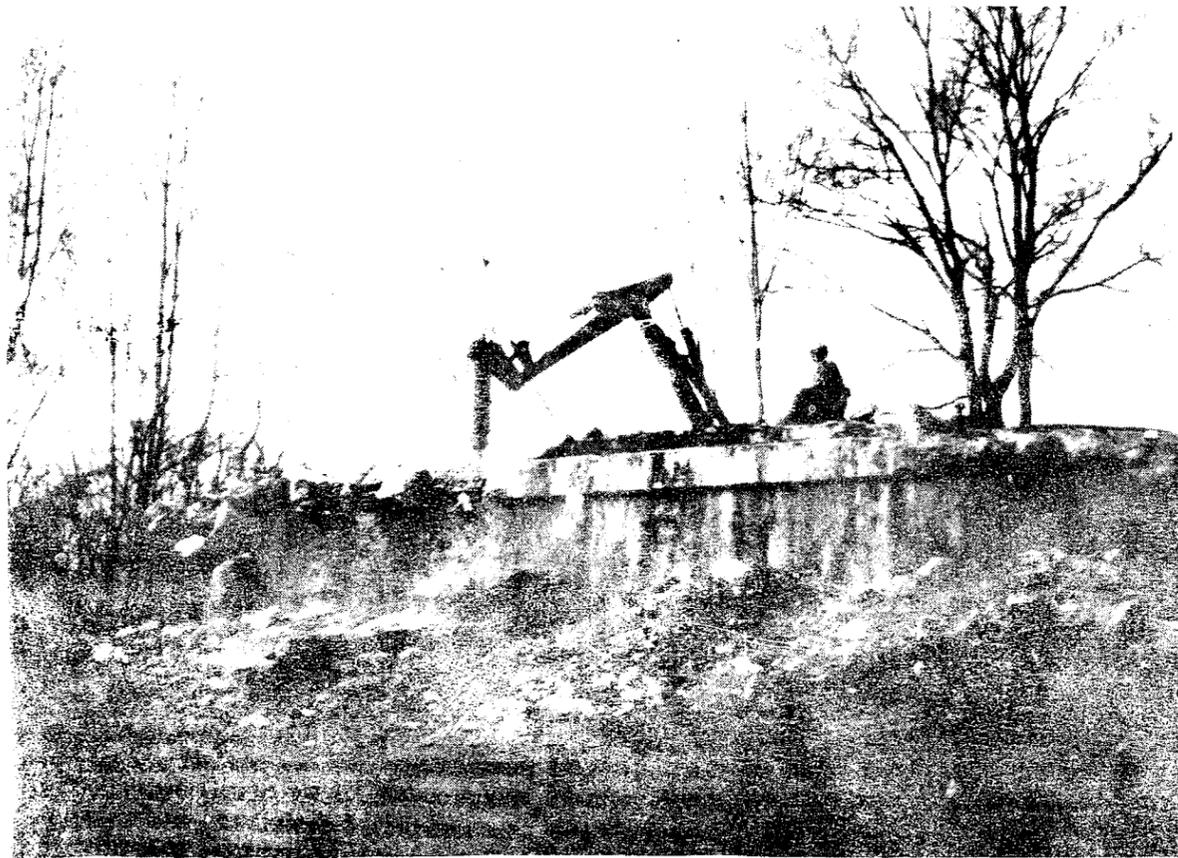

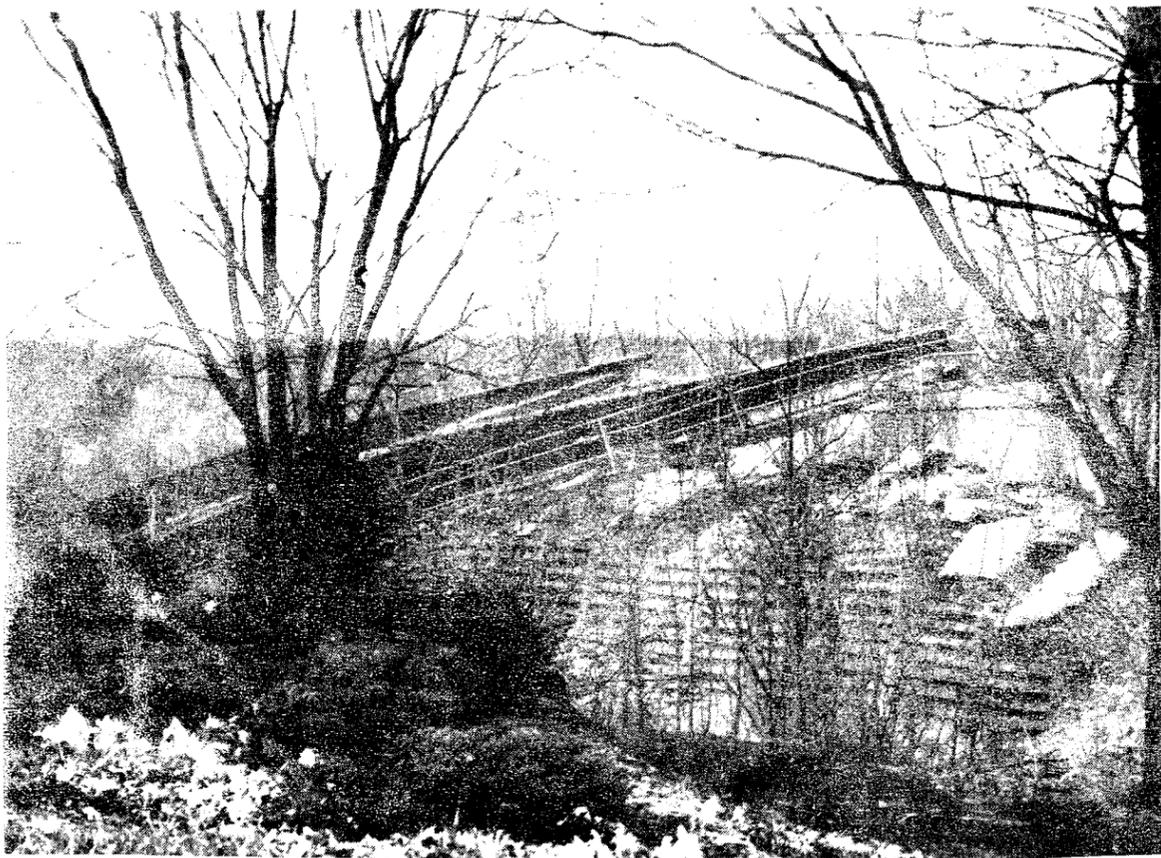

The story headlined "Acquisition of Library, Court Decision" in a recent issue contained certain inaccuracies which this letter corrects. The building at 19 Water Street in Milford houses two libraries — The Milford Public Library, which has occupied a portion of the building since 1900, and the Milford Branch of the Clermont County Public Library, which has rented space in the building since 1959. The latter library may be moved this fall. The Milford Public Library plans to continue to occupy at least a portion of the building for the foreseeable future.

Leonard Harding, Jr. and I are the trustees under the Richard C. Belt will. We have the duty of maintaining the building for the benefit of The Milford Public Library so long as it occupies a portion of the building. One of the tenants we are considering to replace the Clermont County Library is the Milford Historical Society. We believe the Historical Society with its growing museum and The Milford Public Library will complement each other, and that the building will continue as an important part of the Milford community to be used by its citizens as it has been for many years.

Dr. Belt's will is not ambiguous and should not require a Court ruling as your story lead suggests. The exodus of the Clermont County Library does not entail St. Thomas Church to the property.

Dr. Belt put the building in trust for the benefit of The Milford Public Library in memory of his daughter, Harriett W. Belt, whereas your story said her name was Hannah.

Knothole Season Set

Plans have been completed for a new season of Knothole baseball in Terrace Park, with teams for league play to be formed after a few weeks of practice.

Coaches are:

A (8th and 9th grades), Jerry Schraffenberger; B (6th and 7th grades) Ron Ott and Roger Stafford; C-1 (5th grade), Jack Harbison; C-2 (4th grade) Steve Phillips; D-1 (3rd grade), Terry Bernard; D-2 (2nd grade), Tom Ader; T-ball (1st grade) Hank Phillips. There also will be an instructional group for kindergarten.

Any questions should be directed to the coach for the appropriate grade.

The program is directed by a baseball commission of the Recreation Committee, headed by John Gislason as commissioner. Other members are Jack Harbison, fields; Mike Getz, schedules; Jerry Schraffenberger, contractors and Kid Gloves; Tom Ader, coaches; Bino Costanzo, equipment, and Rob Gislason, umpires.

Old Pennsylvania Railroad Overpass Gives Way To Progress

A long-held dream of Terrace Park village officialdom is coming to pass as workmen clear away the old Pennsylvania Railroad overpass on Elm Avenue. The span is to be replaced by an at-grade crossing with a large culvert beneath to permit pedestrian and bicycle traffic. Work is expected to be completed in June, financed by Hamilton County. An early step in the project was removal of the steel girders which, once part of a rail engine turn-around, both supported and formed the sides of the old structure. Plant Sale On The Green April 30

Terrace Park Garden Club will for the third year hold a spring plant sale on Saturday, April 30, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the Village Green.

The club will again offer geraniums and impatiens plus a large assortment of annuals, herbs, pansies, New Guinea impatiens and a varied selection of perennials. Hanging baskets of impatiens and begonias will also be available. Prices are holding about the same as last year with especially good prices on herbs and perennials.

Profits from these sales have been used to help finance the grooming and maintenance of many of the plantings in the village.

Mary Malotke and Lynn Carden check out plants being readied for the sale.

Belt Your Kids — A Worthy Program That Isn't What You Might Think

By Jeff C. Harlan
Crime Prevention Officer,
Terrace Park Police

Several years ago, I remember reading of a campaign in Canada to introduce the Canadian public to a new automobile seat-belt law Parliament had passed. The law carried rather stiff penalties for those who chose not to use their seatbelts.

The campaign began with the slogan: "Belt Your Spouse." Needless to say, the immediate reaction was not that which was intended. Citizen groups jumped on the government for promoting what they called Spouse Abuse by urging members of society to beat their spouses.

Well, the intent was clear. But, as with many groups, it was a bandwagon on which to jump. The result was failure, even though Canada still has a very stiff seatbelt law.

At the risk of raising eyebrows, I would like to join our neighbors to the north by asking you to "Belt Your Kids!"

In fact, as of March 7, Ohio has this nation's newest seat belt law. This law requires all children under four years of age, or weighing less than 40 pounds, to be securely seated in an approved child-restraint device.

The law varies with the type of vehicle in which the child is riding as well as with who owns the vehicle. But you can be sure that we who are parents are required to have our kids in the seats.

Is this just another area where the government is stepping in and telling us how to live our lives? I don't think I ever rode in a car seat when I was little and I'm still here. Why should I take the time and go to the expense of buying a car seat for my little ones?

I have three girls, ages four, one, and two months. This will mean three seats, as the four year old is not yet at the 40 pound mark. That means that every time we go to Grandma's I have to switch three seats from my wife's car to my car. And, to beat that, I don't think three car seats will fit in the pack of a Pinto! So why is the State of Ohio making me go to such lengths?

The answer is simple. Have you ever had a package sitting on the front seat and had to stop real fast? What happened to the package? I'll bet you were glad it wasn't breakable! Our kids are breakable. A quick stop, even at 25 miles per hour, is enough to throw a child off the seat and into the dashboard or windshield.

I have seen the results of accidents where there was no collision, no damage to the car, and the only injury was a fatal one to the small child who did nothing more than fall forward and hit the dash when his father brought the car to a stop at a stop light. That is sad, and wasteful.

Having three kids of my own, I have a hard time imagining what it would be like to lose one of them, especially if it was my driving that did it. I can not imagine how I would feel if I saved the few minutes it takes to put the seats in the car at the expense of one of my girls. How about you?

This is not just another government intrusion. The death case mentioned before is not an everyday event. But, injuries, serious injuries, to small children, that could have been avoided with the use of a car seat, are an everyday occurrence.

It is just simply not worth the price . . . a few minutes, a few dollars for the life of one of my kids. What about your kids?

More Scouts Win Honors

Seven Terrace Park Boy Scouts were advanced in rank and five were awarded merit badges at a recent court-of-honor of Troop 286.

Topping the list were Brett Haines, advanced to Life Scout; Todd Rafter to Star Scout; and Jeff Taylor to First Class rank. Jason Beck, Pat Kincaid, and Alex Stafford were promoted to Second Class, and Brent Ballard to Tenderfoot.

Merit badges went to Brett Haines, citizenship in the nation; Brad Olinger, citizenship in the community; and Jeff Kincaid, Brian McIntosh, and Jeff Taylor, first aid.

Sixteen Scouts took part in a caving trip to Rockcastle County, Ky., in March. The troop is now preparing for a council camporee to be held at Camp Craig May 13-15.

Heads Cancer Drive

Hazel Retherford, 603 Marietta, was District 4 chairman for the American Cancer Society's annual residential crusade April 23, 24, 25. Funds raised are used to further cancer research. Additionally, the Hamilton County unit of the society offers supplies such as walkers, wheel chairs and surgical dressings free of charge to all county cancer patients.

Boosters To Open Drive For Funds

Volunteers from Fairfax, Terrace Park and Mariemont soon will be knocking on doors beginning May 1 to raise money for the Mariemont High School and Middle School athletic programs.

The annual campaign, conducted by the Mariemont Warriors Boosters Club, raises money needed to fill the gap between the cost of the athletic programs and monies from gate receipts and the Board of Education.

Most sports do not earn enough to cover their costs and the school board is limited by law as to how much it can spend on athletics. The 1983-84 athletic budget of approximately $37,000 will be partially covered by an expected $14,000 from gate receipts and $5,000 from the school board, with the remaining $18,000 coming from donations by residents and businesses. This money makes interscholastic competition possible for boys and girls in 18 different sports totalling 45 teams for the High School and Middle School.

At its March meeting, the Warriors Boosters Board elected Jack Smith of Terrace Park as president. Community vice presidents include Lou Drackett for Terrace Park. Ted Northrop, also of Terrace Park, was elected treasurer.

Barbara Wallace braves the innards of a baiky computer.

Woman Grapples With Computers — And Even Learns To Fix'em

Terrace Park resident Barbara Wallace, graduated from Wells College with an economics major and a strong minor in mathematics, now deals every day with the "chaotic, expanding world" of computers.

Mrs. Wallace, her husband Jamie, and their two children have lived in the same Terrace Park house since 1970, with a three-year recess in Japan. When the family returned from Japan in 1979, Mrs. Wallace pursued her mathematical interests, moving from courses at Raymond Walters College to Cincinnati Country Day School, where she is an intern in the computer program.

She took the CCDS internship to test her interest in computers and her empathy with young people. Having passed the self-administered test on both counts, she is now considering working toward a master's degree and certification as a teacher.

The biggest surprise of her internship came when Joseph Hofmeister of Hyde Park, CCDS computer coordinator, asked Mrs. Wallace to repair one of the 18 Apples in the upper school computer lab. (The lower school has one Apple and four Commodore Pets in its own lab.)

Mrs. Wallace, who had never been interested in mechanics, says it took her two weeks to get over the shock of finding herself diagnosing an Apple's ailments and doing first aid.

She quickly learned her way around inside the computers and now enjoys cleaning contacts, replacing damaged chips, and calibrating disk drives — minimizing down-time and keeping the machines at work for CCDS middle and upper schoolers. "In fact," she says, "I love it — it's been a big plus. I can now fix my own at home!"

What else does a computer intern do? Work with students writing programs, teach non-math teachers to use the computers as word processors, catalog the school's software library, and recommend purchases to the CCDS math department after sifting through piles of material promoting software, manuals, and books.

It never gets boring, Mrs. Wallace says, because "the field is growing so fast and in such a state of flux that nothing stays the same very long."

Co-operation Is Sought In Village Cleanup

Councilman Les Overway reported at April's council meeting that letters are being sent to several residents asking them to cooperate in village cleanup by not dumping grass clippings and brush over nearby banks. The letters noted that violators are subject to $100 fines.

Overway commented that such actions are totally unnecessary, since clippings in bags or other containers will be picked up by the Rumpke garbage service.

In addition, Police Chief Ron Pottorf noted that the Elm Avenue pit now is open on Saturdays from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. for disposal of decomposable materials and for villagers to pick up compost and wood chips accumulated there.

Concert Set For Holiday

It's true. The best things in life are free, and on Memorial Day the Terrace Park community will be treated to another free Concert on the Green by the Terrace Park Players Band.

The concert, produced by Bryan Johnson, is scheduled for 5 p.m. An added attraction will be the familiar Old Town ice cream booth (they're back in business!).

So pack up the kids, bring a blanket and picnic dinner and discover the normally-hidden talents of 20-30 of your Terrace Park neighbors as directed by Batavia High School band director Bruce Behlow. And speaking of hidden talents, the next Terrace Park Players production will be Nostalgia Night July 2 at the Log Cabin. The search is on for all those interested in performing variety acts. Call Marcie McClelland, 831-1516, for details.
