

Dr. D.H. Short II

Honored Abroad

Invited because of published papers, Dr. D. H. Short II was in London and Edinburg early this month describing to cardiovascular surgeons there his techniques in by-pass surgery performed in the neck.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. D.H. Short of 611 Lexington Ave., Dr. Short is on the faculty of Tulane University and in private practice in the South.

A student at the former Terrace Park High School and a graduate of Country Day, Dr. Short studied at Yale and the University of Cincinnati Medical School, and fulfilled his residency in Augusta, Ga.

Married and the father of two daughters, Dr. Short is also chairman of the board of the Coast Episcopal Schools System. The first Episcopal school system in the United States, it operates lower schools in Bay St. Louis and Biloxi and an upper school in Pass Christian, Mississippi, where he makes his home.

School Appropriations Total $7,096,039

Mariemont's Board of Education, at its September meeting, approved 1987 fiscal year appropriations of $6,125,589.33 to the general fund and $7,096,039.71 in the total fund.

Supt. Don Thompson explained this is the beginning of a new process with the fiscal year now starting in July. Appropriations for the last fiscal year were $5,780,595 in the general fund and $6,167,830 in the total fund.

Thompson announced the district's enrollment has increased almost 8% over the June total of 1,171. The September total is 1,261 with 187 students attending Terrace Park Elementary School and 585 attending the high school.

The board approved renting first and second floor rooms of the Dale Park Community Building to the Children's International Village program. The $2,000 rent also includes use of the lunch room and showers in the Mariemont Elementary building. This summer Terrace Park residents, Ian Ross and Chuck Armstrong traveled to England and Norway with this program. The board was asked why

Community House Reopens; Pottorf Village Administrator; Fire, Life Squad Units Split

Life Squad

Legislation splitting the volunteer Terrace Park Fire Department and its Life Squad into two independent units was approved at the September meeting of village council. Acted on as emergency measures, the ordinances will go into effect October 1.

Pierce Matthews will remain as fire chief. Shirley Mittendorf, the only village resident certified as a paramedic, will head the Life Squad. Both said there would be no bar to a member of one unit being also a member of the other. Cooperation is expected also in some form of the Terrace Park Volunteer Fire Association, which has been the social and fund-raising arm of the fire department.

Councilman Jack Schmidt, chairman of council's safety committee, said the separation came about because of realization that the radically-different staffing and training requirements of the two units placed an extremely difficult administrative burden on the volunteer fire chief, and it was considered impractical to create a full-time position.

Shirley Mittendorf

Two different training courses are required for state certification of firemen and life squad emergency medical technicians. Additionally, firemen respond only when an alarm is received. Life Squad members maintain duty schedules to assure that a unit is always ready. The differences have resulted in similar separation of other fire and life squad units in the county. Milford's life squad has been an independent unit from its inception.

The fire department averages about a dozen calls a year, the life squad about 110. Life squad members once were required to have no more than advanced Red Cross training. Today's emergency medical technicians take 90 hours basic training, and Shirley Mittendorf, as a paramedic, took 500 hours, including 250 hours of hospital emergency, operating and delivery room service.

Along with the separation, new officers of the two units were announced. They are:

Fire Department: Pierce Matthews, chief; Jeff Carle, assistant chief; Dennis Elliott, captain and training officer; Mimi Matthews, captain; Barry

Reopening

Terrace Park's Community Building is expected to be opened this week for limited use by community groups.

Councilman Randy Casteel reported at the September council meeting that arrangements had been made for an electrical contractor to do enough preliminary work on rewiring to permit some use, at an estimated cost of $1,500. Still unresolved is the problem of relocation of the police and village offices now on the second floor.

The building was closed in May to public use, other than village functions, after concern arose over its structural safety and badly-overloaded electrical system. A firm of consulting engineers subsequently reported the old stone foundation to be basically sound, a finding disputed by Willis Toon, the village building official.

Casteel's report followed questions by Judy Brown, president of the Terrace Park Garden Club and leader of a delegation of club members. The club has been forced to meet in members' homes since May and is scheduled to meet at the home of Rita Leming in October. Mrs. Leming said members would be notified of any change in site.

Casteel said the electrical work is scheduled to be finished by September 22, opening the

Pottorf

Ordinances creating the post of village administrator and placing Police Chief Ron Pottorf in the post were introduced at the September meeting of village council. Action was deferred for a month in the absence of Mayor Les Overway.

Councilman Jack Schmidt, chairman of council's safety committee, said the move was a logical step in connection with the separation of the volunteer fire department and life squad units, since the need remained for coordination of activities.

Pottorf already is street commissioner as well as chief of police. He will receive an additional $600 a year for his new duties. The ordinance creating the new post also waived a statutory requirement that a village administrator become a village resident within six months of his appointment.

Schmidt said council had first considered creation of the post of safety director, but found that was not possible under laws governing a statutory village. Those laws, however, did provide for a village administrator.

With the appointment to be made by Overway under the law, council delayed action on an ordinance confirming the appointment, and on the one creating the office. That ordinance there was no mention of discussion of correspondence or comments and questions of the public in its official minutes. Board President Ray Bucy said, "This is not a public meeting. You are invited and it is at the discretion of the board what is included in the minutes."

PTA Invites Community To Pumpkin Festival

The annual PTA Pumpkin Festival has something for both the young and young at heart, so mark your calendar for Wednesday, Oct. 15, and plan to stop by the elementary school gymnasium between 5:30 and 7:30 p.m.

Dinner will be served and a bake booth will offer take-home delicacies. There'll be a dozen game booths with activities geared for pre-schoolers to adults. Halloween candy will not be sold this year but the popular Haunted House and roving face painters will be back.

The Pumpkin Patch, which offers a variety of goods and services, is again being offered, but the biggest pumpkin patch of all will be outside the school, where dozens of future jack-o-lanterns will be for sale.

Committee members are: Kathy Startzman and Judy Deeter, chairmen; Ogle Annett, bake booth; Sandy Ader, decorations; Cindie Park, equipment; Connie Wilson, finance; Mary Malottke, food; Lane Merten, games; Marcy McClelland, Haunted House; Amy Heilbronner, prizes; Katherine Hester, Pumpkin Patch; Leezie Borden, pumpkins; and Barbara Harth, clean-up.

Items are still needed for the bake booth and Pumpkin Patch. Please contact a committee member.

Winners In Labor Day Parade

Delighted with their success, Michael Carle, left, his cousin Jonathon Carle, and Jared Wachterman took first prize in the costume division of the annual Labor Day parade. Second place went to Rachel Lipka and Jeanna Renaldi, and third to Stephanie Mileham, Ashley Maxon and Melissa Harth. In the bicycle division, the Rocking Robinsons — Leslie, Kristin and Alesha — were first; Jeanna Phillips, second, and Eric Moyer, third. Special awards were given to Carrie and Meren Schmidt and to the oldest participant, Mel Aichholz. Vic and Lee Cooper organized the parade.

The festival, led by Hank Phillips, raised $9,109 for Recreation Committee activities. Raffle winners were Don Mileham, $500; Joe Childress, $200 and Keith Colton, $75.

Two Buyers Seek Village-Owned Tract

With two buyers in prospect, village council moved at its September meeting to sell part of the former BBS Co. property at the western intersection of Wooster Pike and Elm Ave.

The affected property is a 2.36-acre tract at the northeast corner. Use would be limited to three unattached single-family dwellings.

While the resolution calling for bids stated no time limitations, council discussion contemplated receiving bids by October 29 and opening them the next day. However, BBS Co., headed by E. Jack Brendamour, holds the right of first refusal.

Seven acres owned by the village on the other side of the intersection are not affected.

The village acquired the two tracts for $145,000 in January, 1982, in concluding years of controversy and litigation following Brendamour proposals to build condominiums on the property. Long negotiations with Brendamour brought council agreement to a planned development zone. That, however, was upset in a referendum, with the litigation that followed being ended by the village purchase. Loans made at the time have been paid off, largely as a result of an inheritance tax windfall.

New Building Plans Approved

Councilman Rich Gilchrist reported at the September council meeting that the village Planning and Zoning Commission has approved a split-up of the Eveland home property at Elm and Park.

The plan, he said, provides for four lots, one occupied by the present house. The lots, he said, would be substantially greater than village minimum requirements.

Pottorf — Reopening

nance provides:

"The Village Administrator shall have the powers and perform the duties as provided by statute, all of which shall include, but not be limited to the following:

"(a) To be under the general supervision of and report to the Mayor and to act as Administrative Executive Assistant and liaison between the Mayor and all Department heads in the day-to-day operation of Municipality under such general rules as the Mayor prescribes;

"(b) To supervise the operation of the Maintenance Department including street maintenance and repair, trash collection, snow and leaf removal, traffic signs and signals installation and repair;

"(c) To perform the operation and maintenance of Municipal properties including building, fields, and vehicles;

"(d) To supervise the operation of a system of central purchasing and inventory control, act as Purchasing Agent for the Municipality and sign and execute contracts under the limits as provided by the Ohio Revised Code;

"(e) To develop and submit to Council for approval an annual budget for operation of maintenance police, fire and life-squad departments."

building to the Garden Club and any other group not in excess of 99-person occupancy. It still would not be available for productions of the Terrace Park Players, however, because of the electrical drain involved.

It may be next spring, though, before relocation of police and village offices can be accomplished, even though the move was rated as a major priority when the building was closed.

A proposal which has been discussed with the fire department and life squad, but which is not yet before council, is allied with the reorganization of the volunteer units reported elsewhere in this issue.

Councilman Jack Schmidt, chairman of council's safety committee, said it contemplates a reduction in fire department equipment, moving police and village offices to space made available in the firehouse, and building a drive-through annex on the south side of the Community House for the ambulance. It contemplates also building a squad room atop the fire house for meeting and training purposes.

Schmidt said the oldest of the village's two fire pumpers, although still in service, is seldom used, and could be disposed of without affecting the village's insurance rates. The heavy rescue truck also, he said, does not appear to be vital to the fire service.

The proposed changes have yet to reach council for approval, and detailed structural plans still need to be drawn. As a result, Schmidt said it seemed unlikely that changes could be made before winter limits construction activity.

Co-op Active

New members are being sought by the Terrace Park Fruit and Vegetable Co-op. Those interested should call Eileen Buban, 831-7157, or Lori Watson, 831-3240.

Life Squad

Ramsdel, lieutenant, and Tim Harth, engineer.

Life Squad: Shirley Mittendorf chief; Lou Washburn, assistant chief; Connie Wilson, captain, and Sally Gilchrist, lieutenant.

Associated ordinances, also effective October 1, incorporate new scales of the nominal salaries in the two units. Each chief will receive $600 annually, each assistant chief, $300; each captain, $200; each lieutenant, $160; the fire department engineer, $160; the life squad scheduler, $100; and each member of either unit $2 for each drill attended.

Sale To Aid School Music

The Mariemont Music Association, which promotes and gives financial support to instrumental and choral programs in all schools in the district, will hold its annual cheese and sausage sale, October 7-14. Information may be had from any band or chorus member, or by calling Mary or John Armstrong at 248-1054, or Mariemont High School, 248-8310.

The organization also is conducting its annual membership drive, chaired by Mrs Janet Stollmaier, 831-1777. Three levels of membership are available — Crescendo at $25, patron at $10 and family at $5.

Garden Club Plans Workshop

Terrace Park Garden Club will meet on Tuesday, October 7, at the home of Rita Leming, 207 Rugby Ave., following a workshop at 10 a.m. on corn husk wreaths, dolls and roses.

Jane Peterson, Lucy Maish, Frances Stafford and Ogle Annett will give instructions. Materials will be provided at a small cost, but members and guests attending should bring their own scissors, wire cutters, pointed pliers, folding chair, and a "paper bag" lunch. Dessert and beverage will be provided.

141 Graduates of Old Village High School Hold Reunion

One-hundred and forty-one graduates of the former Terrace Park High School held a reunion in late August at the Eastgate Holiday Inn.

Oldest of the graduates were Robert and Elizabeth Matson Carver, Class of 1928. One, Robert O'Hara, came from Hawaii for the event, and two, Ted Chapman and Clarence Ben Hewett, from California.

This year is, coincidentally, the 60th anniversary of construction of the two-story red brick building which is a portion of the present elementary school. Overflow classes met in wood so-called colony buildings in the rear.

There seem to be no readily-available records as to when Terrace Park High School was established, although there are some existing commencement programs dating back to 1898. It merged with Mariemont in the mid-1950's.

This year's reunion was the second of its kind. About 50 attended the first, as against the 141 present this year.

Bob and Rita Leming, who organized this year's reunion, are seeking names and addresses of other THS graduates interested in attending, along with the names of those willing to form as a committee to make plans for 1987.

Those who attended this year's gathering were:

Workshops Make Ready For Church Bazaar

Wagonmasters, strippers and cooks are busy preparing for the St. Thomas Bazaar on November 13. A primitive wagon seat and antique furniture are being stripped and restored for the bazaar's Town and Country section. More than 50 local cooks have contributed recipes for St. Thomas Temptations, a $5 cookbook which will be sold at the bazaar.

Weekly workshops are held in the church undercroft every Tuesday from 9:30 to 2 p.m. All willing workers are welcome. Anyone wishing to contribute quality treasures for Grandma's Parlor are invited to bring their treasures to a tea in the church parlor on Oct. 19 at 4:30 p.m.

Patrolman Is Commended

Patrolman Mike Wright was commended by village council and Fire Chief Pierce Matthews at the September council meeting for his actions in a recent life squad emergency.

Wright was first on the scene after a Marion Lane resident suffered a cardiac arrest. Finding no breathing and no pulse, he applied emergency treatment until arrival of the village life squad and the Milford paramedic unit. Vital signs were restored and the patient moved to a hospital where, however, he died a few days later.

Cars Dirtied? There's Help

Residents whose cars were soiled by street-treatment materials in recent weeks can have them cleaned at the expense of the contractor, the William Light Co.

Police Chief Ron Pottorf said several cars already had been cleaned, and urged others to contact the contractor or the village office.

The problem, he said, resulted from a bad batch of street sealer.

PTSA Plans Pizza Sale

The Mariemont High School PTSA is sponsoring an Uno Pizza Sale, featuring Uno's authentic Chicago-style deep-dish pizza rated by Cincinnati Magazine as the "best" frozen pizza.

Pizza orders will be taken through October 15 and may be picked up at the Mariemont High School on Tuesday, October 28, between 3:00 and 6 p.m. Place orders with Trish Bryan at 831-2707.

Kindervelt Gets FD Thank-You

The Terrace Park Fire Association is offering a public thank-you to the village chapter of Kindervelt for its assistance in door-to-door distribution of new village telephone books.

At September's council meeting, thanks also were extended to Charlotte Molitor, village secretary, for handling sales of the book at the village office.

The new books are available at the office for $3 each or two for $4.

Bookmobile Readied For Call

Barry Schwartz of the Public Library staff readies the Bookmobile for its weekly visit to Terrace Park each Wednesday between 5:30 and 8 p.m.

Public Library officials report a satisfactory growth in patronage of its Bookmobile, back in Terrace Park after an absence of more than 20 years.

The Bookmobile is at the Terrace Park school each Wednesday from 5:30 to 8 p.m. to circulate the books it carries and to deliver books requested by borrowers.

Bookmobile service to Terrace Park was suspended years ago after the rolling branch library of that time was hit by a train at the Branch Hill crossing and its librarian was killed. Emphasis for years after was in developing suburban branches.

In earlier days, too, the Bookmobile paid visits to Terrace Park School for the benefit of its students. The library now makes collections of books available to teachers in the various grades.

The Mariemont branch also is offering story-time sessions, for toddlers age 2-3 on the second, fourth and fifth Fridays of each month at 9:45 and 10:30 a.m., and for youngsters aged 3-5 every Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

Special Halloween parties are scheduled for toddlers accompanied by a parent on Friday, October 31, at 10:30 a.m.; for pre-schoolers aged 3-5 on Wednesday October 29, during regular story-time sessions, and for older children on Thursday, October 30, from 7 to 8 p.m. All children should be in costume.

Village Seeks Pike Cleanup

Terrace Park officials will try to get Milford to pay more attention to cleaning-up that portion of Wooster Pike between the Terrace Park line and the Little Miami River bridge.

Jo Fahnestock urged action at the September council meeting, noting litter, uncut weeds and other eyesores. Police Chief Ron Pottorf said cleanup there seemed to be on a hit-or-miss basis, usually after a complaint.

Mrs. Fahnestock noted that there had been mention of possible annexation of the area, but that has not been pursued. Pottorf said he was interested in annexation at both ends of Wooster Pike as a means of controlling both litter and speeding. He noted that 24 drunk drivers had been cited to court in the past month, with Vice Mayor Bob Payne, sitting in for Mayor Les Overway, sending a three-time offender to jail for 30 days.

At Chatham Hall

Mary Maxon daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harry R. Maxon III, of 107 Miami Ave., is enrolled at Chatham Hall, a girls' college preparatory school in Chatham, Va. The school is affiliated with the Episcopal church, and its current student body represents 24 states and six foreign countries.

Sidewalk
Decision Delayed

A solution to the controversy over installing a sidewalk on new Dennison Lane was delayed another month when Councilman Rich Gilchrist, chairman of village council's planning and zoning committee, said his committee is considering other options.

One, he said, is to have the walk built on the south side of the new street on the former Terrace Park Lumber Co. site. Another would be to waive the sidewalk requirement but permit no parking.

Gilchrist emphasized that earlier village insistence on a sidewalk was not a matter of "acting on a whim," but in keeping with a recent village ordinance calling for sidewalks on all new streets.

The position was supported by 35 of 38 Wrenwood Lane residents who signed a petition presented by John Wenstrup and Chris Schott. A path from Wrenwood to now-abandoned Western Avenue was established by the village several years ago so that schoolchildren would not have to travel Wooster Pike. The petitioners said they wanted that access maintained for child safety and the benefit of all Wrenwood residents, and criticized efforts of developers to change existing rules.
