

Council Urges Residents To Support New Tax Levy

On May 4, 1993, Terrace Park voters will be asked to approve a 9.50 mill levy, which represents a 4.14 mill increase in our real estate taxes to support local government. This is only the second year new tax levies have been proposed since 1983. This letter will explain why the tax increase is necessary.

During the period 1990 through 1993, our revenues, including the one time sale of capital assets, were $135,000 less than our expenditures. Without this sale, our shortfall was $215,000 during this period. Also, certain street, sidewalk, and other maintenance expenses were postponed from 1992 to later years.

As a result, our revenues are not sufficient to pay for the current level of village services being provided to our residents.

In addition, several significant expenditures need to be made soon. There presently exist drainage problems, including those on Wooster Pike creating serious safety hazards near the west corporation line; continuing maintenance issues at the Community House and parking lot; and composting and other environmental issues mandated by state and federal regulations.

While Terrace Park real estate taxes are in the upper grouping in Hamilton County, every other surrounding community also has an income or earnings tax. On a combined basis, our total taxes are among the lowest. In addition, Terrace Park taxes draw from an almost exclusive residential base rather than a commercial base that many other communities realize.

Real estate professionals have consistently agreed that one of the reasons Terrace Park property values are strong is because we have no income tax.

Our per capita spending compares very favorably to other surrounding communities. Terrace Park spends less than $425 for all local government services, including trash removal and sidewalk replacement. These expenses are born directly by the residents in other municipalities. Nearby communities spend between $600 and $900 per resident per year.

Also, it is important to recognize that only 20% of our total real estate taxes are for Village services. The remaining 80% are for our schools and Hamilton County issues.

To maintain the level of services consistent with Terrace Park's quality of life, approval of this 9.50 mill levy is critical. Your Council, safety, and operational departments are working hard to provide the best possible services at the lowest cost. We ask for your support on May 4. Thank you.

Mayor Names Glassmeyer, Schneider To Fill Posts

Mayor Randy Casteel filled two major village posts at the April council meeting, naming Francine Glassmeyer as village clerk and Phil Schneider as fire chief.

Mrs. Glassmeyer succeeds Jan Popelka, who is moving from the village, while Schneider replaces Pierce Matthews, who resigned after serving 15 years as chief. The new clerk will officially take office on May 1. Schneider will be sworn in as new chief on June 8, although Matthews' resignation is effective June 1.

Jan Popelka congratulates new Village clerk, Francine Glassmeyer.

MADD Donates Camcorder to T.P. Police

Terrace Park police have the gift of a camcorder to help in their fight against drunk drivers. The gift came from Mothers Against Drunk Driving and Chief Bob Bacon and Officer Joe Winders, in acceptance, said it would be a major asset in their campaign. In presenting the equipment at the April council meeting, MADD representative Nora Banks said the organization considers police officers the first line of defense, and said camcorder use had proved effective elsewhere.

At the same meeting, council approved Terrace Park participation in a county system which will put computer units in police cars to give officers quicker access to data on any suspects or suspect cars. The lease calls for payment of $2,560, which the enabling resolution noted is 25% of the purchase price.

Mrs. Popelka is moving to St. Louis, where her husband, Jason, has been named head of the architectural specifications division of a major construction company. They and their two girls, aged eleven and seven, have lived at 504 Yale for the past 11 1/2 years. Both have been active in village affairs, Jan particularly as a member of the Life Squad.

Mrs. Glassmeyer also served on the Life Squad as a lieutenant. She and her husband, David, have been residents of Terrace Park for seven years, living at 818 Myrtle Ave. with their 11 year-old son. She studied principles of accounting at UC, and worked in computer operations at Automated Decisions Inc. in Fairfax and for the past four years with Tencon, Inc. of Milford.

Mrs. Popelka was appointed to succeed July Elliott, who resigned with two years remaining in her four-year term, and won election in her own right in 1991. Mrs. Glassmeyer will complete the term, serving until March 31, 1996.

Phil Schneider has been a resident of Terrace Park for six years, living with his family at 143 Wrenwood Ln. He joined the fire department in 1987 and was appointed lieutenant in 1991. He has been active in Cub Scouting and as a baseball coach with the Recreation Committee.

Mayor Casteel also formally proclaimed Arbor Day in the village on April 30, and Barbara Howland announced that the Cassner Landscaping Co. is donating a dogwood tree which will be planted in a ceremony at the school that day. She reported that 87 trees had been planted in the village this spring. They included:

Eight Autumn Purple ashes on Stanton, eight London planes and a red maple on Yale, seven tulip poplars on Myrtle, three Norway maples on Harvard, two Aristocrat pears on Oxford, five white oaks on Home, eleven white oaks on Lexington, five red oaks on Floral, two lindens on Rugby, two scarlet oaks on Terrace Place, seven amelanchier (serviceberry) on Douglas, a red maple on Amherst and nine green ashes on Michigan.

In other matters:

- Building official Tim Harth reported issuance of seven permits for a total of $217,950, including one new house; said that all 22 aerobic sewage disposal systems in the village had been identified and registered, and that the county would be checking nearby streams for possible contamination.

Residents of Wrenwood, Marion Lane and Winding Brook petitioned for improved controls at the crosswalk at Wooster and Western, and the Rev. Bob Gerhard asked for filling of potholes near St. Thomas Church.

- Treasurer Margot Grund reported the village was to receive $10,800 in a state estate tax payment and the village had a month-end investment balance of $593,272.

- Police Chief Bob Bacon reported that Officer Tim Chin had taken a course in prescription drug control and that all officers had taken a course in human diversity.

- Barbara Howland submitted a resolution, given first reading, to prohibit smoking in village buildings. She reported that the Recreation Commission plans to erect new backboards at the Scout Cabin. Council will investigate the cost of repaving the blacktop there.

- Council approved a $7,200 contract for finish concrete work on 7,200 square feet of new sidewalks. Village employees will do the work.

- Council approved a $8,845 contract for work on the traffic light at Wooster and Elm.

- Council renewed a $1,500 contract with William Helmsderfer for maintenance of the life squad unit.

- For the third month in a row, Fire Chief Matthews reported no village fire runs.

- Council will be discussing the tentative village budget for 1994 at its May meeting.

Police To Increase Street Patrols

Reporting concern about some recent vandalism and thefts, Police Chief Bob Bacon plans more rigorous street patrols.

Youngsters on the streets after dark, he said, may find themselves under police scrutiny, and any suspicious circumstances will be checked. The work will include more bicycle patrol activity.

In announcing his plans, Bacon asked parents to be understanding of police motives. The whole purpose, he said, is protection of the village and the youngsters as well.

Barry At Work

Barry, the canine member of the Terrace Park Police Department, met with a group of Girl Scouts at the Community House shortly after he became an official police dog. He came to show the scouts his badge and his tracking skills. Sgt. Mike Wright, Barry's handler, came along to respond to questions concerning his training and his commands.

Terrace Park Tree Committee Needs Volunteers For Survey

by Bob Terwilligar

Almost 80 trees are going to be planted this spring on 15 streets. Randy Haller of the Village maintenance staff has been notifying persons who are going to get a tree in front of their house, following the tree planting program that was made several years ago. It has been a good plan with well-considered selections, but we still have to drive around each year and decide where trees are needed. We could have a plan that anticipates and plans ahead several years. In order to make a plan like this, we will have to know our trees better street by street. We need to make a survey.

As of March 30, only three people have responded to the plea for volunteers in last month's Village Views, and called the community building to volunteer to count, record, and measure trees. It will not be difficult; in fact, it may be fun. But it cannot be done unless we get many volunteers. You do not have to be knowledgeable about trees. We can teach you everything you need to know. We will have a meeting in early May to organize the operation.

Terrace Park is going to receive its 8th Tree City USA award at a luncheon in Sidney, Ohio, on Arbor Day. This is sponsored by the National Arbor Day foundation, the State Foresters' office, and the National Forest Service. An urban forest such as Terrace Park has along its streets is not a wilderness area, where everything remains natural, and trees can fall over and rot away. We have streets, people on sidewalks, wires, houses, and other complications. Even though it causes pain at times, this forest must be managed. It has to be done, and our village government along with citizen volunteers has done a responsible job. This is why we have received grants and awards. We are now asking for volunteers in order to do an even better job and to include more people in making the plan.

Please call and volunteer.

All the recent activity on the Village Green was the installation of the new walkway in commemoration of the Terrace Park Centennial. Please turn to page 3 for related stories.

Local Youth Achieve Honors In Sports, School

March Madness, Terrace Park Style

The Terrace Park Recreation Commission concluded its 1992/1993 season with some "March madness" of its own. The fourth grade boys team, coached by Mike Gray and Gene Taylor, finished the regular season undefeated and came in second in the post season tournament. Another fourth grade boys team, coached by Brandy Fisher and Gary Barnes, had a disappointing start to their season. However, they persevered and "blew" through the last six games, to post a 7 wins/6 loss record. They went on to become Tournament Champions in the consolation bracket of the Millcreek Valley League.

Other coaches who also enjoyed success in terms of improving player skills and having fun while winning a fair number of games, include:

GIRLS TEAMS: third grade, Steve Holmes with Dave Deeter; fifth grade, Andy Menchhofer; fifth grade, John Shortridge, with Linda Shortridge; sixth grade, Scott Crosswell, with Jack Forbes and John Jones. BOYS TEAMS: third grade, Jamie McClurg, with Tim Shimp; fourth grade, Mike Pope, with Jim Schubert; fourth grade, Jim Amis with Tom Seward and Summer Armstrong; fifth grade, John Ballinger with Bill Minor; fifth grade, Marc Tirey with Tim Fening; sixth grade, Rick Dunning, with Reed Schroeder and Mark Mitchell; and sixth grade, Dave Moyer, with Kevin Fay.

Local Students Earn Mariemont Honors

Mariemont High School has just announced the names of those students who have earned academic recognition for the Third Quarter of the 1992-1993 school year. Terrace Park young people who have been named to the Honor Roll, for achieving a 4.00 or higher grade

Those students who have earned a grade point average of between a 3.2 to 3.9, were named to the Merit Roll. Terrace Park residents include: Grade 7, David Allan, John Allan, Samantha Bullock, Christina Ehrnschwender, Taylor Heilbronner, Suzanne Jones, Margaret Overbey, Susan Park, Bethany Peeples, Jim Singler, Dustin Treftz; Grade 8, Matthew Dunning, Abby DuPlace, Parker Eberhard, Lauren Graf, Andrew Gray, Edward Harness, Stephanie Hogue, Naomi Howland, Page Koehler, Cary Maish, Heather Minor, Melissa Mitchell, Gina Rinaldi, Hampton Taylor; Grade 9, Robert Bodner, Heather Bollinger, Allison Bullock, Amy Carle, Poe Heilbronner, Maggie Kain, Erin Keefe, Andrew Maddux, Tisha Menchhofer, Michael Picton, Leslie Pope, Stephanie Smith, Jennifer Teichman; Grade 10, Jody Ader, Ayars Borden, David Bowers, Julie Harth, Erick Koehler, Susan Krueger, Stephanie MacMillan, Erin McCoy, Les Mitchell, Amanda Rebel, Frank Rinaldi; Grade 11, Brad Dahlmeier, Christy Davis, Michael Duckwall, Corey Greiner, Holly Kranz, Bradley Lakamp, Margaret Roberts; and Grade 12, Nadine Fischer, Renata Gomes, Melissa Harth, and Jennifer Kipp.

Local Swimmers Win Awards

Six Terrace Park students received special recognition at the Mariemont High School Athletic Department Winter Sports Night on March 22.

Sophomore Chris Dahlmeier received the varsity boys basketball Most Valuable Player award. He led the team in rebounds with nine per game, and in assists with six per game.

Senior Summer Armstrong received the varsity girls basketball Most Valuable Player award. She was named to the Cincinnati Hills League first team for the fourth consecutive year.

In girls swimming, sophomore Stephanie MacMillan received the Most Valuable award. She placed 13th in the state in the 500-yard freestyle. Junior Margo Longano received the girls swimming Warrior award for her leadership, scholarship and athletic ability.

In boys swimming, senior Ian Ross received the Most Valuable award. He placed 13th in the state in the 100-yard breast stroke.

Senior Brett Tritsch received the Art Davies Warrior award for the fourth consecutive year for his outstanding contribution to the team.

News From CCDS

Cincinnati Country Day School middle and upper school Science Olympiad teams placed first in the region IX Science Olympiad tournament held on March 20 at Cincinnati Technical College. Participating on the middle school team are Terrace Park young people, including: B.J. Cotter, Zoe Hutton, Bryan Randolph, and Anna Yobel. In order to win, the teams competed individually or in groups in a series of 19 events which tested their knowledge of science skills, processes, and applications in science disciplines including biology, chemistry, physics, technology, earth science and mathematics.

In addition, local students who attend the CCDS middle school took part in a team contest in math and computers which was held at the University of Cincinnati. Anna Yobel was a member of the girls math team which earned a superior rating. Included on the boys math team was B.J. Cotter. Bryan Randolph was a member of the computer team.

Centennial Reflections

By Camilla Warrick

Dr. C. Wesley Cowan had not been in Cincinnati very long when he began hearing tales about the Shawnee Indians.

They were dramatic stories, some of them, about the Shawnee and European settlers co-existing—or trying to, far into the 19th century. He could tell the stories had been passed from generation to generation and were taken as gospel.

But there was just one problem. They had no basis in fact.

So, for nearly a decade Cowan, the curator of archeology at the Cincinnati Museum of Natural History, has been deflating a myth. He's been telling people that by the time settlers floated down the Ohio River in the late 18th century and took up residence here, the Shawnee had retreated north and re-established themselves around Xenia. "That doesn't mean they didn't come down to raid European colonists," Cowan said. "They did. They just didn't live here."

Cowan had other myths to contend with when he moved to Terrace Park two years ago. Some residents, knowing that this land was once occupied by various Native American peoples, nurse fantasies about what might be buried in their backyards. Cowan isn't holding his breath (or his shovel). "There's probably not anything left of pre-historic significance. The archeological sites of any consequence were probably destroyed long ago by house and street construction," he said.

This doesn't mean, however, that you won't find a small treasure in your garden. Arrowheads and pieces of sharpened flint are probably still around. But it would be difficult to assign them to a period. Humans have been living in what we call Terrace Park since the glaciers melted—10,000 to 12,000 years ago.

Little is known about the people here that far back. But Cowan has researched their descendents, the Fort Ancient Indians, whose small agricultural societies flourished in the Tri-State for 650 years, from AD 800 or 1000 to about 1670. Preceding the Fort Ancient people were the Hopewell Indians (200 BC to 450 AD), who built nearly 300 earthworks in Hamilton County. One of the largest of these structures was a wall that enclosed about 80 acres at the southern edge of Terrace Park. Its purpose is unknown.

When Ellis Rawnsley was writing his recent history, A Place Called Terrace Park, one of his key sources of information about the various Native American cultures around here was Cowan's short book, First Farmers of the Middle Ohio Valley. Cowan has led numerous digs for the Natural History Museum, including one in '89 at the famous "Madisonville site" in Mariemont.

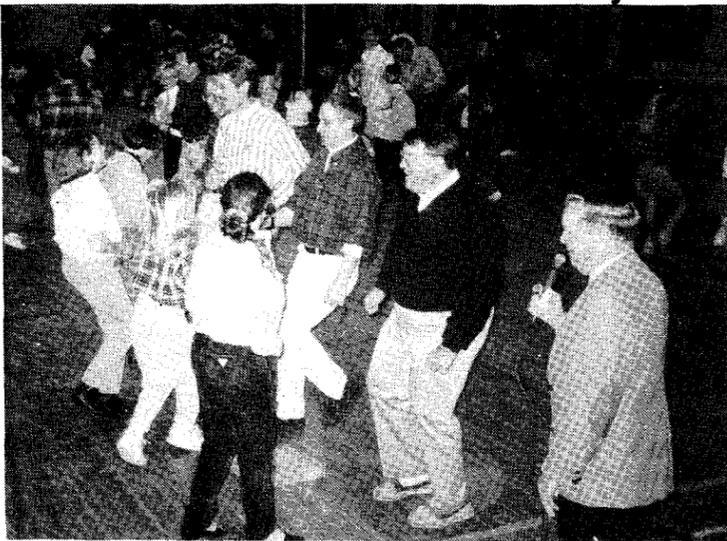

This was one of the biggest and most recent villages populated by Fort Ancient Indians. It was excavated extensively 100 years ago, and much pottery was removed. Cowan seriously doubted there would be anything left to discover. But when ground near the Mariemont pool was being dug up for a maintenance building, he decided to investigate. "We found lots of stuff," he said. "It was real exciting from a number of standpoints."

One of Cowan's ongoing interests is the origin of agriculture, which means trying to figure out when foraging people became farmers and what plants they might have cultivated. Cowan's job is focused in the Tri-state, but it takes him all over the country and guarantees a certain amount of dirt under the fingernails.

His wife, Shelley, who has a background in film production and copy writing, now runs her own advertising business. They live on Marian Lane with son, Sam, and daughter, Panny.

Girl Scouts Dance To Honor Birthday

In honor of the birthday of Girl Scouting, Terrace Park Girl Scouts held a hoe down in the school gym along with dads or other significant male friends. A toe-tapping good time was had by more than 100 in attendance.

Local Women Work On Art Museum's Big Sale

Terrace Park residents, Elizabeth Bieser and Lucy Maish, both of Park Avenue are serving as department chairmen for the Cincinnati Art Museum's Big Sale VIII. This giant garage sale, which benefits the Museum, will be held September 10-12 at Cincinnati's Albert Sabin Convention Center.

When doing your spring cleaning, Bieser and Maish suggest that you weed out unwanted items and donate them to the Big Sale. Items accepted include: clothing, electrical goods, books and records, jewelry, toys and all kinds of household items. Donations may be brought to the Museum's loading dock, or collection may be arranged by calling the Museum at 721-5204.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:

As most of you know, we came across a medical emergency last month. After some cloud-covered days, all of us are doing great, and we are looking forward to a wonderful spring. The reason for this letter is to try and thank family, friends and a community that are second to none.

We have always felt very lucky to live in Terrace Park, but the last few weeks have really made us realize that the people here are very special. The cards, letters, dinners, concern for our family at home and constant encouragement through thoughts and prayers, made for a speedy recovery and will be remembered for many years to come. The April 13 blood drive was a remarkable act of love and it sincerely overwhelmed our family. If people are judged by the company they keep, we consider ourselves truly blessed.

Again, our sincerest love and thanks go to a community of friends who will remain in our hearts forever.

Tammy and Brandy Fisher

Lakamp Chairs Event To Benefit Hospice

Suzanne Lakamp, who resides on Miami Avenue in Terrace Park, served as Co-chairperson of "Cruisin' At Coney", a benefit for Hospice of Cincinnati, Inc., sponsored by the Donna T. West Memorial Cancer Care Fund. It was held at Coney's Moonlight Pavilion, on Saturday, April 24.

Squash Champion

At the Ohio State Squash Championships, held in Columbus, Ohio in March, Terrace Park resident, Charles Rockel emerged as champ in the Veterans Division for ages 50 and over. Rockel, who lives on Rugby Avenue, is a member of the Cincinnati Squash Racquets Association.

Thank You, Rita And Bob!

It takes many volunteer hours to produce the Village Views and get it to your door each month. Some of our volunteers are listed on the "Staff" listing on this page, while some are never mentioned.

One of those unsung heroes has been Rita Leming of Rugby Avenue. It has been Rita, with the cheerful and capable assistance of her husband, Bob, who has called together the ten or so volunteers that we need each month to "assemble and fold" the papers before they are taken to the Door Store for delivery to you. Because of Rita's efforts over the past year and a half, we have developed quite a congenial group of volunteers who spend an hour or so on the third Friday of each month folding the paper.

Rita and Bob will be moving from Terrace Park in the near future, and so Rita has "retired" from this volunteer commitment of organizing our folding crew, a service she has performed so faithfully and so well. To Rita we say a heartfelt "Thank you!!", and we extend our very best wishes that both Rita and Bob will enjoy their new home.

Denise Hall Dons Clown Character

Denise Hall, 811 Wooster Pike, recently completed "clown school" to develop her character for Rainbow Remedy, a not-for-profit performing arts troupe.

As "Sami", an eight-year-old boy with a pet frog and a klutz magic act, Denise and other volunteer performers entertain at hospitals, nursing homes, camps, grieving centers and any where wellness can be promoted among patients, families and medical staff. Their visits typically include clowning, games, storytelling, music, crafts and magic.

"Rainbow Remedy offers laughter and creativity to children of all ages," Denise said. "Laughter and a sense of humor are valuable healing assets that promote positive self-esteem among patients. As our motto says, 'A merry heart doeth good like a medicine.'"

Denise also serves as director of business development on the Rainbow Remedy board.

As a non-profit arts and educational corporation, donations are tax deductible and gratefully accepted. For more information, call Denise at 831-3966.

Sarran To Chair Collegiate Rowing Championship

Janet Sarran, a resident of Terrace Park and a member of Kindervelt #76, is the chairman of the 1993 National Collegiate Rowing Championship Event. This is the most prestigious event in collegiate rowing and attracts teams from Harvard, Cornell, Wisconsin, UCLA, Penn and Washington.

The Men's Varsity 8 teams compete for the Herschede Cup, and the Women's Varsity 8 teams compete for the Ferguson Bowl. The day also includes a full schedule of additional collegiate, Master's Novice and Elite races. The day long event will be held Saturday, June 12 at East Fork State Park.

Proceeds from this event will fund the Kindervelt Trauma Center at Children's Hospital Medical Center.

JUST MOW IT! Campaign Begins!

Spring marks the beginning of the JUST MOW IT! lawn care campaign in Hamilton County. With the December 1, 1993 Ohio mandate that yard waste (grass, leaves, and prunings) can no longer be landfilled, the JUST MOW IT! program is being promoted by the Ohio State University Cooperative Extension Service in conjunction with the Hamilton County Solid Waste Management District. The principle behind JUST MOW IT! is simple—RETURN GRASS CLIPPINGS TO YOUR LAWN.

On Saturday, May 1, beginning at 10:00 a.m., the JUST MOW IT! campaign will kick-off at Sharon Woods. Events during the day include composting workshops, mulching mower demonstrations, children's environmental activities, and display/informational booths.

Yard waste accounts for 20 percent annually of residential waste in Hamilton County. By leaving clippings on the lawn and allowing them to work back into the soil, homeowners can maintain beautiful, green lawns while saving time, energy, money and reducing the waste going to landfills.

Contrary to popular belief, grass clippings properly managed will not contribute to thatch. Clippings are approximately 80% water and decompose readily. For homeowners who don't want to return grass clippings to the lawn, home composting is the best use for yard waste. It is easier and cheaper than bagging, and it can be used to enhance your vegetable and flower gardens, the soil around trees and shrubs, or as a soil amendment for house plants.

If you are unable to make the JUST MOW IT! kick-off campaign, and would like information on how to JUST MOW IT! or composting, call 763-4638 for a brochure.

Please note that the schedule of times and events are subject to change. A complete schedule will be inserted in the May issue of the Village Views.

Village Artists

On May 31, Memorial Day, the Centennial Committee, under the capable direction of Jeanne Crandell (and that of her trusted assistant/husband, Weller) will present a "Local Artist Show". A showing of the works of resident painters, sculptors, and photographers will be on display in the Undercroft of St. Thomas Episcopal Church, 100 Miami Avenue, from 11 am to 5 pm.

At 2 pm, local photographer, Louise Halley, will give a slide show, entitled "Look What Came Into My Yard", a beautiful presentation of nature and wildlife.

If any local artist would like to be a part of this historic Art Show, please contact Crandell, 248-1849.

Our Day At The Ringling Circus

Forty-one Village residents took advantage of the Centennial Committee's special offer to purchase tickets to attend the March 20th performance of the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus. Mayor Randy Casteel had the privilege of being an Honorary Ringmaster. Casteel announced to a crowd of over 9,000 the kick-off of Terrace Park's Centennial Celebration, and he then started the second half of the show. An official Honorary Ringmaster whistle and certificate were given to Casteel commemorating his participation. Casteel is shown here with Centennial Co-chair, Sandy Wittman-Shell.

Pat Hamm

Addison Maupin supervises the widening of the Village Green walkway.

New Walkway Commemorates Village Centennial Celebration

At long last, the old blacktop walkway on the Village Green has been replaced with engraved pavers, in commemoration of the Centennial. The Village maintenance staff removed the old blacktop, after which Addison Maupin, a local landscaper, went to work on widening, leveling and laying the new engraved paver stones.

The new walkway has been widened to 50 inches. Three hundred and fifty-eight engraved pavers were randomly placed among plain pavers. The engraving was done by Schott Monument of Northside. Residents purchasing more than one brick or those requesting to be placed together were honored as best as possible. A numerical map with corresponding names will be compiled to assist in locating individual engraved pavers.

Special credit is due to resident Pat Hamm, who worked on this project from its beginning. Pat collected and organized all the paver orders and money; and, along with another Village resident, Ida Reynolds, diligently worked to assure correct spelling of names.

The laying of the new walkway took three and a half days. Pat Hamm, Ida Reynolds, Jim Smith, and Jim and Kathie Simonton unloaded and evenly distributed each engraved paver by hand.

Many residents, since seeing the walkway completed, have asked about the possibility of purchasing

Volunteers Needed

Are you interested in video production? Then the Centennial Committee needs you! Several students and parent helpers are needed to video tape parts of the Terrace Park Centennial Celebration. The Inter-Community Regulatory Commission will train you in video, production, direction and editing. Help the Centennial Committee and see your work on TV. Training will start soon, so please contact Julie Rugh, 248-1091, or Sandy Wittman-Shell, 831-6090 at once!

Time Capsule '93

Louise Cottrell is in the process of organizing the contents of a time capsule which is to be sealed on Memorial Day and re-opened 100 years from now. A time capsule has been donated by Craver-Hookum Funeral Home of Milford. The capsule is made of durable, plastic-like fiberglass and measures 32 by 11 inches and is approximately 12 inches deep.

The following items are being considered for inclusion in the time capsule: a Village directory; Ellis Rawnsley's book, A Place Called Terrace Park; annual reports from civic, fraternal and volunteer organizations; participation by the Terrace Park Elementary School with children's writings and school yearbook; an issue of Village Views; a Cincinnati Enquirer; a commemorative Centennial Program; and an envelope addressed to the Centennial Committee with an Elvis Presley stamp affixed to it. Cottrell welcomes any additional suggestions; residents may direct their ideas to her by calling 831-5177.

Village Council will decide where to place the time capsule at its May meeting.

The Circus Is Coming To Town!!

The Centennial Committee is proud to present CIRCUS INTERNATIONAL for 2 one and one half hour performances on Sunday, May 30.

Each program will consist of performing wild and domestic animals, aerial acts, high wire-trapeze artist, clowns, music and much more. Hap and Ann Lindell have graciously offered the use of their property at 1005 Elm for the 1 pm and 4 pm performances. Maximum seating is 1000 people per show, due to safety restrictions, and residents should bring their own blankets or lawn chairs to sit on.

FREE tickets will be distributed to Village residents on a first come, first served basis beginning May 3.

Residents will sign up for tickets at the Terrace Park Village Office, and you must indicate which performance you wish to attend. The number of tickets is limited to the number of members in each household. There will be a nominal charge of $2 for adults, $1 for children who are non-Terrace Park residents. No tickets will be distributed after 4:30 pm, Friday, May 28, and tickets will not be available on the day of the Circus.

It is the intention of the Centennial Committee to provide CIRCUS INTERNATIONAL to the community in celebration of its 100 years of incorporation. There will be no advertising of this event outside of Terrace Park.

Booking CIRCUS INTERNATIONAL depends solely on the Centennial Committee's ability to secure funds to cover its costs. Under the guidance of Susan Abernethy, the committee has solicited and secured a portion of the funds necessary to stage the event. Any individuals or businesses interested in making a monetary contribution can do so by calling Linda Naylor, 248-4250, or Sandy Wittman-Shell, 831-6090. Organizers hope that donations will make it possible to offer this memorable chapter to the Village history.

Calling All Float Builders To Action

Float builders unite! If you have a fun group of neighbors (or would like to); if you are an organization or a business, it is time to pull together and build a float for the Memorial Day Parade. Floats can be of any size, from a little red wagon to a flat bed. There will be several prizes in two categories: circus or pioneer. Jill Crowell and Debi Johnson are challenging any group to come up with a float to beat the "Myrtle Madames". Please call Sandy Wittman-Shell, 831-6090, so the Centennial Committee can know how many entries to expect.
