

Your Tax Dollars At Work TP Swimmers Bring Home The Gold

by Pat Henley
Your real estate tax dollars at work was the theme of the March 14 council meeting. Trees, tractors, alleys, and 911 calls were among many items on the busy agenda.

Building and Grounds Chair Julie Rugh recapped the 1995 budget of about $25,000 for street trees. This includes removal of 41 trees, stump grinding, and pruning about 130 trees in the winter and spring. Forty trees will be planted next fall. Council also committed $300 towards costs to host the 1996 Tree City USA Awards event in the village next spring. Members of the volunteer tree committee have initial pledges of $300 and have agreed to plan and help village arborist Randy Haller in the presentation of the regional event.

Village maintenance workers will be riding a new John Deere tractor when they do heavy-duty mowing. Dan Startzman, Public Works Chair, reported the purchase of the $15,000 vehicle, and the sale of the old 1979 machine. Purchases such as this are implemented at savings to communities through the ODOT Cooperative Purchasing Program.

Startzman also stated that Given Road will receive center and side striping in the near future. Adequate surfacing of the three alleys was addressed by Bob Bacon as Street Commissioner. Citizen complaints added urgency to finding solutions for these pothole-pocked roadways.

911 Charges
Constantly escalating charges by the Hamilton County Communications Center are becoming increasingly burdensome to small communities such as Terrace Park. The basic charge to us for the 911 service is $7,846 each per year for the police department, fire department and EMS totalling close to $24,000. In addition, the price per unit over the minimum has increased from $7.49 to $9.51. As a result, many communities, including Terrace Park, are installing cellular phone links for their police. Police Chief Bob Bacon repeated that the police are asking residents to contact them on 831-2137 (Police Department office or cruiser) whenever possible as the saving is several dollars over the 911 call.

Council Action
Mayor Randy Casteel appointed Doug Hyndon of Miami Avenue as the new chair of the zoning Board of Appeals. Other members are Chuck Rockel, Barbara Howland and Dick Wachterman. Long-time member Chris Smith is resigning from the board, leaving a vacancy to be filled by the mayor.

Planning and Zoning Chair, Sally Gilchrist, proposed a Home Occupation Regulation ordinance to be incorporated into the zoning code. Her committee and the P&Z Commission have both worked on this document which addresses the problem of businesses in the home. Since home offices have become much more common, it is deemed reasonable to legislate perimeters to permit certain activities.

The document received its first reading, but Gilchrist stressed that it still needs some "fine tuning." In general the law will "permit some limited business activities to occur in a residential dwelling." It must be carried on by one or more of the immediate family and the space occupied is limited. It prohibits any change in appearance of the premises, signs, and increased traffic.

A public hearing on the ordinance is set for May 9 at 7 p.m. in Council chambers. Copies of the proposed law are available through the village office.

by Ruth Rauth
The Terrace Park Garden Club promises exciting offerings at its annual Garden Club Plant Sale. Burgundy impatiens and cosmos are new selections among the tantalizing annuals and perennials that will be available.

Pre-ordered plants can be picked up and spontaneous purchases made at the Village Green from 3:30 to 7 p.m. Fri., May 5 and 9 a.m. to noon on Sat., May 6. Plant sale co-chairs are Julie Ward and Betsy Ecker with Sara Osborn and Carol Machles serving on the committee.

Terrace Park residents Kathy Lowry and Shelley Eaton brought home the gold from the Ohio High School Swimming Championship this month. Lowry, a senior at St. Ursula Academy, won two gold and two silver medals, and Eaton, a junior at Mariemont High School, also garnered a gold and a silver medal.

Lowry, who will swim for Clemson University next year, was first in the 100 free style (51.63) and swam the anchor leg establishing a state record (1:36.09) in the 200 free relay. She was second in the 50 free (23.37) and swam the butterfly leg for second in the 200 medley relay (1:47.70). St. Ursula won the state championship for the second year in a row.

Eaton took first place in the 200 free (1:51.66) and second in the 500 free style (4:54.86).

Terrace Park residents Stephanie MacMillan and Susie Krueger joined Eaton on the relay team to place seventh in the 400 free style and 12th in the 200 medley. The Mariemont team took tenth overall, which was the best state performance in the history of girls swimming, according to MHS Athletic Director Jeff Watterson. He noted Eaton's gold is a first for girls swimming at Mariemont. Terrace Park's Jim Stites, who now coaches swimming at the University of Arizona, won a gold medal at state in 1975 for the 500 free style.

Eaton will be the first recipient of a ring, provided by the Mariemont School Board and Boosters, to signify her state championship. Watterson explained the district had recently decided any Mariemont athletes winning state championships would receive rings; Eaton will be the first recipient.

Watterson pointed out that a gold medal in swimming means you're the best in Ohio of all the schools, both big and little. There are no divisions according to school size in swimming like there are in football and basketball.

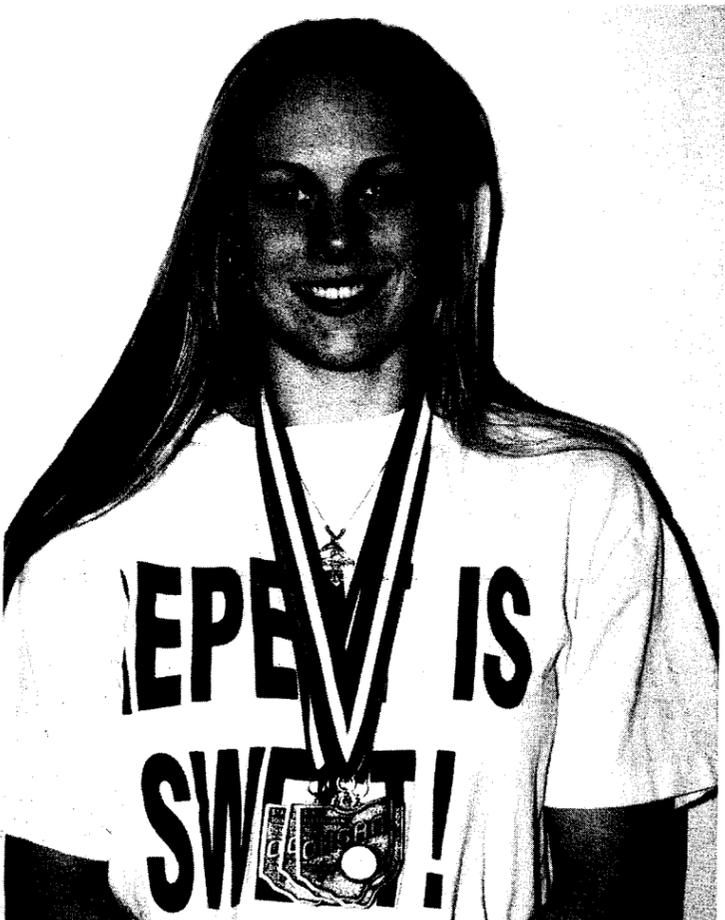

The Terrace Park swimmers agreed the state competition in Ohio is stiff, and it's really intense in Cincinnati. The St. Ursula swimmer that beat Eaton in the 500 free style went on to medal in the Pan American Games in Argentina. The Mariemont team pointed out that Anderson was the only public school to beat MHS in the overall standings at state.

These swimmers train year round; Lowry with Gamble Nippert Y; Eaton and Krueger with the M.E. Lyons and MacMillan with the Blue Ash Y. Usually they swim six days a week and over Christmas break they begin swimming twice a day, usually three times a week. Their dedication has paid off; they will all swim in the Y Nationals in Florida in April.

Lowry pointed out that one of her biggest competitors in Florida will be a swimmer, who is also going to Clemson, and might even end up being her room mate. The swimmers described the competitors at state as strangely supportive and intimidating at the same time. The main competition is with the clock. Lowry noted she won a gold medal for her 100 free style, but her time in the 50 free was her best ever.

Eaton will return to Mariemont for another year while Krueger will attend the University of Florida Gainesville and MacMillan has not yet decided between Dennison or Wooster.

Wearing her Repeat Is Sweet T Shirt, State champ Kathy Lowry sports her two gold and two silver medals.

Shelley Eaton gets a hug and congratulations from Steph Smith after winning her first gold medal at the Ohio State Swimming Championships. Mariemont celebrated Shelley Eaton Day March 22.

Play Ball!

by Sandy Wittman-Shell

This is the real thing; there are no replacement players here. Terrace Park Recreation Committee baseball and softball teams are ready to play.

At the March 13 meeting of TPRC, newly elected Skip Kirby assumed responsibility as baseball commissioner. There will be ten baseball teams and probably an eighth-ninth grade A team, which will organize in late April. Mariemont High School baseball coach Jerry Summerville will hold a coaches clinic April 2, and Al Singler will hold an umpire clinic. Softball Commissioner Steve Wilson reported everything is in place for the season to begin at the beginning of April.

April 9 will be a volunteer clean-up day to clean, paint and make repairs at Stanton field. High school baseball started the week of March 19. There was discussion about the possibility of having a Memorial Day weekend baseball tournament.

Basketball Commissioner Dave Moyer reported the season was completed and adjustable hoops are on order. Fund Raising Commissioner Bill Drackett reported the March roller skating party at Castle Skateland was postponed due to a time conflict with the Boy Scout pine wood derby. Fields Commissioner Jack Forbes is in the process of coordinating the dragging and lining of fields with game schedules. Forbes is still looking for assistance in dragging the fields.

There was extensive discussion regarding non-Terrace Park teams playing on TPRC fields. A accepted new policy states:

- A $500 fee per team/season. $250 can be rebated for 20 hours of service (field work).

- Team must be approved by a three person panel consisting of president, vice president and commissioner of the sport involved.

- Must have a Terrace Park resident on team/coach with a resident adult willing to be responsible to maintain the condition of the field.

- Team(s) / coach(es) abide by the spirit of TPRC guidelines.

- Policy to serve as income producing activity, not as endorsement of select teams.

- TPRC not liable for physical injury / waiver.

- TPRC teams have first priority at all times.

- Fifth grade and below teams are not eligible under this policy.

- No refunds.

TPRC's next meeting will be April 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the St. Thomas Guild room and is open to the public. The meeting has been moved up a week because to the school district's spring break.

St. Thomas Bazaar Committee Chairmen include: (from left) Harriet Town, Mary Margaret Compton, Beth Kauffman, Midge Proctor and Grace Holmes.

St. Thomas Presents 43rd Bazaar April 29

by Elinor Winchester

Suddenly...It's Spring! ...and St. Thomas Church's five new models are practicing for the Fashion Show they will present on Sat., Apr. 29 at the church. Models of the "casual chic" fashions by Chico's of Kenwood Towne Center are: Lynne Mileham, Mindy Weigel, Barbara Todd, Jayne Aglamesis and Laura Lee Evans.

The show, coordinated by Midge Proctor, is a "first" for St. Thomas and will begin at 12:30 p.m. Preceding it at noon is a chicken and fruit salad luncheon prepared by the women of the church and chaired by Betsy Ecker and Pam Bell. Tickets for lunch and fashion show are $8 and may be obtained by calling the church office, 831-2052, or Ticket Chairman Lynne Mileham, or any committee member. Chico's will give those attending the show a 20% discount on the clothes modeled at the show (and 10% on jewelry and belts) if they place an order before leaving the show.

On the same day, from 9:30 to 2, the church presents a spring version of the most popular "booths" from its traditional fall bazaar. These include Grandma's Parlor, featuring collectibles of all kinds, chaired this year by Harriet Town and Mary Margaret Compton; the Sewing Room, with an assortment of handmade and gift items, headed by Ruth Hickenlooper; White Elephants, caught by Grace Holmes; and the Country Kitchen featuring breads, sweets of all kinds, and relishes, directed by Mary Ann Proctor.

Finally, the six-woman Quilting Group, coordinated by Libby Clancey, has a quilt ready to be raffled at this Bazaar. Jo Fahnestock has designed their next project, and the cutting-out process is under way.

If you're spring-cleaning, the church will welcome donations of collectibles for Grandma's Parlor or White Elephants (but no clothing). Please bring them — marked BAZAAR — to the patio entrance to the church.

Newcomers Club Held Successful Valentine Bash

by Susan Austin

Sally Kippins, Dee Uhle, Marcy Kerr, Shannon DeCamp, Mindy Wagner and Sandy Brendamour kept the Valentine spirit alive as they organized the Valentine Bash at the Community House Feb. 25. The Newcomer Club party had 110 people attending, who were adorned with hidden Valentine accessories. Sally Kippins helped new residents meet older ones while they searched for and identified the secret items. Door prizes were given throughout the evening as couples danced to music by a local DJ. The evening's entertainment also featured village residents performing a la karakul.

Local merchants and residents supporting the successful evening included: Brendamour Moving and Storage, Empire Music, Kroger, Frame and Save, Coffee Island, The Pine Door, Mega Movies, Central Light, Mariemont Florist, A One Cleaners, Hyde's Meadow, The Yankee Dollar, The Eppa Rixey Insurance Co., Hinner's Amoco, Brendamour Warehousing and Distributors, Calhoun Street Miniatures, John Park, Betsy Casada, Marcy and Stewart Kerr, Kinderveldt, and Tony Kippins.

Letter to the Editor

Village Reaches Saturation Point

One of the subjects that former Mayor Carl Lindell liked to expound on was the subject of saturation point. It seems like it may have been reached when every available square foot of buildable lots has been used for building. There are very few lots for sale. Have we reached the saturation point? If not, then the rehabilitation of existing properties may be the solution.

Would You Watch Council on Cable?

Terrace Park Council meetings could be taped for later viewing over a public access channel. The Intercommunity Cable Regulatory Commission provides this service to its members. Julie Rugh, the village's representative to the group, believes that this would increase and improve communication with residents. She requests resident input, positive or negative, regarding the matter.

Congratulations and Commentary by Ricki Schmidt

Congratulations to Terrace Park students excelling at Mariemont High School!

Junior Antoni Gambetta is one of five Cincinnati students chosen by the Cincinnati Chapter of Military Order of the World Wars to attend the Nat. Freedom Foundation Youth Leadership Conf. at Valley Forge, Penn. in April. Senior Julie Porter is one of two Mariemont students chosen a semifinalist in the Coca-Cola Scholars Program. The 1,826 semifinalists chosen from 120,000 applicants are presently in a second application process, to select 150 finalists. Senior Frank Rinaldi is on Mariemont's Varsity Academic Team that took first place in the Cincinnati Academic League Tournament and will compete at the CAL District Tournament Apr. 8 at Wright State University. Junior Amanda Campo and senior Erick Koehler represented Terrace Park students at the March 22 focus group in the first stage of a comprehensive assessment of the educational programs of the school district. A consulting firm conducted the original interviews in March to develop a survey, which will go to all the residents of the district. Follow-up focus groups will be held in May before the final stage of analysis and action planning.

T.P. focus group members brought different perspectives and concerns to the discussion. But all agreed seeking the input of district residents is a most welcomed step in open communication. The students' input in the meeting was invaluable. They appeared articulate, confident, and honest. They were proof positive that the district is doing something right! But the district can't take all the credit for this positive impression; their parents deserve accolades, as well. Improve the partnership of parents and schools and you improve your educational product. Congratulations to Supt. Gerald Harris and the Board for strengthening the partnership of family, school and community.
