November Village Council

By Martha Rassi

Mayor's report to village:

The residents of the village and council members were thanked for their support of the recently passed tax levy. Thanks were also given to the organizers of the "Caboomapalooza" blasting fundraiser with sincere thanks to all of the village musicians reaffirming the fact that Terrace Park residents have many talents. The long Martin/Marietta mining fight continues with more legal filings.

New leaf collector—"Big Blue"

With the purchase and delivery of the village's new leaf machine, leaves will be picked up. Residents are asked to put these leaves on the side of the street.

Terrace Park list server:

Villagers are encouraged to subscribe to the Terrace Park list where announcements are posted and information provided specific to Terrace Park. Registration is easy and available on the TP web site.

Campaign signs

With the completion of the election, residents are reminded to remove all campaign signs. Most of the campaign materials have already been removed.

Pancake supper success

Emergency Medical Services (EMS) Chief John Maggard and Fire Chief Luke Frey noted the success of the annual Pancake Supper. Thanks were given to all residents who came out and supported this fundraiser.

Congratulations to the Life Squad

Nick Bond has received certification as a full-fledged Paramedic, a difficult certification to obtain. EMS Chief Maggard wished Bond the best in his new endeavors.

Volunteers needed:

Once again the call has been made for residents to step-up and enroll for the very important training classes for both EMT and fire department training. New classes will begin when there is sufficient interest from residents.

Ohio drop day:

Community joins to fight mine

On a warm evening in October, Terrace Park residents and residents of outlying communities gathered on the grounds of the log cabin to learn more about the fight against the Martin Marietta mine and to donate to fund the fight. A large map at the entrance to the party illustrated the areas impacted by dust and noise from the mine. All of Terrace Park will be affected to some degree. Although the map was disheartening, the evening was not.

Kids' events included a scavenger hunt, pull the lollipop for a prize, ghosts in the graveyard and a game of "knock out." Four great musical ensembles showcased the talent we have right here in our village. Spencer and Jeff Peppet started the night, followed by the Gypsy Band, Little Miami River Band and finally Robinson Circus closed out the night.

Thank you to all who volunteered, donated and participated in this community event to raise awareness about the continued fight against the Martin Marietta Limestone Mine. The committee started with the idea of having a fundraiser and the goal of breaking even—perhaps not raising money so much as raising awareness. Fortunately, current donations are at $7,000 (with more arriving daily), to fund the continued fight against the mine.

Steve Duff and Laura Stanton sported Martin Marietta costumes during trick-or-treating on Halloween.

Terrace Park resident illustrator inspires students through author visit

On October 12-14, illustrator/author and Terrace Park resident Will Hillenbrand entertained and inspired Mariemont City School elementary students with such selections as Look out, Jack! The Giant is Back! and Counting Crocodiles.

Young writers and artists from kindergarten through sixth grade at Mariemont Elementary and Terrace Park Elementary were treated to Hillenbrand's storytelling and whimsical illustrations. He shared his creative process which combines infusing personal experiences, a steady diet of journaling ideas and continuous revising to achieve his final products. Hillenbrand emphasized to students that as they create, edit and perfect their pieces, they are the final judge. If they are happy with their own creation - whether a story, a drawing, or both - it is an unqualified success.

Hillenbrand has written and/or illustrated more than children's books and has received many recognitions including IRA Children's Choice Awards, an ALA Notable Children's Book Award and the Gold Medal and Honors from the Society of Illustrators.

Will Hillenbrand's presentations were part of an ongoing Author Visit Program sponsored by Mariemont City Schools and its PTOs.

Will Hillenbrand, Terrace Park resident and renowned children's author and illustrator shares the book "Counting Crocodiles" with eager Terrace Park Elementary students.

Life in the fast lane

By Dan Neal

2010 was a year of transition for Neal Racing and its driver, Henry Neal. Henry moved up to a significantly faster TaG/Birel kart and began racing professional drivers from around the country, including former Indianapolis 500 winner, Dan Wheldon.

"We must be real racers now!"

with the adult racers. Moving up means tougher challenges, and this season included participating in the RoboPong 200 Endurance Race. The RoboPong is a 200 lap kart race held at the Newcastle Motorsports Park in Indiana. The RoboPong 200 draws was the comment made by our good friend, and fellow racer John Casella, after our engine self-destructed in Sunday morning's practice session. In 4 years of kart racing this was our first engine to go. In racing, when you push things to the limit, they often break. This year we took it to the limit at the 2010 RoboPong 200.

To put 200 laps in perspective, most kart races are 15 laps or less! This is a punishing test of man and machine. In light of the level of competition and the punishing distance, we set realistic goals of preserving the kart, completing all 200 laps, and finishing in the top twenty.

Since 200 laps in a racing kart are almost unbearable for one person to endure, we needed another driver. We were excited when we found a teammate with experience at Newcastle since we had only raced there twice in the past two years. We had our team, time to go racing.

Pre-race on Saturday morning, the kart was not running well. During practice and for qualifying on Saturday we struggled mightily to get (continued on page 3)

Bad vibrations

To the editor:

The proposed blasting at the Martin Marietta Mine site in Anderson Township should not occur for the health of our future generation! It's a decision that will forever be reflected on the people for following through with something so harmful to our health. We need to consider the effects that the blasting will have on the children of society. The blasting vibrations will result in problems for homes and buildings anywhere near the site, and also will have a great impact on neighboring towns and villages. The vibrations should be more of a concern to the surrounding neighborhoods. The blasting that has been planned to blow up the Martin Marietta Mine site in Anderson Township will do more bad than good for the neighborhood it is taking place in, as well as the bordering neighborhoods.

As the blasting nears, adjacent towns should realize how detrimental to our safety the process could be. Terrace Park, Mariemont, Indian Hill, Milford, and Madeira will get the greatest effects of the blasting. Yet, Anderson Township doesn't come out of the process unscathed either, for they will have to pay extra taxes to repair the damaged roads and training for the blasting. Their taxes will also go to the policing of the blasting process and guarding explosives. The Martin Marietta Mine site is planning on using 45,000 tons of explosives to blow up the mine and the towns mentioned above will suffer the greatest consequences. They have no legal recourse because they can't stop the big businesses from sponsoring the blasting and the polluted air will be for all to breathe. After the mine is blasted, there will be lots of pollution spread in the air, including soot and dirt. According to Children's Hospital and scientists at the University of Cincinnati, there is a long list of health concerns to go along with this particular blasting (Burger). Children with asthma will be breathing in polluted air that could be harmful to their condition. There is also an increased risk of cancer that comes with the blasting of the mine (Burger). I know there's a price to pay, but is putting our health in danger really one of those prices we want to pay?

While the question of blasting is still being debated, those who strongly oppose are trying to raise concern. Local Communities have created CABOOM (Citizens Against Blasting On Our Miami) to petition against the process. Although it hasn't changed the minds of any Anderson Township councilmen, it's definitely helping those who fear the health of their families to have a word in the debate. Former Congressman Rob Portman who's now running for the United States Senate in the upcoming November election is a resident of Terrace Park and lives with his family there. However, when asked to speak up and put out a concern for the blasting of his local town, he denied putting out such a statement. Not contributing to the situation that could possibly harm his own children's health isn't going to get him neither more votes nor more respect in his community. So we come upon this question again, who actually benefits from the blasting?

on November 13th from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. in the program to successfully dispose of outdated or unwanted/needed medications. Residents are asked to bring such medications to the fire station. This will avoid such items being put into landfills or the water waste system.

National Emergency Medication Program:

Police Chief Jerry Hayhow recognized resident volunteers who completed training for administration of medications during any national emergency. The first exercise was providing flu shots. Thanks were also noted to St. Thomas Church for providing the facilities for this program.

Eagle Scout Project

The Village would like to congratulate Eagle Scout Ben Gorman for completion of the project for an outdoor classroom. Terrace Park is always proud of its scout programs and their participants.

Vacation report

With the approaching holidays and school dismissal, residents are requested to complete a "Vacation" form either at the police station or on the web site. This is a great program for both residents and the Terrace Park Police Department.

Tree planting and watering

Councilman Jeff Krueger, Buildings and Grounds, stated that the planting of 36 new trees would begin in the next two weeks. Residents are strongly encouraged to water these new trees at least one time before any freeze to give the new trees a better chance to thrive. Under his guidance, the Village may participate in a state grant that would provide matching funds for the planting of ash trees. After January 1, the removal of dead or diseased trees will once again begin.

Wooster Pike median project

The bids for this project are still scheduled to begin on November 18th.

Safety committee

Under the direction of Stefan Olson, this committee will be reviewing and discussing rules to govern golf carts and motorized scooters in the village. A resident, who showed concern for the safety of residents and riders, addressed the motorized scooter problem. Notification of this meeting will be posted on the web site and village bulletin boards to allow for resident input.

Our teammate arrived Sunday morning to take a few laps in the kart. Sadly, after only six laps, the engine blew and was destroyed. Just like that, our hopes were dashed. But we are racers. A tide of determination suddenly washed over us. We were there to race and were going to do almost anything to get back into the race.

While we negotiated with the officials, our teammate sprang into action, drove to his home roughly an hour away, and track. With only 20 minutes to spare, we fueled it, mounted tires, got it inspected, and put it on the starting grid literally seconds before the start of the race!

In the end, the RoboPong 200 turned out to be an incredible experience. In the book, Well Being, the authors talk about buying stuff or buying experiences. We believe that our racing allows us to buy experiences and that the RoboPong 200 was one more experience.

I think that John is right about being real racers. And for the past four years, we have had the joy of experiencing racing victories and defeats, and those are experiences that we will never forget.

We are already making plans for 2011 and are hopeful that our 2011 season will begin in December at the Daytona Motor Speedway.

TPE scares up its annual Pumpkin Festival

On October 15, ghouls and goblins came out to play at Terrace Park Elementary PTO's annual Pumpkin Festival. Throughout the school lurked spooky jack-o-lanterns, hair-raising hair painting, ghostly games, devilishly delicious dinners and more. Anchored by its trademark haunted house, Pumpkin Festival is always a popular fundraising event for kids of any age.

Sadie Koehler and Avery Messner, 2nd graders, are transformed with the help of a little face paint at the Terrace Park Elementary Pumpkin Festival.

Terrace Park kindergartener Blake Payne really got into the spirit with his pumpkin face paint.

Difficulties determining when a Terrace Park house was built

By Carol C. Cole and Esther H. M. Power

Results of a recent update of the Terrace Park Building Survey (www.tpsurvey.org) indicate questionable building dates for some houses. For example, the building date given for 111 Terrace Place on the Hamilton County Auditor's site is 1881. A focus on the original subdivisions in the pre-incorporation period, deeds and census information will provide a method of determining at least a limited range of dates if not the exact date of when an early house was built.

It is well known that the Village of Terrace Park was incorporated in 1893. But before that there were several attempts in Columbia Township to establish independent communities: Ziegler in 1817, Montauk in 1840, Camden City in 1857 and Gravelotte in 1873. The Terrace Park name appears on a Hamilton County map as early as 1877, but it was not an incorporated area. However, by the 1880s it became clear that something would succeed because more people were buying land, building and settling. The opportunity was apparent for developers to subdivide the land. Terrace Park resident, Lewis Gatch practiced real estate law and helped Pattison and Iuen lay out streets in Lots 1 and 2 of Camden City to create their subdivision. They claimed it was "the most desirable location for a home to be found in the county" and they offered home builders "a free pass for one year" on the Little Miami Railroad to downtown Cincinnati.

On November 10, 1885 Mary A. Cowen had sold to John M. Pattison 38.60 acres of land, for their subdivision, established May 27, 1886. They built homes on Oxford Avenue for the Breiling and Rauscher families and two others on Miami and Terrace Place – or could there already have been a home on Terrace Place before the subdivision was established? It seems unlikely since the Cowen family lived in Clermont County where the father was a Probate Judge. On May 2, 1892 Pattison and Iuen sold lots 36, 39 and 40 to Carl Floto, now 111 Terrace Place. He was a partner in the pig iron business with Sumner P. Bacon who had before 1870 built a house just across the railroad tracks from Floto on New Street. Both Floto's and Bacon's homes show on the 1892 map of Terrace Park, the "territory of the proposed corporation of Terrace Park."

A petition signed by C. Floto and his son, Julius, along with 46 other men and no women led to the incorporation of Terrace Park in 1893. Carl Floto was elected the first mayor, a position he held until 1898 when he sold his land and home back to John B. Iuen. The men responsible for the early subdivisions did not live long after the incorporation. John B. Iuen died August 1, 1904. John Pattison died of Bright's disease on June 8, 1906.

Based on this information it appears that 111 Terrace Place was built sometime between 1886 and 1892, rather than in 1881. In many instances it is difficult to determine the exact date when a house was built. Deeds tell us when land was bought, not when a house was built – but there may be clues. It is hoped that in time the gap between conjecture and fact will be closed.

CCDS 6th graders walk for the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation

The Cincinnati Country Day School sixth grade had a very successful Make a Difference Day on October 1, 2010, walking six miles on the Loveland Bike Trail to raise money for the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation (JDRF). In an assembly on October 29, Development Coordinator for the Cincinnati Chapter of the JDRF, Rachel Hopkins, informed the students about Type 1 and Type 2 Diabetes, and the sixth grade students presented her with a check to the JDRF for $1,668.25 raised from their walk! The students worked hard, had fun, and, most importantly, exceeded their goal of raising $1,000.

TPHS House Tour a success

The Terrace Park Historical Society deeply appreciates the support local residents gave its 2010 White House Tour Oct. 17. It was a record-breaking fundraiser for the society's new public gallery that showcases artists and authors who have lived or are living in Terrace Park. Tour co-chairs Barbara Jane England, left, and Mary Arkeilpane and junior hostess Gigi Hill were among the 44 volunteers who welcomed more than 430 tourists that day. Special thanks to those who opened their homes: the Coffmans, Englands, Grevers, Hills, Lindells and Mottos; and Sandy Wittman-Shell for organizing the volunteers.

Armstrong Chapel opens new facilities to community

After nearly 200 years at the corner of Indian Hill and Drake Roads in Indian Hill, Armstrong Chapel United Methodist Church will be entering a new era of service Dec. 12 with the opening of new and renovated space. The celebration begins at 10 a.m. with worship, followed at 11:30 a.m. with a reception and tours, and an open house from 1 to 3 p.m. The public is invited.

A $6.7 million expansion project is providing 21,000 square feet of new space and 9,500 square feet of renovated space for worship, youth and education centers. Youth now have their own creatively designed space for meetings, activities and worship and there's a new contemporary worship center with a 280-seat theater. Some of the additions include a custom-built organ with 2,800 hand-voiced pipes in the refurbished sanctuary and chancel, a playground in a secured courtyard, audio/visual equipment throughout and a portico that links extensive parking and sidewalk improvements to a welcome center in the atrium.

"Our facilities have been refurbished and expanded to improve our environment for discipleship and attract new members," said senior pastor Greg Stover. "It's important to us that we have facilities that help us serve surrounding communities and support our worldwide outreach."

He noted that the Armstrong campus, with facilities on three corners of the intersection, is used not only by the congregation for worship and activities, but by community groups.

Meagan and Caramba bring home the silver

The 70th Annual Camargo Hunter Trials were held this year at Clipping Field in Indian Hill on Saturday, October 23, 2010. Meagan Majchszak, a junior at Ursuline Academy and Terrace Park resident, and her 9-year old Thoroughbred mare, Caramba, were the Grand Champions of the Junior Hunter Championship and brought home three silver perpetual trophies. The trophies are beautiful and intricate, and the championship trophy has the names of junior riders engraved on it since 1961 – it is a truly amazing piece of history.

Meagan is a C-2 pony club rider and has had quite a successful year, qualifying for the American Eventing Championships and placing second at the Flying Cross Horse Trials in Louisville this summer.

Police report

Police received a call to "be on the look out" for a vehicle driving erratically heading from Plainville Road in Mariemont. Police initiated a traffic stop on Wooster Pike after observing a vehicle matching the description of the suspected vehicle swerving out of his lane. Upon coming into contact with the driver, police smelled a strong odor of alcohol coming from the driver and observed that his speech was slurred and his eyes were bloodshot and glassy. After initially agreeing to a field sobriety test, the driver refused to take the test, but repeatedly stated that he was drunk. The driver was cited for refusal, operating a vehicle under the influence of alcohol, and a marked lanes violation.

Terrace Park Elementary School was vandalized with graffiti painted on walls near the cafeteria and gym. The graffiti included an obscenity, the phrases "OGTP" and "OGTP Rise Against", and a picture of a pair of eyes and "scary teeth." Empty beer cans and the remainder of a 24 pack of beer were found at the scene. Police continue to investigate the incident. On the same date, police on patrol noticed similar graffiti painted on the garage door of a Terrace Park residence.

Police observed a vehicle run a red light causing the patrol car to narrowly miss hitting the vehicle in question. Police followed the vehicle and initiated a traffic stop. The driver exhibited glassy eyes and slurred speech. Police administered a field test to determine if the driver was capable of driving. The driver was cited for a red light violation and operating a motor vehicle without a valid driver's license. The driver was released and picked up from the scene by a relative.

Police received an identity theft report. An unknown subject had transferred funds from the complainant's bank account into his or her own checking account and written two large checks on the account. Security for the complainant's bank is investigating the case.

Police received a complaint of juveniles riding scooters on Rugby Avenue and refusing to move out of the street. Police responded and observed the juveniles but did not observe any unsafe activity.

A resident reported damage to several items of personal property in his residence. The resident suspected who was responsible for the damage and indicated a desire to press charges. The case is under investigation.

Police were dispatched to the Terrace Park Mini Mart to investigate a dispute involving payment for gas. The dispute arose from a problem processing a credit card. The customer obtained cash from an ATM and paid for the gas.

Police also responded to a barking dog complaint, downed tree limbs, power lines on fire, vehicle lockouts, disabled vehicles, and numerous properties found open.

Terrace Park Police provided mutual assistance to the Milford Police Department and the DEA Task Force and provided mutual aid with the execution of a search warrant.

Girls U-8 soccer

U-8 Girls Soccer enjoys a great season, advancing to the semifinals in the year end tournament.

Strikers strong this season

The fall Cincinnati Hills SAY Soccer program was very exciting and challenging at the boys "Strikers" level (5th and 6th grade). For the TP team that was coached by Dave Walter, Matt Lundeberg and KJ Phelan, this season was especially exciting as our boys managed to play to a first place finish in the regular season and a second place finish in the tournament. The only blemish on the season's record was a loss to Deer Park in the championship game at the tournament.

Opponents included teams from Terrace Park, Mariemont, Deer Park, Reading and two teams each from Madeira and Indian Hill.

Coach Walter was most proud of the fact that no one player carried the team. "It truly was a group effort. All our players either had an assist or a goal at some point in the season."

Terrace Park players: Josh McClorey, Eli Glaser, Matthew McGrory, Andrew Krafft, Will Doran, Tyler Lundeberg, Harrison Keith, Eli Bales, Sean Holcomb, Kyle Howe, Ethan Crouse, Bobby Dennerll, Ben Phelan, Michael Reber and AJ Walter.

The TP soccer program as a whole is sending a bunch of boys and girls on to the junior high program that have a passion for the game. Not only do they want their teams to win, but they all have an appetite for taking their own game and skills to the next level.

Not to worry, the young guns remaining on the TP squads will surely provide top notch play to keep TP Soccer tops in the Cincinnati Hills League in the years to come!

A special thanks to Justin Richardson (Challenger Soccer) for training the Strikers and all the Terrace Park teams again this year.

Terrace Park's boys win under 10 division championship

The Terrace Park Bulldogs Boys Under 10 soccer team pictured right won the Cincinnati Hills SAY soccer A division for the Fall 2010 season. The team, comprised of Terrace Park second, third and fourth graders, showed great resolve as their leading scorer missed the last three games with a broken collarbone (suffered during a hockey tournament...not soccer, thank goodness), and still managed to finish the regular season without a single loss. They showed great balance and team work with 10 of the 11 kids scoring at least one goal this year, and every player taking turns playing different positions every single game. Congratulations to them, and thanks to TPRC for the great support this year.

Terrace Park Boys "Wings" (8 & 9 year olds) had an amazing 2010 regular season in the Cincinnati Hills SAY Soccer program. Terrace Park fielded 3 Wings teams in the league. Team Schwartz finished the season with 6 wins, 2 ties and 2 losses. Team Herring finished with 8 wins, two ties and no losses. Team Sawyer, coached by Jon DiMichele and David Sawyer, finished with a perfect 10-0-0 season. The three teams entered the 15 team Tournament seeded #4, #2, and #1 respectively.

Team Sawyer's players: Nolan Buck, James DiMichele, Ethan Jefferies, Andy Lindner, Zack McClorey, Jack Neville, Drew Pitstick, Sean Reber, Peter Sawyer, Corben Shoemaker, Rye Walker, and Gilles Wouters had a great run in the tournament. They made it to the championship game after battling through a very tough Team Schwartz in the semi-finals. Although they eventually lost the championship game in penalty kicks, they certainly played well enough to win.

This group of players came to together as a team and played with great skill, discipline and heart, repeatedly receiving accolades from referees, opposing coaches, and parents after games.

Look out for our top scorers Gilles Wouters (10 goals) and Zack McClorey (9 goals) who, as 3rd graders, will return as Wings players next year.
