

Council addresses residents' concerns about proposed café and drainage problems in Village

--submitted by Martha Rassi

The May meeting of the Village of Terrace Park Council was called to order by Mayor Tepe who then asked if there were any residents wishing to address council. Two residents spoke with concerns about the proposed wine shop/café (The Birch project) at 702 Indian Hill Road. Concerns were raised about parking, noise, congestion, and zoning ordinances. Mayor Tepe noted that there would be a zoning meeting this month that is open to the public and requested that the Rules and Laws committee also look into the residents' concerns. Other issues raised were for the possibility of mosquitos caused by areas of standing water within the Village (especially Red Bird Lane), and if there were any existing ordinances that addressed the lack of yard and home maintenance for homes within the Village. It was noted by the solicitor that an ordinance already exists to handle abandoned homes, and the Village has attempted to gain permission, without success, to solve the Red Bird Lane drainage problem.

Mayor: Mayor Tepe then moved to the swearing in of Susan J. Maggard to the volunteer emergency services department of the Village. He concluded his report with a reminder for all residents to remain alert for children within the Village with the longer daylight hours and the approaching end of the school year.

Solicitor: Mr. Forbes introduced Jillian S. Brandstetter who has been assisting him with legal work for the Village.

EMS: Two more volunteer recruits will be taking their test this spring. Recruitment is already underway for the class that will begin in September.

In April, 12 medical emergency runs were made totaling 61 runs for the year to date. Training in May will include CE units in trauma triage and a workshop on cardiac issues. The EMS and Fire Departments will participate in a county disaster drill in May to improve procedures needed in case of a mass causality event. Local fire, Red Cross, police and hospital agencies take part in these scenarios.

Fire Chief: Mr. Frey made a call for volunteers reminding residents that the training is conducted at the Village station with no cost to participants. A reminder was once again given to STAY AWAY and report any downed power lines since these are active and dangerous.

Planning/Zoning: A third reading and vote was taken on an ordinance amending the Terrace Park zoning ordinance.

Buildings/Grounds: Mr. Gaskey announced that the Village once again received the Arbor Day award and now ranks 5th in Hamilton County for having received the most distinguished awards. He also thanked the Village arborist Mark Castator for his continued assistance and noted to residents that the Village has a large number of different tree species.

Finance: Work has already begun on the 2016-17 Village's budget.

Rules/Laws: The second reading was given to the resolution establishing a tobacco free workplace policy. It was also stated that the employee handbook is now being updated.

Public Works: As work begins on street resurfacing, residents will be notified in advance of when to move and where to park cars. Myrtle Avenue will be done first and the curing time is approximately four hours.

With no other reports from standing committees or new business, the meeting was adjourned.

An Evening with John Ruthven

On May 21, more than 100 members and friends enjoyed a wonderful evening at the Terrace Park Country Club with Cincinnati wildlife artist, John Ruthven. We heard some fascinating stories from his travels in Africa, and learned about the white squirrel which was featured on our invitation. Many in the audience were collectors of John's paintings and several originals were on display. When asked how many paintings he had created over his long career, John said he wasn't sure, but that he painted around twelve a

Memorial Day essay winners recognized

--Josephine McKenrick, Mariemont City Schools

During a May Kiwanis Club of Mariemont meeting, the writers of the winning 2016 Memorial Day essays read their written works of art. All of the winners are currently in 6th grade and all of the winners were offered the opportunity to read their essays during the Memorial Day ceremony in each district community.

"I am grateful for all of the things we do with and for the kids and the community, but I always look forward to hearing our students read about what Memorial Day means to them," said Todd Keyes, Kiwanis member. "It's crucial for us to have this day, Memorial Day, to support and honor those who serve and protect us."

The essay winners are Rachael Dronsfield from Terrace Park Elementary; Ellison Van Scoy from Mariemont Elementary, representing Mariemont; and Izaak White from Mariemont Elementary, representing Fairfax. Erika Dewey, from Mariemont Elementary, was named runner up at Mariemont Elementary.

"This is a great opportunity to have our students find the real meaning of Memorial Day," said Linda Lee, principal at Terrace Park Elementary. "They brainstorm and research what Memorial Day means while making personal connections to the lives of people who have served."

The essays focus on the bravery of all of those that have protected or currently protect our country, the sacrifices people have made for freedom and other patriotic anecdotes and historical facts, including the celebrations of and reflections on the life and impact of a soldier or veteran.

If you would like to hear the essays read aloud or would like to participate in the Memorial Day parades, everyone is welcome to attend. The Mariemont parade starts at 8:30am in the Mariemont Parish Center parking; the Terrace Park parade starts at 10am in the elementary school parking lot; and the Fairfax parade starts at 11am in front of the police station on Hawthorne Avenue.

Congratulations to all of the essay winners!

Kiwanis member Todd Keyes with Rachael Dronsfield, Ellison Van Scoy and Izaak White.

The Barn in Mariemont to host exhibit of paintings and photos by local artists

Jim Rauth

Terrace Park residents, Jim Rauth and John Crouse, have teamed up for a special showing of their combined works from 1-4 p.m., June 12, at the Barn in Mariemont. The exhibit, titled: "Through the Lens and on the Canvas," will have photographs by Mr. Rauth and paintings by Mr. Crouse on display. The show is free and open to the public. For more information visit: artatthebarn.org.

Jim Rauth has had a lifelong interest in photography. After retirement from a thirty-three year business career, he made the transition from casual to serious photography, studying at professional workshops and learning to capture a broad range of animate and inanimate subjects. Since building a varied portfolio of whatever catches his eye and a successful show at the Cincinnati Art Club in 2002, he has exhibited at the Weston Art Gallery, Miami University, the Kennedy Heights Art Center and the Oscar River Gallery. His book MANNEQUIN, a study of that art form in 14 states and 4 countries sold successfully and was followed by a study of other subjects in his latest book CATCHING MY EYE. Another book of photography and a memoir are underway. MANNEQUIN will be available for sale, with all proceeds donated to the "The Barn".

John Crouse

For many years John Crouse was engaged in the legal profession as a trial lawyer and judge. During that time he always set aside time for music and painting. He has participated in workshops at the Cincinnati Art Museum and the Pendleton Center with Carin Hebenstreit.

More recently he attended a workshop at the Fine Arts Work Center in Provincetown, MA with Robert Henry and Selina Trieff.

In the past few years Crouse became interested in abstract art. Much of this work involves the use of venetian plaster on masonry which creates a textured surface to his paintings.

He divides his time between

paintings by John Crouse

Terrace Park, Ohio and Fripp Island, South Carolina.

Neighbor to Neighbor

Coalition Corner

Best selling author Harlan Cohen visits Mariemont High School Seniors

The Warrior Coalition would like to congratulate all of our graduating high school seniors and their parents. This is an exciting time and we wish all of our graduates well as they take on their next challenge.

On May 17th, best-selling author and advice columnist Harlan Cohen spoke to Mariemont High School graduating seniors and their parents about the transition from high school to college life. The Mariemont Foundation invited Cohen to visit the district along with funding support from the Warrior Coalition and the Warrior Run. In a parenting presentation and then to the senior class, Cohen outlined many of the issues and tips found in his book The Naked Roommate: And 107 Other Issues You Might Run Into in College. "Transition is uncomfortable" stated Cohen during his parent presentation, "and if you are not uncomfortable next Fall, then you are doing something wrong". He encourages students to "get comfortable with being uncomfortable" because this is where you are challenged to meet people, get involved and "find yourself" in your new environment. He advises students to identify their People (who is your current support circle and who do you want to be friends with on campus), Places (what organizations do you want to be involved in) and use lots of Patience in their first year of college. In addition, he encourages students to keep an open mind, be wary of preconceived ideas of college life and to expect the unexpected. It might take time to find one's place in college but students should be patient and seek out support (both academic and emotional) when needed.

Homesickness can be normal; adjusting to college life requires time and patience. Cohen encouraged parents to allow their kids to be homesick and unhappy while adjusting to college. He refers to it as "marinating in misery to become seasoned". Don't rush in to help right away. Parents should sympathize and provide support to their children during this time but allow the transition process to occur. To accelerate assimilation, Cohen advises students to spend as much time out of their room as possible, to get involved on campus and to limit the use of technology. Technology is a great way to learn about opportunities at the university or to make contacts but students shouldn't hide behind it. Building relationships face to face is critical. Living in a dorm freshman year is a great way to meet people and Cohen likens it to a "cruise without the water". Dorm living makes it easy to meet people without even trying and he recommends that students leave their doors open when in their room to encourage visitors. (Be sure to turn in housing requests early to get the dorm with the most amenities). Cohen also gives advice about how to coexist peacefully with your roommate, how to be successful in the classroom, and how to assess the advantages and pitfalls of Greek life. And finally, dating, intimacy, finances, drinking and, of course, what it might be like to live with mom and dad again once you've been away are also discussed.

The Mission of the Warrior Coalition is to support our families in developing healthy, resilient children.

TP Elementary participates in Flying Pig Kids' Marathon

--Lisa Welch

Terrace Park Elementary went "hog wild" again this spring as many students participated in the Cincinnati Flying Pig Kids' Marathon. The Flying Pig Kids' Marathon was created 18 years ago at TPE by Terrace Park's very own Robin Penderly. The program is designed to encourage healthy behaviors such as good nutrition and fitness in elementary kids. Terrace Park's Flying Pigs began logging their miles one by one beginning in March, led by program chairs Anne Davies, Lisa Welch, and Sarah Winders. In addition to completing miles at home with their families, over 70 kids also participated in organized training sessions after school on Fridays. With the help of over 15 dedicated volunteers each week the kids in learned about proper running form, hydration, and pacing while completing various running drills. The training season culminated in Terrace Park Elementtary's 26th Mile Run on Friday, April 29. Over 140 kids, kindergarten through sixth grade, "flew" through the village with their police escort as they completed the 26th mile of their marathon and crossed the "finish swine" to the cheers of friends and family!

Once the runners finished their run they were able to enjoy a wellness-themed festival sponsored by the PTO. Chairpersons Shaedyn Bogle and Susan VanVleet created a wide variety of activities for the kids to participate in such as: jazzercise, cross fit, basketball, gymnastics, and hula hooping. They could make their own trail mix and try some fresh juice. The kids decorated their own "Flying Pig" piggy banks as well as enjoying visits from the Terrace Park Life Squad and the Sea of Smiles Pediatric Dentistry's Tooth Fairy. It was a great way to celebrate their hard work and the completion of their marathon!

Ready, set, run!! First graders off to a strong start.

Thanks, Terrace Park!!

--Dennis Kokoruda

If you happened to pass the Log Cabin around March 18, you could not help but notice numerous pallets of mulch on the basketball court, which is a sure sign that spring is just around the corner and it is time to reacquire ourselves with our yards.

Troop 286 tackled this mountain of mulch on March 18-20 by delivering the orders to village residents who purchased from troop members. With the help of many Scouts and their parents along with the use of trucks, trailers, and forklifts the job was made easier with everyone working hard to finish the task.

The mulch sale is the major fundraiser for Troop 286 and is used for community service activities, Eagle Scout projects, camping equipment, campground fees, summer camp and the summer high adventure trip. The mulch is Queen City Gold, a favorite brand in Cincinnati, and is provided by Bzak Landscaping.

With another successful year of mulch sales, we heartily thank the community for your great support by allowing our Troop to supply your mulch needs. Thanks as well to residents for their cash donations to our troop.

For those who ordered pallets of mulch, please drop off the wooden pallet to the log cabin so it can be recycled. If you are unable to transport your pallet to the log cabin, please call 652-5865 for pickup.

High School Breakfast

On May 17, a unique Terrace Park tradition was observed: Graduating seniors who had once attended Terrace Park Elementary School were invited to meet there for breakfast and enjoy some shared memories. Many were surprised to see a large banner, created by the kindergarten classes of 2004, anticipating their graduation, which must have seemed impossibly remote at the time. If anyone knows the origins of this tradition, the Terrace Park Historical Society would like to know!

Police Report

Police Report April 2016

Terrace Park police investigated a vehicle break-in at St. Thomas Church. Police believe they have identified the perpetrators' vehicle and have a description of the suspects.

Officers investigated multiple reports of suspicious circumstances or suspicious people. Where residents reported returning home to find doors open, strong winds were most frequently determined to be the cause.

Two separate traffic stops for equipment violations each ultimately led to the discovery of marijuana and citations for drug abuse and drug paraphernalia possession.

Officers secured several residential and business properties found open, and upon request, performed several checks on the welfare of elderly or ill residents.

The department provided mutual aid to Mariemont and Milford police and The Indian Hill Rangers, and assisted with several emergency squad runs.

Senior Vice President, Investments

Kyle Gearhart, CFP®, CRPC™, managing director of Raymond James & Associates, was honored to be named to the list of the Raymond James Global Top 50 Advisors.

Kyle Gearhart of Terrace Park, Ohio, was chosen to be part of a select group of financial advisors to attend the first ever Raymond James Global Top 50 conference.

The conference, which was held February 3-5 at The Hay-Adams Hotel in Washington, D.C., was designed exclusively for the firm's top-performing advisors and brought together professionals from across the United States, Canada and the United Kingdom.

In addition to advanced education sessions and hands-on workshops, attendees had a wealth of networking opportunities with one another and with Raymond James senior leaders. Speakers included former Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan, Ph.D., and Emmy Award-winning journalist Cokie Roberts. Greenspan shared stories and his views on current events and what may happen next, and Cokie Roberts brought her keen political eye and perspective to the issues currently facing lawmakers.

"This was an exciting opportunity not only for our firm to recognize top advisors for the 2015 fiscal year, but also to establish a new tradition with this one-of-a-kind conference. We were delighted to share this event with Mr. Gearhart and all the other attendees," said Raymond James CEO Paul Reilly.

On a cool, rather damp May morning the Terrace Park Garden Club toured Cincinnati's well known cemetery, Spring Grove. At first thought it might seem strange to tour a cemetery. Aren't they all about the same? Grave stones, some historical, a few trees, flowers placed on the graves, perhaps a chapel. Pulling into the main entrance instantly changes thoughts of questions and doubts. However. This isn't your ordinary cemetery.

A few facts about our lovely cemetery:
The cemetery was planned in the 1840's out of a vast need for better burial grounds caused in part by a cholera epidemic. The first interment was made September, 1845.

It encompasses 733 acres, 400 acres of which is landscaped. It is the second largest cemetery in the United States and is recognized as a United States National Historical Landmark.

The original members of the Cincinnati Horticultural Society created the Cemetery of Spring Grove with the hopes 'that the natural setting would be a contemplative atmosphere conducive to consolation, commemoration, and education.'

This remarkable cemetery is a combination cemetery, park, outdoor museum, and arboretum with 44 miles of winding roads, 15 serene lakes, and 10 acre woodland preserve with beautiful collections of architecture, sculpture, and horticulture nestled in its picturesque grounds.

Stop by on any given day and you may see an artist and an easel taking pleasure in his craft. Across the lake a father and son are throwing pebbles into the water while further down a beautiful swan adds to the picture. Walkers and runners are exercising their bodies while their minds take pleasure in this beautiful, tranquil setting. On any given Saturday or Sunday you might see hundreds of runners, raising money for a cause they believe in. So unlike most cemeteries ours is one to enjoy, share, breathe in its beauty.

Don't miss the opportunity to visit these remarkable grounds, where the living honor the dead by enjoying the life we have been given.

The Garden Club wishes to thank all who supported our flower sale on May 14th. The profit we make off of this sale not only maintains are flower beds/memorial garden/and boxes on the bridge, but the beautification of the village through the placement of a bench, a tree, etc. Thank you!

2016 Friend of the School Award recipient recognized

--Josephine McKenrick

Earlier this school year, the Mariemont City School District launched the Marie Huenefeld Friend of the School Award to recognize individuals in our community who make significant contributions to our school district with their time, service and expertise to create a better experience for our students and make us a better school district.

At the May Mariemont Board of Education meeting, Rusty Wilson was officially recognized as the 2016 recipient of the Friend of the School Award.

"I have heard many people say that Rusty is their go-to guy whenever they have questions about the culture, traditions and history of Mariemont," said Steven Estep, superintendent of Mariemont City Schools. "Rusty has been involved with our athletics program and academics alike, giving his time, talent and attention to making our district and our students the best they can be."

Rusty is a Kusel Hall of Fame member for his service to the football team as a statistician for over 15 years. And now he presents the inductees for the Hall of Fame ceremony. Rusty has also been a mentor for years to countless young student athletes on the golf and baseball teams. He has served as a volunteer golf coach and volunteer JV baseball coach, and is referred to by the student athletes as "Rusty Nails" – "Nails" is an affectionate baseball term used for some players, as in "tough as nails."

Rusty Wilson has served on the past four valedictorian/ salutatorian policy committees, and he has been heavily involved in the final calculation of the valedictorian and salutatorian of Mariemont High School for the past 20 years.

A man of the community, he is a 1964 graduate of Mariemont High School and has served for 15 years on the Terrace Park Village Council. He organizes the ticket sellers for the Terrace Park Recreation Association's Labor Day Festival and at one time he served on the Terrace Park EMS. He has also served the Mariemont Knot-hole League in the important role of collecting the scores and results.

He's married to his lovely wife, Connie, who is a former district board member; and his sons, Brian and Scott, are also Mariemont High School graduates.

"I believe Rusty is an incredibly deserving recipient for the Friend of the School Award, for his humility, his steadfast involvement and his unwavering support of our schools, our students and our community."

The award was created in honor and recognition of recently retired Mariemont Board of Education member Marie Huenefeld, who received the inaugural Friend of the School Award. Marie Huenefeld was first elected to the board in November 1987 and served through 2015.

Students receive exclusive National Scholarship

--Josephine McKenrick, Mariemont City Schools

Three Mariemont High School students were recently named Stamps Leadership Scholars, an honor that was bestowed to only 260 students in the nation this year.

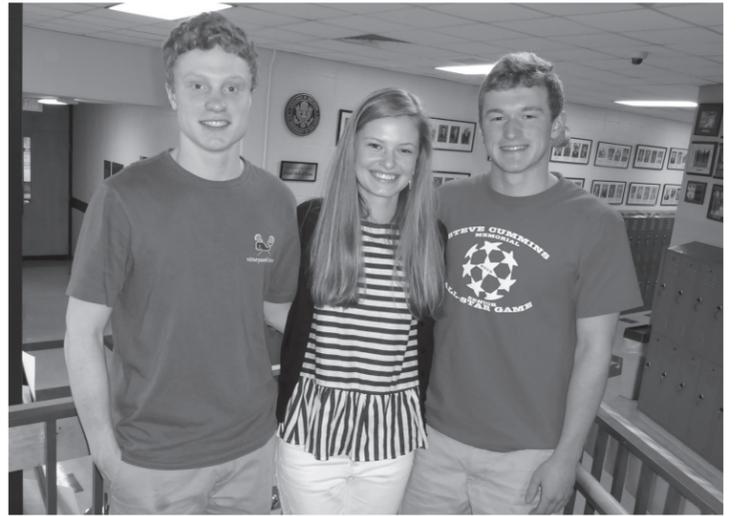

Shea Wells, Madeline Falknor and Connor Jacob now have access to a "national network of fellow Scholars and Alumni. Along with a sense of community on their campus, Scholars have the opportunity to interact with their peers from the other Stamps partner schools – from regional conferences and informal meet-ups hosted by partner schools to the biennial Stamps Scholars National Convention hosted by the Stamps Family Charitable Foundation."

"We are so excited for Connor; he is surely a hard worker but couldn't have achieved what he has without the efforts of the supportive staff in our district," said Mary Jacob, Connor's mom. "There are so many people in the school that have influenced his life in a positive way."

Look at what his Mariemont City Schools' education has resulted in! He is very thankful to be going off to the Ohio State University to continue to develop his leadership skills and make a difference with his life."

According to the Stamps Scholars website, it is a "nationally prestigious merit scholarship program and community that helps exceptional students become meaningful leaders throughout society."

The first Stamps Scholars programs launched in 2006 at the University of Michigan and Georgia Tech, and since then, the program has grown to nearly 40 schools across the country. In 2016, over 260 Stamps Scholarship recipients will join the community of more than 1000 Stamps Scholars. Stamps Scholars are among the recipients of other prestigious awards, including Rhodes, Fulbright, Goldwater, Marshall and National Science Foundation scholarships.

After a hospital stay, make the right choice for rehab.

After a stay in the hospital I told them my first choice for rehab was Marjorie P. Lee in Hyde Park. The staff was incredible and they lived up to their reputation for getting people healthy, home and back to living their lives. No wonder they have consistently high patient satisfaction scores and were selected by area hospitals as a Center of Excellence for short-stay rehab. And yes, even the food was great.
