October Village Council Minutes

Submitted by Martha Lewis-Rassi

The October, 2017 meeting of the Village of Terrace Park Council was called to order by Mayor Tepe. He then recognized the presence of some Mariemont High School students who were attending the meeting for a government class assignment.

Mayor: Mayor Tepe began his report by reminding residents of the Chilipalooza to take place on October 14th on the Village Green. Mayor Tepe then thanked the Village workers for the quick clean up of recent damaged trees and power lines.

Fiscal Officer: It was noted that the contract for the current financial auditors has been extended. The company being used is the same as in the past, just a name change.

Clerk of Council: All Village information is available on the Terrace Park web site, and all meetings are posted on the community bulletin board. Mayor Tepe thanked the clerk for organizing the recent New Resident Open House. Mrs. Sullivan reminded residents who did not attend the open house that informational packets are available at the Village office.

EMS: As of this meeting, the EMS squad has responded to 116 emergency dispatches for the year. Training in September and October included units in patient assessment and cardiology. The new 2017-18 recruit class of five is on schedule. Mr. Maggard announced that this year's individual classes are available to any resident to attend with no obligation to join the training class. The full syllabus of topics is available for review. If interested in a particular topic, let him know via email or phone. Classes are held in the Terrace Park Emergency Services training room on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6-10:00 pm. Mr. Maggard also encouraged residents to attend the Fire/EMS fundraiser, Chilipalooza, on October 14th and to mark their calendars for the November 12th pancake supper at St. Thomas church. Mr. Maggard thanked St. Thomas for once again hosting this event.

Police Chief/Village Administrator: Chief Hayhow stated that he had attended a Southwest Ohio Urban Forestry conference where the Village's arborist, Mark Castator, was a speaker. He also attended a regional training on ethics.

Fire hydrant testing and leaf pickup will continue until completed. Chief Hayhow gave a firm reminder to residents to put nothing but leaves in the pickup piles since other objects damage the machine. Also, leaf piles should not be placed in the street.

Planning and Zoning: An update on House Bill #523 concerning the regulation of medical marijuana was discussed in a recent committee meeting. This committee will bring more information and a motion to the council in the future.

Buildings and Grounds: A resolution was presented to Council imposing a moratorium for 180 days on the granting of consent or the issuance of permits relating to the installation of any micro wireless facility in the public right of way within the Village of Terrace Park, Ohio. Prior to voting on this resolution, council was given further information by Mr. Forbes. In summary, the state of Ohio passed a bill saying local municipalities can no longer regulate cell boosters within their boundaries. A joint lawsuit has been filed stating that this bill is unconstitutional. These 180 days will allow for results on the lawsuit and time to obtain more information. This issue centers on the wide spread use of cell phones and the lack of service power by current cell towers. The resolution was passed.

Finance: Two resolutions were presented and passed that allowed for adjustments to the current Village's budget. Both were not amount changes but alterations to line items in the budget.

Rules and Law: This committee, chaired by Judith Lehman, met two times to discuss strengthening the ordinance concerning roaming animals. The committee determined that the current ordinance is sufficient. Enforcement of this ordinance greatly depends upon residents who should contact the police department for assistance and enforcement. Use of the TP list is helpful for residents but does not inform local police of the situation.

With no further standing committee reports, continued business or new business the meeting was adjourned.

Do you know the way to Santa Fe?

Submitted by Postmaster Karolyn Staggs

Reminds you of the Dionne Warwick song, right? Well, my daughter, Hope, and I went to Santa Fe, not San Jose. What a GREAT time we had! We went by train from Cincinnati to Chicago, where we transferred to the Southwest Chief double decker train. Yes, I said double decker, and we were on the top deck! What an experience! It was about a 19 hour trip with a 4 hour layover in Chicago.

We went "coach" service. Our seats were big and comfortable with available foot rest, leg rest, and the option to lower the back of the seat so that you could be more relaxed to sleep. We were able to walk from car to car and go to the lower decks.

The dining car was splendid with its nicely situated booths, lovely décor, waiters, prompt service, great food, and, of course, a view of the passing scenery. The meals were a bit pricey, but, hey, I was on vacation!

We had to walk through the observation car to get to the dining car, and let me tell you, the observation car was AWESOME! There was a skylight view the full length of the car. The western sky is magnificent to see, and at night by moonlight, WOW! The viewing windows are so big, it almost appears the walls are of glass. I ran from one side of the car to the other to take pictures because the scenery would be different, and I didn't want to miss anything! The train was not going so fast that you couldn't take pictures and soak in the changing landscapes.

Our stay in Santa Fe was short but since I have family there now, I WILL be going back. One afternoon we drove UP to Los Alamos. We visited the museum that is dedicated to the creation of the atomic bomb there, and saw homes that are still lived in today that were built during that era. The Otterbein home stands near the Fuller Lodge; very interesting place.

The second afternoon we drove to downtown Santa Fe and just walked. We visited the magnificent Cathedral Basilica of St. Francis of Assisi. The inside looks like you've stepped into a cathedral in Europe.

We LOVED the architecture, the stained glass windows, the statues of our Lord, the saints, and found some wonderful gifts in the souvenir shop! We were allowed to take pictures. What a privilege.

We visited the famous Loretta Chapel. Have you heard the story of the winding staircase? No room to tell it here. GOOGLE it! You will be amazed.

From Santa Fe we went to Dillon, Colorado which is UP in the Rocky Mountains. We were there for Labor Day Weekend. We stayed in a lodge with five bedrooms and five bathrooms. There were 17 of us. I can't believe I forgot my Nerf guns, but we had a blast anyway!! We went hiking in the woods to the lake. There was a pool, a Jacuzzi, and an exercise room at the Sports Complex. My nephews grilled some delicious ribs and chicken. One night all the kids put on a dance show for us, and some of the adults joined in! "America's Got Talent!" doesn't have anything better than the show our family put on!

We all dispersed to go our separate ways on Labor Day. My friend, Josh Hammer, and his wife recently had a new baby which is the first grandchild of my good friend, Paula. My daughter, Hope, and I went with Josh to his home (60 miles east of Denver) to meet the new baby, stayed overnight, and took lots of pictures to send to my friends back here in Cincinnati.

Tuesday morning my sister picked us up and we began our journey home. We traveled I-80 this time. Have you ever been through Nebraska? It is a beautiful state where the landscape changes every 50 miles or so. You'll cross the North Platte River multiple times, you'll pass the massive cattle ranches with so many corrals, you'll know when you're passing the hog ranches because the stench lingers for miles before and after you pass.

Time nor room permit me to tell all the details of this exciting adventure, but I hope you're inspired to travel this great country that we live in. There are so many interesting people to meet and wonderful places to visit.

November's Family Fun

By Danielle Haugh

As the holiday season approaches, calendars will be filled with parties and shopping bags will be filled with gifts. Often family time is replaced with errand running. Here a few of things families can do around the Queen City and Terrace Park that doesn't require rushing around:

Make Some Music: Meet the members of the brass family of instruments during Peanut Butter & Jam Fall Concert "A Musical Zoo" on Saturday, November 8, 11 and 18. Tickets are $6 each for a thirty-five minute concert. For concert times and location go to <http://intonmusic.org/pbj-sessions-schedule/>.

Have Pancakes for Dinner:

Support the Terrace Park Emergency Services during their annual Pancake Supper at St. Thomas Parish Hall on Sunday, November 12 from 5:00 pm to 7:30 pm.

Head to the North Pole: Take a ride on the North Pole Express during Kindervelt's annual event on Saturday, November 18 at the Lebanon Train Station Depot. Tickets cost $18 for a 45 minute, round trip ride features a visit from Santa Claus, cookies and cocoa and much more. Go to <http://www.kindervelt.org/2017/08/29/north-pole-express/> for a complete list of ride times and more information.

Take a Family Run Together: Register the family for the 105th Thanksgiving Day 10k race on Thursday, November 23. Whether running with family and friends or cheering along the route, the race is a fun pre-meal party. According to the event website, "The event is the largest family running event in world on Thanksgiving Day." Register online at <http://thanksgiving-dayrace.com>

Make Memories: Take a white or cream tablecloth and have family members write down or doodle what they are thankful for during the year before Thanksgiving dinner. Bring out the tablecloth each year to add gratitude memories!

Have a family-friendly event? Contact Danielle Haugh at dmhaugh@gmail.com with your idea.

Kindervelt #76 Gears Up for the Holidays!

Submitted by Erin Satterwhite

It may only be October, but Kindervelt #76 already has the holiday spirit! On October 11, we met at the Indian Hill Winter Club to discuss all of the fun events ahead.

On November 8, the chapter will be meeting at the Terrace Park Log Cabin to assemble all of the Luminaria bags necessary for our event on Sunday, December 3 from 6-8pm at the Village Green. We encourage all of our neighbors to participate in this magical evening! Order information will be coming out soon.

In addition to Luminaria, we look forward to our annual Desert Auction, our biggest fundraiser, which will be held on Thursday, December 7. Also, we will be continuing our "Holiday Magic" event on December 8 and 9 where some of our children will have a special meeting with the BMO (Big Man of Christmas).

Kindervelt 76

We can't wait to raise as much money as we can for the Cincinnati Children's Hospital and the Kindervelt Psychiatric Emergency Assessment Center. Mental health is of such importance, especially at this time. Please "like" and visit the Kindervelt #76 Facebook page for news, event details and membership information, or contact Erin Satterwhite (erinfitz45@hotmail.com) with any questions.

Hello Neighbors,

Although this is the third issue of the Village Views to be produced since I took on the role of editor, I have not had a chance to introduce myself and let you know a little about what I envision for the future of our paper.

I was fortunate enough to grow up in Terrace Park and have lived in my current house on Home Street for the past fifteen years. Your children may know me from my job at Terrace Park Elementary last year or you may have seen my realtor signs around the neighborhood. I have a lifetime of love for our beautiful village and serving as your editor allows me the fun and unique job of sharing the best of Terrace Park life with all of my neighbors.

As TPList and social media have continued to change the way we receive our news, I hope for the Village Views to serve not only as your monthly guide to the village organizations, social events, sports news, local arts updates, council reports and police blotter, but also as a chronicle of the way our lives are, the amazing travels we take, the issues we all face, and the accomplishments of our children, neighbors, and friends.

I encourage everyone in Terrace Park to think about contributing to the paper. Perhaps you have thought about submitting something in the past but thought it wasn't interesting enough- think again! If it is interesting to you, chances are it will be interesting to your neighbors. Did you paint something incredible, write a moving poem, or take an amazing photo? Send us a copy! Lastly, perhaps you have great news about your children but feel a little weird about writing an article bragging on your own kid. Contact me! We'll figure something out.

Autumn is one of the most beautiful times of the year in Terrace Park. Already the incredible fall colors are unfolding and by the time this paper reaches your mailbox we will be gearing up for Terrace Park's unofficial favorite holiday- Halloween! After that it will be no time before the holidays are here so be sure to get out for a walk in Miami Grove or a paddle on the Little Miami and enjoy Terrace Park during one of the best times of the year. And as always, if you see or hear anything interesting while you are out and about, share it with the Village Views!

Living to the Fullest

Submitted by Chris Cascella

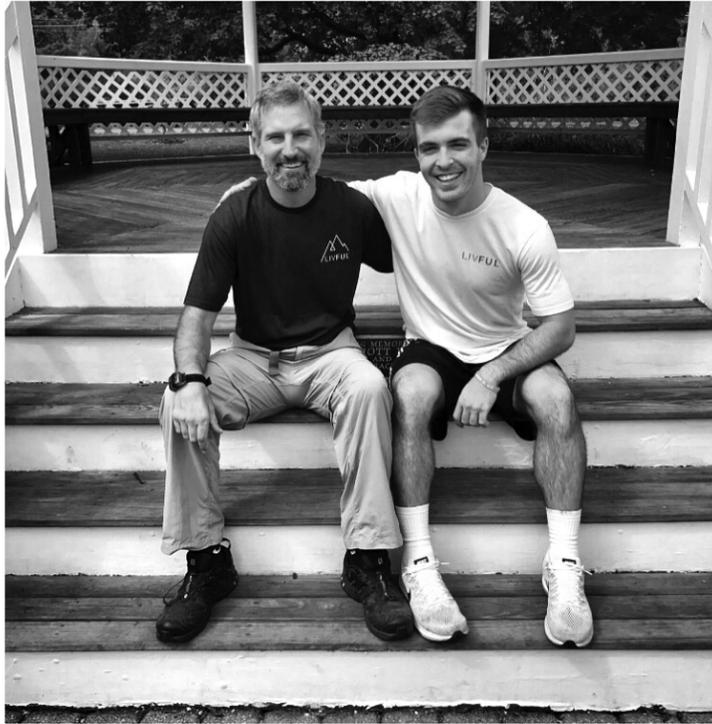

If you know Graham Harden, you know that he has impacted a lot of people in a lot different ways. You know that it is rare to leave his presence without smiling, laughing, or – if you played for him like I did – being quizzed over the updated high school lacrosse rulebook.

If you know Graham, you know that he has embraced ALS and successfully turned his battle into a learning experience – not just for himself, but for those around him.

Personally, Graham has taught me a lot over the years, both as a lacrosse player and as a person. Of all the lessons I learned from him, the most important one was how to make the most out of the time that I have. Even though my athletic career ended almost three years ago, I still live by his advice every day.

Graham's influence has made me a better person, and I have done my best to share his story and his message with my family and friends. After telling someone close to me about the difference that Graham has made and that he continues to make, she gave me a book titled Tuesdays with Morrie, written by Mitch Albom.

The book tells a story of a man (Morrie) who is diagnosed with ALS and spends his final days teaching a class about what he has learned from both his disease and his time on Earth.

The story inspired me in a number of ways. Most importantly, it – along with everything I have learned from Graham – inspired me to start a company that allows myself and many others not only to spread a message, but also to make a real, tangible difference.

That company is called Livful, and the mission is clear: to encourage people to live their lives to the fullest potential by embracing and enjoying each and every day. In addition, 10% of the proceeds go to G-Force Game On to support the Hardens in their battle against ALS, and will later go towards ALS research in an effort to find a cure.

To learn more and support the cause, go to livfulapparel.com.

Police Report

The department received a report from the Fairfax Police Department of a suspicious vehicle and occupant, possibly en route to the elementary school. The suspect was at the Fairfax Junior High School, trying to gain access by claiming he was a soda vendor. The suspect did not attempt to access Terrace Park Elementary School.

TPRC Athlete Profiles

For Caroline Pember "Less is More"

Submitted by Steve Peterson

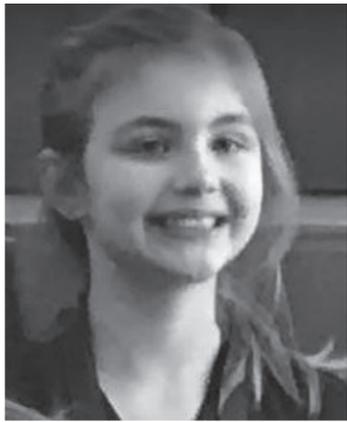

Nine-year-old (TPE 4th grader) Caroline Pember's way of looking at things could be labeled as a "throw-back" from the past. She plays three sports, sews, reads, does her homework, practices sports on her own time, and has spare time to just be a kid. A lot like how parents and grandparents grew up.

Caroline plays soccer in fall, basketball in winter and lacrosse in the spring on her TPRC teams and she excels at all three sports. Her viewpoints on sports and life also seem to be wise beyond her years.

Recently I observed her shooting baskets in her driveway and had a conversation with her about sports, what she does on her spare time, and why she chooses to play only one sport per season.

Caroline said she plays one sport per season so that she can focus on that sport "so I can get better. It gives me time to practice with the team and play in my games, but also allows me to practice on my own trying to do the things my coaches ask me to do". When asked "what have you learned most from your coaches?", Caroline remarked, "There's always a next time, so just keep trying and never give up".

Although only a 4th grader, she is very talented and has already been encouraged to focus on one sport year-round, but Caroline has chosen to play only one sport per season. This has allowed her to have time to do crafts, enjoy a good mystery or historical fiction book, or to "just hang out and play with the kids around the neighborhood. My mom taught me how to sew and how to do arts and crafts, and we love to do that together. She's really good at it".

Caroline Pember

Caroline also loves to play with her brother Camden and go fishing. "Camden is eight years old, and he is really smart and very good at building things. We are best friends, and a lot of times we build cool things, play soccer against each other in our yard, or get to go fishing with our dad. It's a lot of fun!"

Hmmm, it seems that Caroline is onto something that's working for her: "less is more".

Editor's note: Periodically athletes from our community will be profiled to shine a light on something that might of interest to other athletes, parents, or our community in general. In this case (as we can all relate) life can be hectic for kids (and families) as they are shuttled from one "scheduled" sporting event to another, instead of having the time to just be kids. It was refreshing to talk with Caroline who, although she is a very talented young athlete, has managed to strike a balance between playing and practicing sports, friends, family, school work, hobbies and her interests. High-Five to Caroline! Coach P

Caroline's brother, Cam Pember

Caroline with her youngest brother, Cory.

Positive Coaching is the Key

Submitted by Steve Peterson

BETTER ATHLETES
BETTER PEOPLE

For our fall and winter TPRC sports teams, many members of our community are involved as volunteer coaches. Positive coaching is a choice, and as Jim Thompson, Founder and CEO of the Positive Coaching Alliance (PCA) states in their simple mission message, positive coaching creates "better athletes and better people". Please enjoy some of the excerpts from his podcast below, and if you want to know more, please visit www.postivecoach.org.

Art at the Barn

Submitted by Kym Kuenning

Showcase of Art: A Holiday Boutique—New Venders, New Creations at The Barn in Mariemont

Thanks to the renovating efforts at The Barn, Santa Claus and his team of reindeer can now land safely on its roof—just in time to drop off countless handmade art pieces for the annual Showcase of Art: A Holiday Boutique. The Barn, as part of its ongoing improvement project, recently installed 12 skylights, structural upgrades, and insulation to its badly-needed roof. Guests at this year's Boutique will now have the opportunity to soak in the December sky for the first time in history.

On December 2 and 3, the Barn, also known as The Woman's Art Cultural Center, will open its doors to more than 33 artists and artisans from the Tri-State who are offering original handmade gifts no one could ever find in a mall.

Woodturner Jerry Warner will return for his fifth year presenting pieces inspired by nature and the art of ceramics using local hardwoods. He maintains a studio in Kennedy Heights, equipped with 13 lathes.

Jaime and Tracy Iliff of Cheviot also reap the benefits of nature's gifts. Using clay from the Miami River, they spin pottery that boasts an exuberant shine.

Illustrator and painter Dawna Boehmer, a Butler County resident, may be new to this year's Showcase, but she is no stranger to creativity. Boehmer has designed clothing, weaves, dye fabric, shibori, and quilts.

"I've tried just about anything you can make with two hands. It was while I was making hand-dyed quilted portraits that I decided it would just be easier to start painting again, but I was wrong--painting isn't easy, she said.

"Tuesday Night Painters" are happy to share the oil paintings they've made throughout the last year during their evening gatherings at the Barn. Award-winning artists will be offering original paintings for sale of their landscapes and of life.

Ed and wife ElMira will be filling the air with scent of relaxing soap for the fourth time in this event. Various distributors contributed to the product, which has been a long-time favorite of showcase guests. Ed said. Guests at the sale may delight in the holiday scents of fresh-baked goods, a hint of evergreen, and the aromatic joy of handmade soap, including the handiwork of Jane Cervantes, a local chocolatier.

Carol Rentschler of Kenwood will be there offering her cozy fiber garments in anticipation of the wintry day ahead of us. Rentschler, a Woman's Art Club member, as well as a trustee of the Woman's Art Cultural Center Board of Directors (the Barn) was the first-place recipient at the Hyde Park Square Art Show held in October.

Showcase of Art: A Holiday Boutique hours include Saturday, December 2 from 10:00 – 5:00 PM and on Sunday, December 3 from 12:00 – 5:00. The Barn is located at 6980 Cambridge Avenue in Mariemont. For more information, please check out artatthebarn.com or call 513-272-3700.

A World Record Catch!

Submitted by Hadley Dickinson

While vacationing recently in Thayne, Wyoming my family and I went fishing. I had the first fish of the day and it took about 15 minutes to reel in. It was a Cutthroat Trout, a native species to North America. They are called Cutthroat Trout because of the red coloring on their gills and lower jaw. The fish was two feet long and had an 18 inch girth. It weighed exactly 10.61 pounds. The fish earned the world record for junior division all tackle and women's fly fishing with six pound tippet. The records were certified by the International Game Fishing Association (IGFA). We had a replica mount made based on pictures!

Life is a Hoot...

You never know whoooo you might run into on the Little Miami Scenic Trail through Terrace Park. On October 4th the Shelton family spotted this magnificent owl looking for a Halloween treat of his own. The woods, river and trails around the village are full of extraordinary wildlife. If you happen to see something wild on your next adventure, snap a pic and share it with the Village Views!

Unforgettable care.

Mom is surrounded by compassionate team who really care about her. The specially trained staff offers a suite of holistic, individualized memory therapies that are designed to engage and stimulate her mind through art, music, cognitive exercises, physical well-being activities and socialization opportunities. Knowing she is safe, secure and engaged means less stress on our family and more quality time with Mom. And it's even more comforting to know she'll always have a home here even if she outlives her savings.
