Village Heading Into Electoral Muddle Referendum Due On Condominium Plan

By Lynn Nelson

The long dispute over proposals to build 30 condominiums at Elm Road and Wooster Pike at the western edge of the village will reach a popular vote at the November 8 elections.

Petitions bearing 200 signatures were filed with the Hamilton County Board of Elections August 8 calling for a referendum to determine voter approval or disapproval of an ordinance unanimously passed by village council in July to permit construction under specified conditions.

The ordinance, worked out in agreement with the BBS Co., which plans the construction, reduces the number of units permitted, sets up an architectural review board to review development plans, and calls for the project's sewage treatment plant to be 558 feet outside the village limits.

Sewage disposal has been a major point of controversy in the four years of meetings, suits and hearings since the project was first proposed.

Village Solicitor Bob Leming said filing of the referendum petitions automatically halts any village action under the ordinance.

RESIDENTS LISTED on the petitions as sponsors are Mrs. Dorothy Rixey, Mrs. Bonita Gehrig and Mrs. Deborah Startzman.

Village Clerk Don Franke reported the petitions were submitted to him on July 27. State law required his holding the signed petitions for 10 days, and he filed them with the Board of Elections on August 8. Franke reported that 107 signatures were required (10 percent of the total number of Terrace Park residents who voted in the last gubernatorial election), though 200 were gathered.

Meanwhile, Leming advised council that the civil

Labor Day Festival All Set

Labor Day is right around the corner. Plan to cheer your parade entrants on at 10 a.m. when the bands begin to play and the colorful bikes leave the school yard under the direction of Dave and Judy Schneider.

The parade winds at the village green with prizes awarded the best entries. Then the booths will open, with rides, volleyball, beer, coke, cotton candy, hot dogs, hamburgers and all the goodies that have always made Labor Day the perfect last fling before school begins.

Garage sale corner promises bargains to tantalize anyone, and there will be antique fire engine rides, a bingo booth and the biggest event of the day — the 5 o'clock raffle drawing for $500, $200, and $75 cash.

Sponsored by the Recreation Committee, the festival finances uniforms, other equipment, and summer activities for village youngsters.

New Waste Contract

Village council approved as an emergency measure at its August meeting a new three-year contract for waste disposal at $21,900 a year.

Public Works chairman Pat Henley said the bid from the current contractor, M & D Co., was the only one received.

Although the bid represented a sharp increase over the present contract, council members indicated their belief that the price was in line.

"We've been getting rid of our garbage dirt cheap," said Councilman Dick Griffith.

Players' Officers Named, New Venture Planned

The Terrace Park Players recently held their annual meeting to elect officers and new board members, review their financial status and plan the 1977-78 production schedule.

A new venture will be a Children's Theatre production in which all performances will be matinees, with two performances on Saturday, November 5, and Sunday, November 6.

Dwight Wages was elected chairman, with Marian Richardson as vice chairman, Shirley Rohlfing as secretary and Ken Burkman as Treasurer. New members elected to the board are Tim Harth, Kath Startzman and Dave Pannkuk. Board members whose terms continue are Joan Morgan, Shirley Rohlfing, Dwight Wages, Al Nelson, Marian Richardson and Ken Burkman.

Casting for the Children's Theatre production will take place at the Community

House on Wednesday, August 31, at 7:30 p.m., with seven men and three women needed for major roles.

The play is "Niccolo and Nicolette, or the Puppet Prince," by Alan Cullen, a fantasy about a handsome prince saved from the spell of a wicked magician by Seamus O'Shaughnessy and his leprechaun. Alex Sallustio, who directed the Players' Production of "Cactus Flower," will direct the show.

The production schedule also calls for a dinner show February 17-18, 24-25; a band concert on the village green June 10, and an outdoor musical to be presented next August. Anyone interested in becoming involved in any of these productions should contact any of the board members.

This year's activities included a dramatic play, a dinner show, and a band concert on the green.

Terrace Park appeared headed for a councilmanic mixup as the date for filing of nominating petitions for places on the November ballot passed with only one person filing for the four council vacancies to be filled.

Retiring Councilman Dick Griffith called it "a disgrace" that there appeared to be no more interest in village affairs.

The council terms of Griffith, Dick Bowman, Pat Henley and Louise Halley expire January 1. Only Bowman has filed for re-election.

Complicating the situation is a new requirement under Ohio law that a write-in candidate must file a declaration of candidacy by 40 days before the election. Write-in votes for any person are not counted unless a declaration has been filed.

Lee Wuester, legal counsel to Ohio's secretary of state, told Village Views that normally a vacancy resulting from no one being elected could be filled by the remaining members of council. But with so many potential vacancies, he was uncertain as to the effect of any rules concerning a council quorum.

If council fails to act within 30 days after the vacancy develops — in this case January 1 — Wuester said the mayor could make the appointments. But, he added, there are provisions under which retiring councilmen could continue to serve, although he said each of them would have "no real claim to the office."

Confusion developed, meantime, concerning the office of village treasurer. Al Roberts is leaving town but has not yet resigned. Although it had been said that 2 1/2 years remained in his term, discussion in council concluded that his term also expires January 1, and last-minute efforts failed to qualify two prospective candidates.

Editorial: T P's Players Help Make Village What It Is

One of the organizations which make Terrace Park different is the Terrace Park Players.

Since 1958, this group of amateur actors and musicians has delighted the community with its plays, concerts and other entertainment, and done it with an unusual degree of professionalism.

But the Players have done much more. They have contributed heavily to support other activities in the village.

Exactly how much isn't known, but since 1972 alone the Players have contributed more than $4400 of their funds to other causes. The record includes:

1972-73: $100 to Village Views and $295 to erect new village bulletin boards.

1973-74: $935 for village green beautification, including plantings, memorial wall and new flagpole; $750 to the Life Squad for resuscitation practice dummy; $138 for outdoor loud speakers for the village green PA system; $100 to Village Views.

1974-75: $500 to the Terrace Park Recreation Commission; $150 to Village Views; $100 to the village elementary school.

1975-76: $95 for village bulletin boards, $150 to Village Views.

1976-77: $250 to Village Views; $350 to the Life Squad for a cardio-pulmonary resuscitation practice unit; $200 for improved lighting at the log cabin; $200 for upgrading coat racks at the Community House.

Your support of the organization's productions allows it to continue providing resources to the community while you receive the added benefit of participating or enjoying the entertainment provided. And that's what Terrace Park is all about.

Flower Show Set

The annual flower show of the Terrace Park Garden Club will be held at the Community House on Tuesday, September 13, from 3 to 5 p.m.

The theme will be "Let's Have a Quilting Bee."

Horticultural classes will be open to entries from all amateur gardeners in Terrace Park.

U.S. Aid Asked On Erosion Problem

Hamilton County administrators have formally requested Mayor Cadwallader and village council to convene a meeting for "frank and open discussion of modified Route 50." Various proposals are being considered for a solution to possible re-routing of the highway.

Accordingly, a meeting has been set for Tuesday evening, September 20, 7:30 p.m. at the Community House. Bud Anderegg, county administrator, will preside. The official village family and all residents are invited to attend.

It was learned at the August council meeting that similar meetings are to be held in Mariemont, Fairfax, and Newtown, all on dates prior to Terrace Park's. Planning and Zoning chairman Bill Howard stated he anticipates the sessions will be "emotionally charged."

Special Slot Set Up For TP Postmark

Those who want to have the Terrace Park postmark on their mail will have to use a special slot at the post office to get it.

Beginning August 22, the Terrace Park post office will become part of the area mail processing program, Postmaster Jim Simonton announced.

The AMP is a plan whereby mail originating at post offices within a given area is consolidated for processing at a major nearby facility.

But, Simonton said, all mail deposited in a receptacle at the post office which is designated for Mail "for local postmark only" will be cancelled with the Terrace Park postmark.

All other mail, deposited in street letter boxes or "out of town" letter drops at the post office, will be sent to the Cincinnati central processing center. The mail will bear the Mail Processing Center postmark (Cincinnati, OH 452).

The process, Simonton said, makes the use of ZIP codes on mail all the more important because of the high degree of mechanization.

Chance To Help

The Terrace Park PTA board is developing a resource list for teachers to use in co-ordination with classroom studies.

Needed are the names of adults and notations as to their talents, hobbies or travel experiences which they are willing to share with the children.

Those interested are urged to call Hazel Retherford, 831-2872.

Club Plans 'Village Market'

Terrace Park's Garden Club is enthusiastically preparing for a "Village Market" to be held at the Community House on Saturday, October 15, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Co-chairmen for the event are Kath Startzman and Eunie Bowman.

There will be dried materials, dried arrangements, home-baked and home-canned goodies, live plants, boutique items, treasured recipes, Garden Gate gifts, and a raffle on a specially-made pine cone wreath.

Proceeds from the market will be used for beautification of the Park. The colorful Memorial Garden across the street from Terrace Market is one of the Garden Club's projects. The planting this year was in memory of Happy Stevens and Nova Deuschle, Garden Club members.

New Director Named For Nursery School

By Zoe Moore

Jayne Aglamesis (Mrs. James) has been named the new director of the St. Thomas Nursery School Program. She will be replacing Louise Schatz who served in that capacity for eleven years.

Mrs. Aglamesis brings a wealth of experience to the program, having taught here for several years when St. Thomas initiated its nursery school. More recently she taught for 10 years at the Armstrong Nursery School in Indian Hill, serving there in the capacity of lead teacher.

This will be her first venture with the title of director although she is very familiar with the responsibilities.

This year's program will begin in September with five separate classes. A "Mothers' Morning Out" program for two-year-olds will be held on Mondays, taught by Jackie Strider. The remaining four classes meet three days a week on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. There will be two morning classes for three-year-olds, taught by Jayne Aglamesis and Susie Langner. For four-year-olds, the morning class will be taught by Jackie Strider; the afternoon class by Martha King.

Mrs. Aglamesis indicated that she would be delighted to have anyone from the community share special talents with the children. She says she is "looking forward to a great year and we're all full of enthusiasm."

Council Briefs

Additional August council business included:

- A request from resident George Porter for a variance to the village's septic tank ordinance. Porter plans subdivision of the rear of his property along Wooster Pike into eight lots ranging from 1/2 acre to 1 1/4 acres for large single homes. Percolation tests proved satisfactory on part of the land but not all. Porter hopes to submit a sewage disposal plan to council within the next few weeks, and the request will then be referred to the Planning and Zoning Commission for their study and recommendation.
- Display by the mayor of a plaque received from the Cincinnati Auto Club commending the village for an outstanding safety record.
- A report from Louise Halley that the next anticipated step in the village's Green Belt application is an on-site inspection by the state.

- A decision to defer construction of a bus shelter at the village green because of minimal public interest. Safety chairman Griffith noted opposition to the idea from the Police Department which believes such a shelter could become a nuisance. Also, should a parking area accompany the shelter, outsiders would be tempted to use its convenience.
- Approval of a resolution which will be forwarded to state legislators endorsing tighter restrictions on the operation of mopeds.
- Passage of an amended ordinance, via emergency readings, which brings better definition and order to traffic code penalties.

School Calendar

Here's the Terrace Park elementary school calendar for the opening of the new school year:

Tuesday, Sept. 6 - School begins.

Monday, Sept. 12 - PTA board meeting.

Wednesday, Sept. 21 - Parents' information night, K-2, 7:30 p.m.

Wednesday, Sept. 28 - Parents' information night, 3-5, 7:30 p.m.

Mayor Ray Cadwallader has officially asked the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for a feasibility study of erosion and possible corrective measures along the Terrace Park side of the Little Miami River.

His action followed a meeting of property owners August 2 which endorsed the idea of the study. The village has a bona fide interest since it owns a section of land — once a public landing — at the foot of Oxford Avenue.

Led by Mayor Cadwallader, the meeting was attended by Solicitor Leming, Village Engineer Lindell, a representative from SEM Villa, several council members, and some 25 residents.

After a review of the history of the river's meanderings, attention turned to the present, including the Mound Street problem and Milford's efforts to correct this situation. Definite downstream erosion along Miami Avenue, plus a build-up of sandbars, was acknowledged. The Corps maintains these problems will be alleviated once its work at Mound Street is begun in November.

At the July council meeting, members voted to pursue Lindell's recommendation that the Corps be asked to do a feasibility study. Lindell explained such a request requires that the village insure certain rights to the Corps, such as easement privileges. Maintenance on work undertaken and completed becomes the financial responsibility of the community along with any actual project cost above the federal limit of $50,000. In return, the engineers will provide a plan to protect Terrace Park land, should their study confirm damage is occurring, and then launch corrective measures.

Commended

The Terrace Park Swimming Club has commended Patrolman Robert Hirschauer for his assistance when a tornado alert interrupted a recent swimming meet.

Club president C.E. Conway said "it would have been a difficult traffic jam, due to the fast exit of people because of the pending storm, had not Patrolman Robert Hirschauer come quickly to our assistance. We commend his forethought and kindness."

Editorial

There seems to be something a little petty, if not actually childish, in Mariemont village council's action to oppose the proposed Little Miami scenic railway until something is done about relocating US 50 through that community.

The projects aren't related. Whatever money is involved won't come from the same areas of state or federal government. Whatever is done about one will have little or nothing to do with what is done about the other.

Certainly something should be done about the US 50 bottleneck through Mariemont, but Village Views is dubious about relocating the whole highway from Beechmont Levee to beyond Milford.

For one thing, that plan, in our recollection, is something over 20 years old. Interstate 275 and upgraded Route 32, as part of the now-lagging Appalachian Highway plan, have come into existence since then and traffic patterns have changed. It seems there might be more point to a Mariemont bypass around the bottom of the hill rather than extensive and expensive relocation on the other side of the Little Miami.

A more immediate problem is the matter of the Milford bridge. Terrace Park certainly should give Milford every support in pushing the state highway department into action instead of allowing the span to deteriorate still further (if that is possible). The bridge is important to Terrace Park, too.

Skateboard Plea

Young Joe Watkins appeared before village council's August meeting as a representative of village youth, asking for "some place where kids can skateboard legally and safely."

Acting as a spokesman for the Terrace Park Skateboard Club, he related how he and friends have been "kicked off" various parking lots.

Mayor Cadwallader referred the request to the Parks and Recreation Committee, noting it may be possible to include a skateboard area in recreation space now being considered in the landfill.

FOUND: Male long-haired dog; mostly white with two black eyes and black spot near tail. Well-behaved, affectionate, loves children. Was wearing red collar when found. After August 20 contact Mrs. Donley, 13 Sycamore, 831-5781.

Police Headquarters Getting A New Look

Our Police Department is sporting a new look!

The need for an expanded facility was explained by Chief Ron Pottorf earlier this month to Building and Grounds chairwoman Louise Halley and quickly won approval of this committee.

The chief request incorporation of the small outer meeting room into the department's office space. He cited three main reasons for the request: additional security for the village secretary who is often alone in the building when offenders stop by the Police Department to pay traffic fines, the need for more privacy, and the need for additional filing space.

Council endorsed the remodeling and all work should be finished by the end of August. Labor for the project was almost completely volunteer while materials are chiefly odds and ends found stored in the Community House. Pottorf advised he does not anticipate village expense to exceed $140.

The new arrangement gives added protection to the secretary since business will be transacted through a windowed sliding ledge.

The remodeling still permits meeting space for small groups, with larger groups are encouraged to use the Squad Room. Arrangements for using both spaces are to be made through the village secretary.

TP Knothole Baseball Team Wins League Championship

For the first time in several years a Terrace Park baseball team has made it past the first game in the city championship playoffs in the Greater Cincinnati area. Terrace Park's Class A team got its city berth by winning its league championship with an impressive 16-2 record.

Going into the city tournament after winning league play, Terrace Park defeated its first opponent, Loveland, 6-2, only to be edged by Deer Park, 3-2.

Thus ended a long season which started in March, when a practice was cancelled because of snow, and ending in the last week of July in nearly 100-degree temperatures.

Catcher Mike Kelly led the team in most departments, with a .578 batting average, 32 RBIs, two home runs, 17 stolen bases, six triples, and 33 hits in all.

With him were the talented Bodnar brothers, Todd and David. David, in his first year, hit .500 with 33 hits, and 17 stolen bases. Todd, just behind Mike in RBIs, topped the pitching department with a 7-0 record, and led in strike-outs.

Starring also was first baseman-catcher Jay Wallace who, in only his third year of baseball, batted .340 and had a .946 fielding average.

Jeff Ryan and Jeff VanEpps had good seasons in the outfield, making key defensive plays besides filling in as pitchers. Keith Bachman, utility man also playing his first year, batted .290 and filled in well, while Steve Sauter had a very good year at second base.

A factor in the team's success was the strong bench. Greg Beglan, Dan Seiter, Will Green and Keith Colton battled for the third starting outfield position the whole season. Colton also showed well in several outings as a pitcher and played an excellent first base in city tournament games. Seiter, Green and Colton return to Class A ball next year.

Tommy Nelson played excellent second base and saved a crucial game against Kenwood. Matt Tigner and Doug Cherry did everything right in the field but found their size against them. All three will be back next year, though. Mike Belanger, Steve Shundich and Timmy Nordloh gave loyal support.

Coaches Dino Costanzo and Dan Swenson said they felt the team's success was due to a winning spirit and lots of practice. The boys averaged three practices and two games a week.

Dino and Dan, '77 graduates of Mariemont High School who have been involved with baseball since they were seven, were team managers for the first time this year and the youngest coaches ever to handle Terrace Park teams.

Registration Set

Registration for PTA-sponsored classes in gymnastics, ballet and drama will be held at the Labor Day festival on the village green.

Those unable to register on Labor Day may do so at the school cafeteria on Friday, Sept. 9, from 3 to 4 p.m.

Classes will begin in mid-September.

Referendum

(Continued From P. 1) suit which BBS Co. has pending against the village is scheduled to be heard before Judge Klusemeyer on August 19. This suit, filed last summer, attacks village zoning.

LEMING PLANS to report passage of the Planned Unit Residential ordinance to Judge Klusemeyer and also relay the current status of the referendum. The solicitor noted that if the Board of Elections places the referendum on the ballot, petitioners have the option of asking the court to halt all BBS Co. construction activity pending the outcome.

One feature of the planned unit ordinance is the creation of a three man architectural board of review whose responsibilities would include checks for compliance with village ordinances and review of the overall development plan. Final approval of the board's recommendations, reached by majority vote, would rest with council.

Acting on the recommendation of Mayor Cadwallader, council unanimously approved the appointment of Richard Ward, Alan Griffith, and Tom Longano to the review board. Ward, an architect, is to serve three years; Griffith, a developer, to years; Longano, an attorney, one year.

As the ordinance now reads, the review board will serve only for the BBS Co. project, though this may later be changed to have the board serve as a standing committee.

Village Scout Troop Has Touched Lives of 1,558 Boys

This history of Boy Scouting in Terrace Park was written by Robert Gundlach, a member of Troop 286, as an Eagle badge project.

By Robert J. Gundlach

On May 16, 1933, Troop 286 was started by a group of interested citizens of this community, Terrace Park. Since that day, the Troop has had four other sponsors who made Scouting in the Park the way it is today. The Scouts owe a lot to them for helping the Troop in times of need. The names are as follows:

The Citizens of Terrace Park, 1933-1947; The Terrace Park Men's Club, 1947-1948; The Terrace Park Civic Club, 1948-1949; Francis George Baldwin Post No. 973 (American Legion), 1949-1958; St. Thomas Episcopal Church, 1958-to present.

One common misunderstanding is that people think that the Log Cabin, which stands across the street from the Elementary School, was built by the Scouts for the use of the troop. Both Mr. Stanley Miller and Mr. Daniel Startzman informed me that it was built during the Depression for use as a recreation center. It was built by a government agency and the logs used to construct it were given by the Cincinnati Gas and Electric Company.

To have a troop that will function properly you have to have good parent support. One way is by joining the Troop Committee, and Mr. Startzman remarked that parent support has been very high and it has been common that when their boys joined the Troop the parents helped out, too. A total of 347 men have been registered over the years with an average of eight men on the board every year, led by the committee chairman. Over the years, 13 men have served in this position, the first and longest lasting chairman being D.H. Startzman, Sr., who served for 13 years.

Since the start, we have had sixteen Scoutmasters who all did a fine job, for the scoutmaster makes the Troop "sink or swim."

Since the Troop started in 1933, several men have worked very hard to make the Troop what it is today. Men like D.H. Startzman, Sr., D.B. Startzman, Jr., Lester Patterson, Frank Payne, Jr., Addison Maupin, Elmer Tollefsen, and James Allison did a great job, and three, Elmer Tollefsen, George Porter, and Dr. Bruce McMillan, have received adult Scouting's highest award, the Silver Beaver.

During the 44-year history of Troop 286, a total of 1,598 Scouts have been registered, an average of 36 Scouts per year and quite a large number compared to the actual size of Terrace Park.

The ultimate award in all of Scouting is the rank of Eagle. Troop 286 has had a total of 43 Eagle Scouts, a record any troop would be proud of! Since the Troop's sponsorship was moved to St. Thomas Church in 1958, there have been 41 Eagle Scouts. About one in every 34 Scouts has been awarded the rank of Eagle. This figure is far above the national average of one in every 50.

Troop 286 has always been active, but its interests have varied over the years.

When D.B. Startzman, Jr., was Scoutmaster in the 1940's, our Troop was very hiking- and camping-oriented. Trips to Camps Craig and Friedlander and to state parks were familiar every month. Mr. Startzman said that summer camp for just a week was only $6, as against today's price of $45.

During Mr. Porter's stay as Scoutmaster in the 1960's, the Troop was very competition-oriented. When there was a camporee or Peterloo, our troop was always there ready to win in one of the events.

Explorer Post 286 had a short stay in Terrace Park, but it was an active one. When Mr. Porter was the advisor during the '60s, the Post purchased such things as canoes and the first Troop bus. The first Scout bus was purchased by the Explorers for a trip to Alaska in the early '60s.

Troop 286 has also done many projects for the good of the Village such as maintenance work for the Wilderness Preserve, Log Cabin, St. Thomas Church, and the baseball fields, and the Troop helped out during the flood of 1937.

To maintain the Troop's activities, service, and equipment, money had to be raised. Early in the troop's history, the Scouts delivered telephone directories for 9c a copy. Since then the Troop's chief source of money has been through paper drives.

Looking back, times have not always been good for the troop. Right now in the 1970's, we are having trouble finding good adult leadership and people willing to help out on campouts and paper drives.

It has become common for most Scouts to drop out of Scouting during their first years of high school. Mr. Startzman feels that the introduction of Cub Scouting and also the increase of recreation and sports in the Village and at school has brought about the decrease in Troop enrollment and interest. Hopefully these things will get straightened out in the next few years and the Troop will be back on the right track again.
