Casteel Enters Race For Village Mayoralty

Terrace Park's political climate warmed up with August weather as Councilman Randy Casteel announced he would be a candidate for mayor in the November elections.

He will be contesting the office with Councilman Jack Schmidt, the first to enter the race to succeed Les Overway, who decided not to seek another four-year term.

Schmidt ends his council term at the end of this year. Casteel still has two more years of his council term remaining.

The contest for the two council seats to be filled in November continued to lag, however, with only two avowed candidates thus far. Councilman Bob Payne, chairman of council's finance committee, disclosed last month that he would seek re-election. John Wenstrup, 110 Wrenwood Lane, announced his candidacy earlier.

Rick Koehler, 710 Floral, disclosed that he was considering running for council, but had not made a decision as Village Views went to press. Nominating petitions must be filed with the Hamilton County Board of Elections by August 20.

Village Clerk Judy Elliott will seek election to continue in that office.

Casteel, an eight-year resident of Terrace Park has served on Village Council for the last two years as chairman of the Buildings and Grounds Committee and as a member of the Safety Committee. His responsibilities are all village-owned buildings and properties, which include the tree program, the Community House improvements, and the new village offices and police station.

Randy and his wife, Becky, and two children reside at 819 Wooster Pike. Other community involvement has been as coach for both T-ball and knothole teams and as an active member of the Terrace Park Life Squad.

Parade Opens Annual Labor Day Festivities

Labor Day festivities will begin Monday September 7 with the annual parade of pets, children, bikes and local dignitaries. These stars will be joined by the Mariemont High School and Terrace Park Pops bands, Scouts and the police, fire and life squads.

Parade organizers Laurel and Mike Ross invite all paraders to meet behind the school at 9:30 a.m. for a 10 o'clock march to the village green. This year's production will feature antique cars and a parade of ponies with appropriate waste removal system. Robin and John Armstrong

Next Boy Scout paper drive is September 19. Papers should be at the curb by 9 a.m. If help is needed in getting them out, call Rick Ballard, 248-0866.

will introduce several new games appealing to the youngest and oldest festival goers. Last year's favorite ponies will be back for the pony rides arranged by Susan Zapletal and the Pony Club.

Marvelous food will be prepared on the green by Sandy Ader and her band of expert cooks. Baked goods will be sold by Gayle Taylor who can be reached at 831-4670 for donation pick-up.

Also offering a pick-up service are garage sale chairmen Gloria Hader (831-3767) and Mickey Forbes (248-0354). Any donations can be picked up or delivered to the Porter barn on Saturday mornings.

All festival proceeds are used to support the Terrace Park Recreation Committee. Participant fees are currently paying the expenses of the individual sports programs while festival proceeds are used to pay insurance premiums and maintain the Drackett Fields. This year's capital improvements project is repair of the road by the field at an estimated cost of $1,587.

Car-Looter Is Captured, Three Nabbed In Break-in

A man who looted six cars in Terrace Park in late July was captured by Montgomery police on August 11.

Identified by Terrace Park

police, who learned he had been driving a car stolen in Michigan, he was stopped by police after he had looted some cars in that community.

Upgrading Pays Off

Mayor Les Overway told village council at its August meeting that incidents in the past month demonstrated the worth of a program of upgrading the village police department instituted when he took office four years ago.

He cited the capture of a man who had looted six cars in the village, the arrest of three persons involved in a break-in at the Hinner's service station, and the capture of two peeping toms. Both he and Village Solicitor Bob Malloy praised village police officers for their professionalism in court appearances.

Four years ago, the mayor said, the Terrace Park department was looked on as training ground with frequent turnovers. Since then, he continued, salaries have been increased and officers given opportunities for outside and in-house training. The result, he said, is that the department now is held in "highest esteem" in the county for its competence and high morale.

In commenting on the car-looting arrest, Police Chief Ron Pottorf said some village residents had expressed annoyance at being questioned by officers while on late-night strolls. The chief said his men could not possibly know all resident by sight, and that events fully justified their actions.

Police Chief Ron Pottorf said the man, identified as Robert Tolle, and giving the address of a sister in Goshen, had moved here recently from Colorado, making "a good living" on the way by entering garages and looting cars.

Charges also have been filed against three persons accused of involvement in breaking open a vending machine outside Hinner's service station on Wooster Pike.

Little mistakes tripped up the accused in both village affairs. The car-looting suspect had on him a prescription drug bottle bearing the name of one of his Terrace Park victims. The three others had in their car a broken padlock which not only fitted the description of the one which had been on the vending machine, but could be operated by a Hinner's key.

In both incidents, the crimes did not come to light until after the suspects had been cited on other charges.

The chain of events in the car-looting began at 5:15 a.m. on July 22 when Patrolman Gerald Hayhow stopped a man identified as Robert Tolle of Goshen walking along Terrace Place. When Tolle could not give a satisfactory account of himself, Hayhow checked by radio with the police computer network and learned that the man had a misdemeanor and felony record in Colorado.

When Tolle was then ordered to turn out his pockets, the several items included the prescription bottle containing a half-dozen white pills. On that basis, Hayhow cited the man on charges of drug abuse and escorted him from the village.

It was some four hours later that reports started to come in of garages being broken into and cars looted, from 219 Oxford, 208 Miami, 218 Oxford, and 215 Oxford. Then it was realized that the name of one of the victims was that on the prescription bottle which had been confiscated. Police Chief Ron Pottorf, Sgt. Mike Garner and Hayhow at once went to the Goshen address Tolle had given, only to be told by the man's sister that he had left only an hour before. They did find there, though, a pocket calculator bearing the name and address of another of the victims.

Warrants charging Tolle with breaking and entering and drug theft were signed at once.

Similarly, Patrolman Mike Wright cited Harry L. Palmer of

Fate Of Tree Levy Up For Public Hearing

Village council will decide what to do about the 1.6 mill tree levy at its September meeting, after holding a hearing to sound out public feeling.

The hearing will be at 7 p.m. on September 8.

Councilman Bob Payne, chairman of council's finance committee, said there are three possible courses of action. Council, he said, could allow the levy to continue through its fifth and final year, could abandon it, or could

New Members Still Sought For Life Squad

"Helping someone else is the secret to happiness," wrote Booker T. Washington many years ago. The meaning of these words often has been felt by the many volunteers who comprise the life squad. The opportunity to help will be available to residents this coming fall.

Volunteers are needed to maintain 24-hour life squad service in Terrace Park. A class can be held in Terrace Park if enough people volunteer before September.

To become a trainee, a resident needs to be 18 years old and hold a high school diploma. Interested residents should call Sally Gilchrist (831-8254) or Dick Mittendorf (831-1672).

reduce it.

Meantime, the Mariemont Board of Education disclosed that a 1.3 mill improvement levy would be allowed to lapse at the end of the year. (See details on P. 3). Terrace Park's council voted last month to seek renewal of a 3.11 mill operating levy. The renewal would involve no increase in village taxes.

With completion of the street tree renewal program in four years instead of the five years originally contemplated, some councilmen have expressed the view that council has a "moral obligation" to suspend the levy. Payne, however, has counseled caution because of unforeseen expenses that could arise.

A particular concern is a WPA-built storm sewer system. While village officials have unearthed original plans for the system, the project was never completed and there are no records as to where and what was actually done. The concern is what might happen if there should be a collapse in any of the sewers installed 50 years ago.

Village council at its August meeting amended the current budget to add $9,900 to the year's estimated expenses. The changes included $4,100 additional to the clerk's salary, $4,000 to cover tree damage in a late-July storm, and an

School Recognizes Outstanding Students

Neil Stafford was named outstanding eighth grade student at the Junior High Honors Day in June. He will be attending St. Xavier High School on a scholarship this fall.

Carrie Davis was recognized for her academic excellence in both math and English. She was a winner in the Ohio Math League Contest. Jennifer Bowers excelled in science and social studies and John Maddux was recognized for his work in science.

Eighth graders Patty Blomer, Heather Zapletal and Neil Stafford won recognition for excellence in math. Eighth grade Ohio Math League Contest winners were Neil Stafford, David Cooper, Dan Petry and Steve Petry.

Neil Stafford was also recognized for his work in English and foreign language. David Cooper was also noted for his foreign language work.

Winning Geography National Awards were Adam Carle, Carrie Davis and Jennifer

Rec Committee To Sponsor Nine Soccer Teams

Terrace Park Recreation Committee will sponsor nine soccer teams this fall. The ten-game season will begin the weekend before Labor Day and finish in mid-October. Soccer has become the village's most popular sport with 150 children participating.

Soccer Commissioner Dick Hird explained the new Recreation Committee policy of paying fees before playing games will apply to soccer this year. Fee collection has become more important with increases in the North North-east SAY Franchise insurance and referee fees.

1,800 increase in workmens' compensation premiums.

The changes brought the year's estimated expenses to $778,902 against estimated revenues of $609,984, leaving $168,918 deficit to be met from village surplus funds. The expenses do, however, include $135,000 for the new police headquarters now under construction.

Next year's tentative budget projects expenses at $594,933 against revenues of $543,720. A total of $39,500 was earmarked for tree work this year. Next year's budget anticipates tree maintenance expenses of only $9,000.

The tree levy was voted four

Bowers.

Seventh and eighth grade athletes were also recognized. Basketball players included: Abby Seik, Jon Bernard, Barry Gleeson, Jon Lakamp, John Mileham, R.J. Orr, Mike Rafter and Casey Ward.

Wrestlers were Brady Ballard, Paul Longano, Dan Petry and Steve Petry. Jennifer Bowers, Marion Oberle and Lauren Gundlach were recognized for cheerleading.

Track stars included: Marion Oberle, Neil Stafford, David Cooper, Paul Longano, Dan Petry, Steve Petry, Adam Carle, Barry Gleason, Israel Grayson, Jon Maddux, R.J. Orr and Mike Rafter.

Hospital Honors Village Volunteer

Our Lady of Mercy Hospital recently honored 200 volunteers for their services at a special luncheon. These special volunteers have given over 100 hours each to the Hospital doing a variety of jobs in many different hospital departments.

An area resident who received an award for 1,000 hours was Pat Beglen, 823 Miami, Terrace Park.

Meeting Change

Because of the Labor Day holiday, the Terrace Park retired men's luncheon club will meet at noon on September 14 instead of on September 7.

The group meets monthly at Millcroft Inn. Wholly informal, with no officers, rules or even a name, it is open to any retired Terrace Park man who'd like to lunch with his contemporaries now and then.

years ago, with revenues being budgeted for tree work although the money actually went into the village general operating fund. Windfalls in estate tax returns enabled the village to step up the work.

At its August meeting, council heard from Councilman Rusty Wilson that an estimating error had resulted in a $2,000 cost overrun in paving on Marietta Avenue. He expressed himself as well satisfied with the quality of street work done this year, which he said was "well worth" some additional expense because of a new paving material used.

Reporting $4,000 in damage to street trees in a recent storm, Councilman Randy Casteel warned residents of the hazard of fallen wires, and complimented the fire department for its work in the storm. He added that bids will be opened September 8 on planting 115 new trees.

Clerk Judy Elliott noted that another community is testing a computerized record-keeping system devised for Terrace Park, and another is contemplating its use. The village will get rebates on the software involved if other communities adopt it.

Swimmers Wind Up Season

Girls in the eight-and-under class scored for the Terrace Park Swim Club's Tiger Sharks in recent Private Pool Swim League finals held at Lebanon. They took second place in the free-style relay and third in the medley relay.

School Board Won't Seek Improvement Levy Renewal

By Ricki Schmidt

The Mariemont district Board of Education plans to allow a 1.3 mill permanent improvement levy to lapse this year. Whether a new levy will be put on the ballot next year will depend on the financial picture.

Supt. Don Thompson disclosed the plans in response to a question by a Mariemont resident at the August meeting. Dr. Thompson said the three-year term of the levy ends with the close of this year and the board has no plan to ask for its renewal in the November elections. He added that whether the board would ask for an extra operating levy sometime next year would depend on the level of state aid and this year's property tax yield.

The resident also asked if any policy on procedures for filling board vacancies had been discussed. Board president David Moreton said that while the board is concerned, no policy had yet been adopted.

The board accepted the resignation of Jim Stock as treasurer and reappointed Joe Lower as a temporary replacement. Stock assumed the post only recently, but is leaving to become deputy superintendent of the Dayton, Ohio, Board of Mental Retardation. Retiring as assistant superintendent of Mariemont schools last year, he had been serving as public relations consultant.

Insurance consultant Doug Miller told the board that Community Mutual has proposed a 38% increase for the district health coverage. The current coverage includes unlimited psychiatric care, which is rare in a benefit package.

Dr. Thompson said he would meet with teachers the day school starts so the teachers can decide whether to keep the current psychiatric benefit at their own expense or modify the psychiatric coverage to avoid the premium increase.

The board did adopt a new Prudential dental insurance program at a better rate than the current coverage, with a guaranty to maintain the rate for two years.

Thompson announced committees consisting of parents, teachers and administrators will be formed to review the current fifth and sixth grade curriculums and a new sex education and substance abuse curriculum. Mariemont Elementary principal Bob Denny will head the fifth and sixth grade committee while Fairfax Elementary principal Jerry Sasson will guide the sex education committee.

The board reviewed a video presentation by McDonalds and Wells Fargo Bank, which provide matching funds for the establishment of community fitness centers. These outdoor centers cost $8,100, half of which is provided by the sponsoring companies. Thompson will explore the possibility of putting a center in each of the three communities in the district.

Church Sets Return To Fall Schedule

St. Thomas Episcopal Church returns to its regular fall schedule of three services each Sunday on September 13. These are: an 8 a.m. Rite I Eucharist, a 9:15 Rite II Eucharist, and an 11 a.m. Rite I Eucharist alternating with Morning Prayer on the second and fourth Sundays.

Church School for young children through high school also resumes September 13, at the 9:15 service. Children accompany their parents to this family service and leave for classes after Communion. There is nursery care at both the 9:15 and 11 a.m. services.

Weekday services at St. Thomas are: Monday evening Healing Services with The Rev. Emily Gardiner Neal, which resume on September 14 at 7:30 p.m., and Holy Communion at 6:30 a.m. each Tuesday and 10:00 a.m. each Wednesday.

St. Thomas also sponsors Junior High and Senior High Youth Groups which are open to any interested young people, and adult education classes starting on Tuesday evenings in October. The church has four choirs, which welcome new members: a junior choir, a senior choir, a women's choir, and a contemporary group.

Bike-A-Thon Is Planned By Village Kindervelt

Terrace Park's Kindervelt 76 will initiate its third year of activity with a new community-wide project that could become an annual event.

With the idea of "Kids helping kids," Kindervelt is sponsoring a Bike-A-Thon to raise money for Children's Hospital on September 27. Village youngsters will be seeking pledges for each mile ridden during the Bike-A-Thon, collecting their pledges the following week.

Prizes, including a 19-speed bike, will be given to participants collecting the most money for the hospital. All boys and girls from three to 18 are urged to take part. All those collecting over $25 will receive Bike-A-Thon T-shirts.

For pledge sheets and other information call Ellie Dillon, 248-2157.

Village Students Are Honored At Country Day

The following Terrace Park students were recently honored at year end awards ceremonies at the Cincinnati Country Day School.

In the Upper School, receiving academic high honors with better than a B+ average was senior Carla Hutton. Honors for better than a B- average went to juniors Krista and Louise Myslik, Dan Weston, and freshman Witney McDonald. Carla Hutton was a National Merit semi finalist. Dan Weston was given an award for stage craft. Krista Myslik won a Student Country Day Award. Patrick McAllister was elected vice-president of his senior class and Witney McDonald was elected vice-president of her sophomore class.

In the Middle School, receiving academic high honors were Jacob Scholl, grade 8, and Sandra Scholl, grade 7. Larissa Myslik, grade 6 received academic honors. Jacob Scholl received math awards in Ohio Mathematics League and American Mathematics Competitions. Sandra Scholl received a trophy for Girls Most Valuable Tennis Player.

Village Is Cleared In Bias Suit

The Village of Terrace Park has been cleared of a charge of age discrimination brought by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

Notice of dismissal came from the Ohio Civil Rights Commission.

Terrace Park had been named in a blanket action filed against almost all communities in Hamilton County, alleging racial or age discrimination or both. NAACP attorneys said the village would be dismissed as a defendant when Village Administrator Ron Pottorf pointed out that more than half of the village's employees are over 45 years of age.

But the suit brought inquiries from the state commission, which on investigation found no grounds for complaint.
